HAMMARSKJOLD ARRIVES IN KATANGA WITH FIRST GROUP OF U.N. SOLDIERS

ALMOST TURNS BACK WHEN OK IS DENIED FOR TROOP PLANES

Tshombe Forgets to Give Airport Authorities New Instructions — Premier Greets Secretary.

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo, Aug. 12 (AP)—United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and the first U.N. troops to enter secessionist Katanga province landed here today.

The troops, 220 Swedes, arrived in five planes, touching down at 10-minute intervals.

Hammarskjold and the soldiers almost did not land. The crowd at the airport saw Hammarskjold's plane arrive at 1:40 p.m. and circle the airfield three times before it finally landed.

Katanga's President and Premier, Moise Tshombe, and other government officials waiting at the airport were told as the plane circled that the Secretary General refused to land. Airport officials dashed back and forth from the control tower to find out what was happening.

Refusal Order.

It appeared the control tower's European operator had told Hammarskjold he would be allowed to land but that permission would be refused to the planes carrying the Swedish soldiers.

Tshombe was appalled and quickly order the control tower to allow the U.N. planes to land.

The tower operator had acted on previous instructions that on no condition should U.N. troops be allowed into the airport.

Although Tshombe three days ago announced he now was willing to accept the U.N. troops under the Security Council mandate for replacement of the Belgian soldiers on duty in Katanga, the order to prevent them from landing never was withdrawn at the airport control tower.

This explanation was given to reporters by Tshombe himself.

Hammarskjold's plane finally taxied up to the apron in front of the airport terminal. Preceded by bodyguards, the Secretary General walked down the steps of his plane and was greeted by Tshombe and all the members of the Katanga government now in Elisabethville.

In High Spirits.

Tshombe appeared in high spirits. He joked and laughed with Hammarskjold and his party for a few minutes before he led them away to inspect a guard of honor of African Military police.

A crowd of about 300 Africans was at the airport and as Tshombe and Hammarskjold went by there was a demonstration in support of the premier. Shouts of "Vive Tshombe" and "Down with the United Nations" were heard.

30 in Texas Town Overcome By Gas Escaping From Plant

Medical Teams Rushed to La Porte, Near Houston — Roads Closed Until Fumes Are Dispelled.

LA PORTE, Tex., Aug. 12 (AP) — Gas escaping from a chemical plant in this town of 5000 was blamed by authorities today for causing 30 to 40 persons to be overcome.

No fatalities were reported.

Dr. Walter Quebedeaux, chief of the Harris County Anti-Pollution Department, said he believed the gas was phosgene.

Phosgene is a colorless gas of unpleasant odor. It was used in World War I and is a severe respiratory irritant.

County Civil Defense Director Jess Caveness rushed gas masks into the town.

Medical teams dispatched from Houston, 20 miles away, included 20 doctors and 40 nurses. Entire families were reported stricken.

The victims became sick and vomited, and some were rushed to other towns for treatment.

Justice of the Peace Bud West said 37 persons were known to have been overcome and seven La Porte was on the verge of panic before the plant, operated by the S. & W. Co., shut down. The plant employes denied there were any leaks, but halted operations.

The S. & W. plant makes industrial chemicals and the gas.

All highways and roads to the city were blocked off for a time, but were reopened when the gas cleared and the danger was reported passed.

A state of emergency was declared by city authorities and help poured in from other cities.

T. C. Adams, publisher of the La Porte Liberal, said the illneses appeared to be greatest in the southern part of the town. He said the illness appeared to strike children and the elderly first.

PLEASANT WEATHER WILL CONTINUE NEXT 5 DAYS; CHANCE OF SOME RAIN

PLEASANT summer weather is expected in the St. Louis area tomorrow through Wednesday with a chance of some rain during the period, the Weather Bureau said today in its extended forecast.

The five-day forecast: Fair skies and slowly rising temperatures over the weekend; showers and turning cooler early next week; temperatures will average slightly below seasonal normals; normal highs are in upper 80s; normal low in upper 60s.

32-INCH ELEPHANT ON DISPLAY SOON AT GRANT'S FARM

One of the smallest elephants ever shipped to the United States is getting acclimated at Grant's Farm and will shortly be on display for children, a spokesman for August A. Busch Jr. said today.

The baby Asiatic elephant, about 32 inches high at the shoulders, was flown to the West Coast from Bangkok, Thailand. A female, she arrived at Lambert-St. Louis field Tuesday.

Waiting to welcome her were Busch, president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and the St. Louis Cardinals. Also on the reception committee were George P. Vierheiler, director of St. Louis Zoo, and Floyd Smith, the zoo's elephant trainer.

The baby elephant is under 2 months old, so small she has not learned how to use her trunk. At Grant's Farm she is on a diet of milk, oats, and cooked rice. Her teeth have not yet developed.

NIXON REPORTED ENCOURAGED BY BACKING IN SOUTH

'Texans for Nixon' Move — Leader of Negro Baptists Calls on Kennedy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign strategists were pleased today by what they regarded as surprising displays of voluntary support from the traditionally Democratic South. The support has encouraged the Republican presidential nominee to go ahead with his intention to stump every southern state.

His rival, Democratic candidate John F. Kennedy, met today with Dr. Joseph H. Jackson of Chicago, president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc. A Kennedy spokesman said the organization includes Negro ministers whose combined congregations total more than 5,000,000 members.

There were no plans for extensive campaigning in the Deep South, Republican strategists said, but Nixon will touch every state at least once.

A "Texans for Nixon" movement began at Dallas yesterday, with Carr Collins, Dallas insurance man, serving as acting chairman of the self-styled Democrats who formed the group.

The Texas group was reported to be built around the same dissident Democratic forces who backed the G.O.P. ticket in 1952 and 1956. President Eisenhower carried Texas both times.

The Nixon forces have been confident all along of substantial support in Florida, Virginia and Tennessee, which also went Re-

Y.M.C.A. OFFICER, ELECTION BOARD MEMBER CLASH OVER VOTE LIST

Claim That Pine Street Branch Is Voting Address of G.O.P. Committeeman Is Called an Affront.

James E. Cook, executive secretary of the Pine Street Y.M.C.A., and an Election Board member engaged in a sharp dispute yesterday over the voting address of William A. Morant, a Republican committeeman.

The exchange occurred during the board's continuing investigation of reports of widespread irregularities in the Aug. 2 primary elections. G. Duncan Bauman, secretary of the Election Board, challenged Cook's statement that Morant lives at the Y.M.C.A. branch at 2846 Pine boulevard.

"I don't believe he lives there at all!" Bauman declared.

Cook contended that Morant had made a room reservation last February, but bookkeeping records produced by him showed rent payments starting July 22. Deadline for transfer of voting residency for last month's election was July 9.

The list of guests submitted by Cook before the primary election, in compliance with election laws, showed that Morant had lived at the Y.M.C.A. branch one year.

Affront, Bauman Says.

"This list is inaccurate, and it was an affront to the Election Board and to the city to give such a list," Bauman said.

"There was no intent to do anything wrong," Cook said, adding that "the man who pulled the cards" for compilation of the list "is now in camp."

The election commissioners told Cook that board investigators who went to the Y.M.C.A. branch July 23 to check on Morant's residency were told by a clerk that Morant had moved in the day before. The clerk was quoted as saying it was the first time to his knowledge that Morant had taken a room.

Cook said that Morant first broached the subject of moving to the establishment about Feb. 22.

"Mr. Morant is a veteran member of the 'Y' and he said, 'They're wrecking my house, I think I'll be moving into the 'Y'," Cook related. "The next day I wrote a memo to reserve a room for Mr. Morant."

Says He Paid Rent.

"Did he pay rent from February to July?" Bauman asked.

"Yes, he paid rent of about $42," Cook said.

Referring to the accounts showing rental payments starting July 22, Bauman asked, "Where is the record?" Cook answered that the earlier payments had been recorded on Morant's "membership card."

Bauman asked why Cook had signed a list certifying Morant had lived there for a year when Cook was now contending that he began residency last February.

"I'm sorry, I didn't count the months," Cook said, adding, "Why are you so mad?"

"I'm mad because I don't like misrepresentation," Bauman said.

Cook said he had entrusted the preparation of the list to his clerical staff, and before signing it had failed to read the certification of accuracy above the signature line. He said he had been signing election hotel lists for about 17 years.

At one point when Bauman declared he could not place credence in an answer by Cook, the Y.M.C.A. official, who also is pastor of Antioch Baptist

EXPEDITION FINDS 700-YEAR-OLD IDOL OF PUEBLO INDIANS

© New York Times News Service

CHICAGO, Aug. 12—The Chicago Natural History Museum reported yesterday the discovery of a Pueblo Indian sacred image believed to be the first of its kind ever unearthed.

The museum said the image was found by its southwest archaeological expedition near Vernon, Ariz. The image was used 700 years ago by Pueblo-dwelling Indians who believed it had God-like powers.

Dr. Paul S. Martin, the museum's chief curator of anthropology, said that the nine-inch stone idol was found in a secret crypt within one of the largest rectangular ceremonial chambers, called Kivas, ever excavated in the Southwest. He said it "may well be one of the important discoveries of the twentieth century in Southwest archaeology."

The image was, in his belief, of key importance in the religious ceremonies of Pueblo Indians between 1250 and 1350 A.D.

U.S. ORBITS HUGE BALLOON AS COMMUNICATIONS AID; SPACE CAPSULE PICKED UP

Fished From Sea by Helicopter — Payload of Data Being Taken to Hawaii by Ship.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) —A space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting United States satellite was rushed toward Hawaii today with a payload of data. It was the first recovery of a capsule in 13 attempts.

The 300-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was fished from the Pacific ocean about 330 miles northwest of Hawaii yesterday by a helicopter which flew to the spot from a waiting ship.

Three hours earlier the Air Force had triggered the ejection mechanism of its Discoverer XIII as it made its seventeenth pass over Alaska in polar orbit.

Steering rockets started the capsule on the way into the air envelope of the earth. A parachute then opened and radio beacons helped observers plot its course. Crews of waiting C-119 planes saw the chute, followed the capsule down and circled above the spot.

The Air Force plan was to catch the chute and capsule with one of the C-119s, but scattered clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A helicopter from the Military Sea Transport Service ship Haiti Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship, which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule buoyed hopes of space scientists working on both the man-in-space program and the Samos sky-spy satellite.

Film Clearer Than TV

The Samos is being developed to send back by television what its camera eyes see as it scouts the face of the earth. Eventually it is hoped that actual films can be sent back to earth by capsule to provide much clearer pictures than television could furnish.

Some of the previous Discoverer satellites had failed to go into orbit. Some went into orbit but failed to eject the capsule or ejected it in the wrong direction.

Yesterday everything worked. The United States thus was the first, so far as is known, to recover a package from a satellite. Russia, like the United States, has recovered nose cones and capsules of missiles fired aloft in conventional missile trajectory.

In a midnight press conference at the Pentagon, Lt. Gen. Bernard Schriever, Chief of the Air Force's Air Research Development Command, was as elated as he ever becomes.

This, said he, really marked a "space first." Until Air Force scientists turned the trick of bringing an object back through the heat of re-entry and depositing it in the intended spot "we were only part way in the space age."

He said that "without doubt,

HOW TO REFORM ALCOHOLIC: TAKE PHOTO OF HIM

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP) — A Russian method of reforming alcoholics — photographing them when they look their worst—was described at the United Nations congress on the prevention of crime yesterday by L. N. Smirnov, deputy chairman of the Soviet Supreme Court.

Many youths have volunteered to photograph drunken men, and the next day the offenders and their families are shown the evidence of their misbehavior, Smirnov said. Some photographers go around in patrols.

"I know of a specific case," Smirnov said. "A youth who was offensively drunk and was photographed, and the picture was shown to him at his home after he had recovered. He never repeated the offense."

PRESIDENT SAFE AT SECOND; FIRST FIELD SOCKED IN

THURMONT, Md., Aug. 12 (AP) — A helicopter carrying President Eisenhower to his Camp David retreat for the weekend landed today on a baseball field in this little community near the camp.

Cloudy weather prevented Mr. Eisenhower from making a planned landing at Camp David. The President was met by an automobile and taken on to the Catoctin mountain retreat.

He left Washington after meeting with the National Security Council. He expects to return to Washington late Sunday.

The President left Washington after listening to his own voice as it bounced back from Echo I, the United States balloon satellite.

X-15 TEST PILOT RISES 131,000 FEET TO BREAK RECORD

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., Aug. 12 (AP)—The X-15 today carried an Air Force test pilot more than 24 miles high, man's highest flight yet.

The new record is 131,000 feet. The old mark was 126,200 feet, nearly 24 miles.

Piloted by Maj. Robert M. White, the X-15, which set a world speed mark of 2196 miles and hour last week, was dropped at 45,000 feet from a B-52 mother ship.

White ignited eight rocket barrels and in seconds the plane soared out of range of ground observers with field glasses. For a few seconds in the flight, the plane raced weightless before plummeting back to earth.

The plane came down in a spiral glide for a 200 mile-an-hour landing. Its steel, skids kicked up a mile-long plume of dust. White's maximum speed was 1700 miles an hour.

URGES GLASSES, STEEL TOES FOR GRASS CUTTING

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 12 (AP)—The Arkansas labor commissioner said yesterday that if the power lawn mower were in a factory, machine operators would be required to wear safety glasses and steel-toed shoes.

Clarence Thornbrough told a civic club he thought that persons who do operate the mowers should take the same precautions.

The goggles would protect the eyes from flying objects dislodged by the mower and the shoes would save the toes from accidental contact with the mower blades.

KENNEDY WAGE COVERAGE PLAN UNDER ATTACK

Provision for Broad Extension Assailed — Final Vote on Measure Delayed.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — The Senate again debated today a minimum wage bill with the Democratic leadership apparently blocked temporarily in getting a final vote.

The debate halted with a unanimous consent agreement for the Senate to meet at 10:30 a.m. (St. Louis time) tomorrow and to have no roll calls after 7:30 p.m., but no curb on talk was set.

The Democratic-sponsored measure would increase the minimum level under federal law to $1.25 an hour and extend coverage of the wage and overtime provisions to an additional 5,000,000 workers. The Republican attacks on the bill went on, with the extended coverage feature of the Democratic proposal the principal target.

Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, floor manager for the bill, sought unsuccessfully late yesterday to win an agreement from the G.O.P. leadership and its southern Democratic allies for voting on proposed amendments which could mean final action by tomorrow night.

Kennedy Bars Changes.

Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, was rebuffed, however, when chief spokesmen for the opposition said they could agree to a speedup of the debate only if Kennedy would accept certain proposed amendments. This he could not do because, as he stated later, they went to the heart of the bill.

One of the amendments, sponsored by Senator Spessard Holland (Dem.), Florida, would knock out proposed extended coverage for all but about 200,000 of the 5,000,000 workers contemplated in the Democratic measure.

Most of those to be eliminated would be in the retail store and service industries where, according to proponents of the bill, protection is needed most. The others who would be affected by the Holland amendment are in

RADIO MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT IS BOUNCED OFF 100-FOOT SPHERE

World's Largest Satellite Sent Aloft Collapsed in Thor-Delta Rocket — Is Called Echo I.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Aug. 12 (AP)—The United States successfully sent into orbit today a gigantic balloon satellite intended to pave the way for a worldwide radio communications system.

It is the largest man-made object ever sent into orbit and it is the second space success of the United States within three days. Yesterday a space capsule was recovered—for the first time—after it had been released by a Discoverer satellite.

In another Cape Canaveral test a powerful Atlas missile successfully streaker 5000 miles down the Caribbean range today, but its nose cone, carrying a group of radiation experiments, sank in the sea.

The Air Force said the intercontinental range rocket achieved all flight test objectives in hitting a target zone off the south Atlantic island of Ascension.

Ships and planes began a search for the 1½-ton cone. But officials announced three hours after the launching that the recovery attempt had been called off "after it was determined the nose cone was not afloat."

Polaris Is Launched.

After the Atlas launching, the Navy launched a Polaris missile on an 1100-mile test flight.

The Polaris launching appeared smooth as the 28-foot rocket rose from a land pad. The launching was another to test refinements and increase the submarine missile's reliability in advance of the Navy's plans to have the rocket operational by October.

The balloon satellite's success was quickly indicated when it bounced a recorded message from President Eisenhower across the nation. Less than four hours after launching, Mr. Eisenhower's recorded message was played back at a press conference held by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington. The message had been received at Holmdel, N.J., after being sent from Goldstone, Calif., and bouncing off the new balloon satellite.

100 Feet in Diameter.

The huge reflector, an aluminum-coated plastic ball 100 feet in diameter, was rocketed aloft at 4:39 a.m. from the Cape Canaveral missile test center.

It rode collapsed in the nose cone of a 92-foot three-stage Thor-Delta rocket.

After its path was established, NASA spokesmen said its orbit brings it within 1018 miles of the earth at the nearest point, 1160 miles when at its greatest distance.

The balloon is moving at 15,442 miles an hour, only 30 miles from the intended velocity. It was launched at an angle of 46.97 degrees from the equator, a miss of only three one-hundredths of a degree from its planned angle of 47 degrees. Thus it will pass as far north as the United States-Canadian border and as far south as the tip of South America.

It takes 121.6 minutes to circle the earth, less than two minutes off the planned time of two hours.

Two hours after the launching, NASA announced that the balloon was in orbit.

Confirmed Visually.

NASA said the orbit had been confirmed both visually and by telemetry at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Goldstone.

At that stage T. Keith Glennan, NASA administrator, officially named the new satellite Echo I.

Soon afterward, at an NASA press conference the President's recorded message was broadcast, loud and clear. It said:

"This is President Eisenhower speaking.

"It is a great personal satisfaction to participate in this first experiment in communications involving the use of a satellite balloon known as Echo.

"This is one more significant step in the United States program of space research and exploration.

"The program is being carried

Capsule Formula for Success: Schriever Money Clip Ends Hex

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UPI) —Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, Air Force missile chief, says he is not superstitious, but he still plans to hold on to a certain money clip.

It was the one in his pocket yesterday when, on the thirteenth shot in the Discoverer program, the Air Force recovered the first capsule from a space orbit.

Schriever was asked at a press conference early today what he did to "break the hex."

"I'm not a superstitious man," he replied. "But I had been carrying a new billfold around for just about a week and I noticed a real series of bad luck.

"So I changed and went back to my money clip and we haven't had a failure since."

NIXON WOULD KEEP 27½ PCT. TAX DEPLETION FOR OIL AND GAS

His Press Aid Makes Views Known After Inquiry About 300 Texas Democrats Organizing for Him.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Vice President Richard M. Nixon favors retention of the special 27½ per cent tax depletion allowance for the oil and gas industry and legislation to free natural gas producers from federal price regulation.

Both these issues have been sources of bitter contention in Congress in recent years and have served as well as inducements to the oil industry to contribute heavily to Republican national campaigns.

The Vice President's views on these two controversial issues were conveyed indirectly to reporters by Herbert G. Klein, press secretary to the Vice President.

Texas Backers Organize.

The question came up yesterday in one of Klein's briefings for reporters after Klein announced the formation in Texas of a group of more than 300 Democrats to support the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

The group is headed by Carr Collins, wealthy Dallas Insurance executive, real estate man and one-time operator of a mineral water company at Mineral Wells, Tex.

There had been a report on Wednesday in a Klein briefing that Collins had obtained assurance from Nixon prior to forming his Texas organization that Nixon favored the special legislation for the oil and gas industry.

Klein said Wednesday and again yesterday that Nixon subscribes to no "pre-conditions" in return for support and said the Vice President had not talked personally with Collins. He added that Nixon had made his views known on depletion allowance and federal control issues in a press conference in Houston, Tex., two months ago.

What Nixon Said in Houston.

When Nixon was asked at Houston where he stood on the oil depletion allowance and proposals to free natural gas producers from federal price regulation, Nixon responded, according to a transcript obtained from the Vice President's office:

"The best political answer to that question, from the standpoint of getting votes throughout the country, would be against both these proposals, and certainly as far as the depletion allowance is concerned, at least a very substantial modification.

"That is the political answer. I refuse to give it, because, coming as I do from California, and knowing something about oil depletion, also knowing something about the problem, and the necessity for encouraging production in the natural gas area as the way in the long run to get gas to the consumers in the most efficient way at the cheapest prices, may I say that my answer to both of these questions insofar as I am concerned is I am for the 27½ per cent depletion allowance—voting as I have previously for it in the Congress and in the Senate of the United States. I voted for the Harris Natural Gas bill and I believe that the principle of that bill is sound and continue to support it."

The Harris bill was one of several attempts in Congress by Senators and representatives from oil producing areas to obtain exemption of natural gas at the well-head.

In operation, the depletion provision exempts oil companies from federal taxes on 27½ per cent of their gross revenue, up to a maximum of one-half their net income.

CASTRO REGIME CANCELS TRAVEL PERMITS FOR CUBANS

HAVANA, Aug. 12 (UPI)—The Fidel Castro government canceled all existing travel permits out of the country today for Cubans and foreigners, except tourists. Informed sources said the move was aimed at cracking down on the exodus of anti-Castro elements from the islands.

The technical investigations department of the national police, which gave the order, said new permits limited to one year will be issued effective Aug. 22 and only those with new permits will be allowed to leave.

Previously, there was no time limit on the permits and on the persons who must have them.

Iranian Officer Defects.

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (AP) — The news agency Tass reported yesterday an Iranian officer of a border regiment fled to Soviet territory and asked for political asylum. The agency quoted Rezazade Hassan Tagi Ogly as saying he left Iran because of unbearable conditions taking shape in recent years.

Hammarskjold in The Congo

—Associated Press Radiophoto.

Hammarskjold

ported that the Secretary General had an uneasy moment when he found himself obliged to acknowledge the flag of independent Katanga. He was inspecting 96 Congolese army men standing at present arms.

(Hammarskjold smilingly noted the Katanga soldiers' display of smartness. The smile faded as he came face to face with an honor guard carrying the red, white and green flag of the province.

(Hammarskjold tried to pass the flag, but Tshombe stopped and bowed. Hammarskjold was obliged to follow suit, though his bow was not as deep as Tshombe's. As he bowed, the watching crowd burst into applause.

(Aids walking behind the Secretary General and Tshombe showed concern that the bow was recorded by photographers.)

Tshombe and Hammarskjold then climbed into Tshombe's automobile. The U.N. and Katanga flags flew on the car.

Soldiers Alight.

Before they drove away, two DC-6s carrying Swedish troops taxied up to the airport terminal and the soldiers began alighting. Planes still were coming as Hammarskjold and Tshombe drove to Tshombe's official residence to begin their talks.

Belgian troops remained around the airport. They were on guard as they had been for the last month on all parts of the control tower and in the airport terminal.

Armed with a mandate of the Security Council to obtain withdrawal of Belgian soldiers from disputed Katanga, the Secretary General flew here within 10 hours after landing in Leopoldville from New York.

The armed Swedish soldiers came officially as an honor guard for Hammarskjold. In reality they are the first units of the U.N. force to replace the Belgian forces in the rich mining province.

The planes were chartered from The Congo Airline for the 950-mile trip.

The Secretary General planned to confer with Tshombe to arrange for the entry of more U.N. troops and the progressive withdrawal of the Belgians.

It appeared that a substantial U.N. force would be in the province within days. Both the Security Council and Hammarskjold had assured Tshombe that the troops were not coming to restore the authority of Premier Patrice Lumumba's central Congo government, which Tshombe has rejected.

The first Swedish troops were to remain on the Elisabethville airfield while Hammarskjold had his initial conferences with the provincial premier. Afterward they probably will be used to secure the airfield as the Belgian troops withdraw.

Other troops then will be flown to Elisabethville, and additional units—including probably some of the Irish battalion—will move in from Kivu province.

The takeoff of the U.N. force from Leopoldville went off smoothly.

Although Congolese officials had been insisting that leaders of the central government go along, none showed up at the airfield, saving embarrassment and possible failure of the mission. Tshombe has refused to let any of Lumumba's ministers land in Elisabethville since he proclaimed the province's independence.

With the Secretary General in the lead plane were Gen. Ben Hammou Kettani of the Moroccan army, deputy commander of the U.N. force in The Congo, and Gen. I. J. Rikhyge of India, military adviser to Hammarskjold for The Congo operation.

The Swedish troops were armed with rifles and submachine guns.

Hammarskjold flew into Leopoldville from New York last night in a jet plane lent him by President Eisenhower. En route to Leopoldville, the U.N. leader made a stop in Accra for an hour's conference with Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah. There was no announcement on the substance of their talks but the Ghanaian threat to send troops to Katanga in support of Lumumba undoubtedly came up.

Dr. Ralph Bunche, the Secretary General's troubleshooting deputy and Gen. Carl von Horn, commander of the U.N. forces in The Congo, were on hand to greet him. No representative of the Lumumba government showed up to welcome the U.N. chief, who has been alternately criticized and praised by Congolese leaders. Presumably, Lumumba is now furious because the U.N. is not going to capture Katanga for him.

Steps by Lumumba.

With demands for local autonomy and a weaker central government growing in the Leopoldville area as well as in Katanga and other provinces, Lumumba meanwhile was taking steps to strengthen his authority and check opposition.

Rifle-carrying Congolese police and soldiers are carrying out patrols in the central capital. They have been halting cars on the road to the airport—even those of diplomats—and searching them for weapons.

Lumumba strengthened his own bodyguard, too. He summoned reporters to his residence yesterday for a press conference. The reporters found two Congolese soldiers with bayonetted rifles posted inside the entrance and four rifle-carrying Ghana policemen in the reception room. Lumumba himself never showed up.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE CANCELS SAILING OF QUEEN MARY

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 12 (AP)—A wildcat seamen's strike forced cancellation today of the sailing to New York of the 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary, already delayed 24 hours.

Officers of the Cunard Line started organizing an emergency trans-Atlantic airlift for 1845 passengers, most of them American tourists. The company will bear the cost.

Decision to cancel the voyage stranded 1020 passengers who already had boarded the liner here. The others were due to be picked up at Cherbourg, France. The Mary's sister ship, the Queen Elizabeth, is due to dock here Monday night after a crossing from New York, and the strikers hoped to balk her return voyage as well.

The spreading strike has affected 14 British ports and 35 ships. The strikers, acting against instructions from the National Union of Seamen, are demanding more wages.

NEHRU CHARGES CHINESE PATROL CROSSED BORDER

Says 23 Red Soldiers Made Incursion — Strong Protest Lodged in Peiping.

NEW DELHI, Aug. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament today that a patrol of 25 Communist Chinese soldiers crossed India's northeast border with Tibet June 3.

The patrol penetrated four and one-half miles inside the Kameng division of the Northeast Frontier Agency, then withdrew, Nehru said. He said the Chinese frightened away civilians in the area but made no contact with Indian military forces.

Nehru termed the Chinese incursion "a breach of understanding" on border position and said a strong protest was lodged with Peiping.

When members of Parliament demanded what India planned to do about the incursion, Nehru replied, "It is an odd corner of India where they came secretly and stealthily like thieves in the night, then ran away. It is very difficult to do anything other than protest."

Nehru told Parliament that except for the Kameng penetration the border had been quiet since the last session of Parliament.

The last conflict between Indian and Chinese forces apparently was in October 1959 when Communist forces killed nine Indians and captured 12 more in a clash deep inside what India considers the Ladakh section of Kashmir state.

The Kameng division is in an area claimed by the Chinese but Peiping had pledged not to disturb the status quo there.

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai offered last April to abandon all claims to this region if India would recognize Peiping's claims on Ladakh. Nehru refused.

The Kameng division adjoins Bhutan. It was into this area that the Dalai Lama fled from Tibet last year. The Chinese Communists have been reported sending strong patrols along the border in a campaign to crush revolting Tibetans and prevent escapes.

Laos Rebel Chief Demands Prince Set Up Neutral Regime

Souvanna Phouma Named for Post but Says He Wants Nothing to Do With Coup.

By PETER ARNETT

VIENTIANE, Aug. 12 (AP)—Capt. Kong Le, who seized control of this Loatian capital Tuesday, demands that former Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma be appointed prime minister. There was some belief that if Souvanna Phouma did not accede, Kong might try to deal with the pro-Communist Pathet Lao movement.

(A Vientiane radio broadcast heard in Saigon, South Viet Nam, said the army rebels holding Vientiane wanted Prince Souvanna to head a government "that will incline neither toward the free world nor the communist world."

There was doubt as to what Prince Souvanna might do about Capt. Kong's efforts to displace Prime Minister Tiao Somsanith. Somsanith is in Luang Prabang, the royal seat, with other members of the government.

Renounces Revolt.

Kong appears to be trying to keep his revolt alive. The list of the provisional committee of his revolutionary party includes Prince Souvanna. But Souvanna said in an open letter to Kong yesterday that he wanted nothing to do with revolutionaries and asked that his name be removed.

Since the coup, leftist leaders have been having round-the-clock discussions with Kong and some feel that in a search for support the revolutionary leader may try to deal with pro-Communist Prince Souvanna Vong, half-brother of Souvanna Phouma and leader of Pathet Lao.

Souvanna Vong escaped from military jail in Vientiane three months ago and is believed to be hiding in the jungles of north Vientiane province.

Kong is holding Vientiane with about 800 troops. Western diplomats are presuming royal army forces in Luang Prabang are loyal to King Savang Vathana. Without political support or support of provincial armies it is unlikely Capt. Kong can spread his influence outside Vientiane.

Could Deal With Reds.

Kong said in a speech yesterday he wanted Souvanna Phouma as prime minister because he could best deal with Pathet Lao. Souvanna Phouma negotiated an agreement with his half-brother in 1957.

In his speech, Kong said the main purpose of the revolution is to end internal fighting in Laos, which he claimed was caused by outside interference. He pledged also to clean up corruption, which he charged resulted from American aid to Laos. Kong said instead of using his government funds to improve the country and economy, the money had been used to wage war and for support of minority group politicians. Asking for ouster of the present government, Kong said:

"Foreigners who give support to those leaders only make those corrupt men richer. Leaders continue to live contended, happy lives while everyone else lives in poverty."

A big crowd heard Kong speak at National Stadium.

Capital Quiet.

Vientiane remained quite, with tanks roaming the streets. Banks were closed and plane services halted but some road traffic trickled through from bordering Thailand.

Foreign residents and embassies went ahead with business as usual.

Laos holds a strategic position in Southeast Asia as a buffer between Red China and Communist North Viet Nam on the north and pro-Western Thailand to the south. The land-locked little kingdom does not now recognize Red China or North Viet Nam diplomatically, and the United States has poured in millions of dollars of military and economic aid to keep Laos leaning to the West.

Thailand Backs Somsanith

By United Press International.

In Bangkok, Thailand's Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat announced that the Somsanith government was still in control in Laos and that Thailand would continue to recognize it.

Somsanith was understood to be mobilizing a counter-attack against the rebels.

Laos's ambassador to Thailand, Tiao Khampan, said in a formal statement that loyal forces would soon "restore order."

"Contacts made to date with other parts of the kingdom show that the military therein continue to remain loyal to the royal government," he said.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Aug. 12 (AP)—Frank Pasek was driving near Mount Clemens when he saw two motorists who appeared to be in trouble. Pasek stopped to see if he could help. One pulled a pistol and robbed Pasek of $6. The other punched Pasek in the nose before they drove away.

GEN. TWINING'S RETIRING COULD CAUSE SHAKE-UP

May Lead to Changes in Military Command in Last Days of Administration.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UPI) —Retirement of Gen. Nathan F. Twining as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff may lead to a shake-up in the military high command in the waning days of the Eisenhower Administration.

Reports of changes expected in the Army's top echelon were accompanied today by speculation about shifts in the leadership of the Air Force and the North Atlantic Treaty forces, which are headed by United States Air Force Gen. Lauris Norstad.

The White House confirmed yesterday that Twining, an Air Force general who will be 63 years old in October, is planning to retire as the top American military man but said no date had been set. The date is believed to be in September.

Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff, is regarded as likely to be Twining's successor. Lemnitzer will be 61 this month.

Expected to succeed Lemnitzer is the present Army vice chief of staff, Gen. George H. Decker, a long-time friend of President Eisenhower, and a man with a distinguished Army record.

There are unofficial reports that Norstad, who suffered a mild heart attack this year, may retire and be succeeded in the NATO command by Gen. Thomas D. White, the Air Force chief of staff.

In that event, Gen. Curtis E. Lemay probably would move up from vice chief of staff of the Air Force.

Norstad has held high military posts in NATO for 10 years. He has been supreme commander for almost four years and is believed to have discussed his future with President Eisenhower recently.

Twining now is half way through his second two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs. He has undergone operations for lung cancer and a ruptured appendix in the last 15 months.

Health was considered a chief factor in his plan to retire, although Twining has had no known recurrence of the lung ailment. He was said to want to avoid the grueling task of helping to prepare a new budget and then appearing before congressional committees to defend it.

CLAYTON, CRESTWOOD, NORTHLAND STORES OPEN FRIDAY NIGHT

STATE TO GIVE TOP PRIORITY TO WIDENING OF EXPRESS ROUTE

Highway to Be Expanded to 6 Lanes From Tamm to Boyle—Project East of Grand Also Set.

Widening of the Express Highway to six lanes between Tamm and Boyle avenues to eliminate a bottleneck on the Daniel Boone Expressway will be given top priority, respresentatives of the State Highway Department said yesterday.

The department announced its agreement with Mayor Raymond R. Tucker to proceed at once with acquisition of the right-of-way for the widening despite the failure of the Board of Aldermen to pass an ordinance approving the route.

It was also announced the department would proceed to acquire right-of-way for the Daniel Boone route from the east end of the Grand boulevard underpass to Union Station within the next 12 months. This is all in the Mill Creek Valley area now owned by the city's Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority.

However, first priority will be given to the section of the Express Highway and construction will begin there before any work is done on the route east of Grand boulevard unless additional funds are forthcoming. In that event, construction might proceed simultaneously on both segments, it was stated.

Ozark Route Procedure.

In deciding to buy right-of-way for the Express Highway widening without waiting for the aldermen to act, the Highway Department will be using the same procedure it followed with respect to the Ozark Expressway.

In that case it acquired right-of-way but postponed construction until the aldermen designated the route and authorized an agreement to pay its share of the right-of-way. In the case of the Express Highway, the city's share will be 50 per cent.

A 75-foot strip of Forest Park between Tamm avenue and Jefferson Lake will be required to provide for the six lanes and room for a later addition of two more lanes as the need develops. This amounts to about 11 acres of park land.

An additional 15 acres will be acquired for the relocation of Kingshighway through the park near the Barnes Hospital group and for interchange with that north-south artery.

City to Be Reimbursed.

The Highway Department has agreed to reimburse the city for the Forest Park land it will take, at a price to be negotiated. The city will use the funds to acquire park sites elsewhere in the city. It will take its share of the cost of the Forest Park land from 1955 bond issue funds earmarked for expressway rights-of-way.

Right-of-way east of Kingshighway will cost about $2,000,000. The Central Institute for the Deaf at Kingshighway and Papin street has been given assurance it will have time to relocate before its building is acquired and razed.

The widening of the Forest Park section of the Express Highway will be entirely on the north side of the highway. From Kingshighway east to Taylor avenue property will be taken from both sides and from Taylor to Boyle avenue only from the south side.

Cost Put at $10,000,000.

Cost of the project, including right-of-way and construction, has been put at $10,000,000. All construction cost will be paid by the Highway Department from state and federal funds.

Highway engineers said three new lanes would be added to the present Express Highway. An unpaved median strip will separate the new pavement from the old. It will be wide enough to permit the addition of two inside lanes when an eight-lane expressway is needed.

When the three new lanes are completed, the old pavement will be broken up and replaced with three new lanes. It is hoped this procedure will make it possible to keep the Express Highway in use during most of the construction phase.

It is estimated that right-of-way acquisition and land clearance will require about 18 months and construction another two years. The lengthy construction period is caused by the fact that most bridges across the Express Highway will have to be rebuilt.

The decision to commence acquiring right-of-way at once was announced at a meeting at City Hall of Tucker and Leo A. Fisher, chairman of the State Highway Commission; Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer, and Myer Ableman, urban area engineer for the highway department.

One man was slightly injured in a collision of a Public Service Co. bus and two automobiles at Southwest avenue and Watson road early today.

Kenneth H. Cox, 40 years old, of Pacific, was taken to City Hospital suffering lacerations of the right hand and abrasions of the left arm. The car he was driving struck the left side of a bus, police said. Another machine struck the near of Cox's car.

Elmer Huber, bus driver, 4146 Oleatha avenue, went through a red traffic light when his brakes failed, police said. Conway J. Blessing, 29, 9830 Lindhall lane, Affton, struck the rear of Cox's car, officers reported. Blessing refused medical attention. Huber was booked for having defective brakes and failing to stop at a red light.

CHICAGO COMMUTER TRAIN DERAILED, 50 RIDERS HURT

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (UPI) — A two-car electric train was derailed at the city's southern edge today and about 50 passengers were reported injured, at least two seriously.

The wreck occurred at about 130th street, not far from the Indiana border. The South Shore train was derailed 28 minutes after it left Chicago's Loop.

The railroad had no immediate explanation for the derailment. An unofficial source said the train possibly hit an open switch. The railroad spokesman said the trains normally pass the area at about 45 miles an hour.

R. J. DULIBA BLAMED IN CRASH FATAL TO 3

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 12—Robert J. Duliba, a St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, was charged with careless and reckless driving today after a coroner's jury held him responsible for an automobile accident in which three persons were killed.

The jury found that Duliba, 25 years old, was in the wrong lane when his automobile was struck by a car driven by Robert Haukamp of Columbia, a University of Missouri engineering student. Duliba, from Glen Lyon, Pa., lives at 10311 St. Jude lane, St. Ann.

Those killed in the accident were Mrs. Haukamp, 21, and her 9-month-old son, Timothy, and Anna Marie Wilga, 9-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Wilga, 4936 Plover avenue, St. Louis. Mrs. Wilga and her daughter weer riding with Duliba.

Duliba was arraigned before a magistrate after the inquest and pleaded not guity. His trial was set for Aug. 26. The charge is a misdemeanor.

The accident occurred last July 12 on U.S. Highway 40, about 11 miles west of Columbia. Mrs. Wilga testified it was raining and the road was slick. Duliba's car began skidding, she said, and came to a stop in the wrong lane immediately before the collision.

Haukamp did not recall the accident. His attorney, James L. Walsh, explained Haukamp could not remember anything that occurred immediately before or after the collision.

Duliba, who joined the Cardinals last year as a relief specialist, suffered a kidney injury and several fractured ribs. The accident ended his athletic activities for the year. He was driving to Kansas City for the wedding of a teammate, Ray Sadecki.

His attorney, Arnold J. Willman, said Duliba had no automobile insurance. He said Duliba could not afford it. Haukamp, a son, Robert Jr., 3, and Mrs. Wilga were injured.

VALUE PLACED ON LAND AROUND WEISS AIRPORT

$5000 to $8000 an Acre Price on Area Considered for Second Airfield.

Most property in the vicinity of Weiss Airport in Fenton is valued at from $5000 to $8000 an acre, John D. Kerr Jr., director of industrial development for the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis, said today.

The City Airport Commission is considering whether to buy the privately owned airport and surrounding acreage for development of a field for executive aircraft to relieve crowded conditions at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

Kerr obtained the figures from appraisals on file in the office of St. Louis County Assessor Francis H. Kennedy. Kerr acknowledged that the land is high-priced, but said, in answer to a question, that he considered the cost reasonable and within reach.

The appraisals are the figures on which the 1961 tax bills will be based. Kerr said they cover between 500 and 600 acres, all of it uninhabited, which are west of the Meramec river and south of Highway 66 in Fenton.

Would Avoid Expensive Land.

"Some large pieces run less, and some pieces run pretty high," he said. "We would try to avoid buying the high-priced property or ground which has improvements and buildings on it."

Kerr said he will forward the figures to Walter Malloy, chairman of the airport commission.

"The commission holds the key," Kerr said. "They have the wherewithal to buy the property if they decide they are interested in buying it. I am pretty sure they are."

The full commission is expected to take up the matter at its next meeting. It was learned that the commission sought an expression from the Federal Aviation Agency as to the acceptability of the Fenton field for an executive airport. The FAA called a meeting here last Monday of all agencies interested in airport development and spoke favorably of the Weiss site.

Could Serve Wide Area.

Robert W. Clark, district airport engineer for the FAA, said the Weiss area was good from the standpoint of air traffic and would serve a wide area. He said he hoped "someone will pick up the Weiss idea."

After obtaining FAA approval and the property valuations, Kerr said, "the thing needed now is the official attitude of the airport commission."

The Chamber of Commerce has recommended establishment of a field for executive craft as soon as possible while a search continues for a site for a second major airport. The chamber has said the major airport should be on the East Side.

The executive field, Kerr said, will require enough land to build a 6000-foot runway. Weiss Airport now has two runways about 3000 feet long.

The City Airport Commission has authority to market $10,000,000 in bonds which could be used to develop Weiss Airport. Malloy said the bonds will not be marketed, however, until the commission's income increases.

Malloy said the cost of land is the main factor in whether the city purchases Weiss or any other site for another airport. The commission is not scheduled to meet for about a month.

FORMER CONVICT ADMITS SEVERAL ROBBERIES HERE

Arrested in Festus as He Gets off Bus After Holding Up Liquor Store in St. Louis.

Raymond John Jones, an ex-convict and former mental patient with a 34-year criminal record, was arrested at Festus early today and admitted several recent robberies in St. Louis.

Taken in custody by Missouri Highway Patrol Trooper Herman A. Ellenberger as he got off a bus from St. Louis, Jones admitted holding up a Peoples 905 liquor store at 6969 Gravois avenue last night.

Identified in Kroger Holdup.

Returned to St. Louis, Jones was identified by William Carter, manager of a Kroger grocery at 3417 Ohio avenue, as the man who robbed him of $150 in the store last Tuesday. Jones was to be viewed by victims of the liquor store and other robberies.

An undetermined amount of money was taken in the liquor store holdup. Paul Powers, store manager, said the robber, who "looked intoxicated," first asked to buy liquor, then said: "This is a stickup," and ordered Powers to hand over money.

Ordering Powers not to follow him, the robber left the scene in a taxicab parked outside the store.

When arrested, Jones told Trooper Ellenberger he had gone in the taxicab to his room in downtown St. Louis, then to a bus station.

On Lookout For Him.

Ellenberger said he had been on the lookout for Jones for several days on the basis of a pickup request issued by St. Louis police.

Jones, 49 years old, had only a small amount of money on his person, Ellenberger said, and indicated he had hidden loot from robberies somewhere in St. Louis.

The man also had three cans of lighter fluid in his pockets and said he was on the way to the home of a relative near Festus to "set his house on fire," the trooper said.

Jones was acquitted of robbery by reason of insanity at least five times between 1937 and 1951 and three times was released from the criminal insane division at Fulton State Hospital after being adjudged sane.

In 1951 Circuit Judge Ivan Lee Holt Jr. declared Jones's case "the worst in my experience" and arranged with state hospital authorities not to release such prisoners without a court proceeding.

In 1956 Jones was sentenced to five years in Missouri Penitentiary for a grocery robbery and was released after serving three years.

Straub Market Robbed.

A Straub food store at 302 North Kingshighway was robbed of an undetermined amount of money last night by a man who held up Jack W. Straub Jr., 19-year-old son of one of the owners, as he was counting the day's receipts in the cashier's cage.

Straub said the robber held his hand in a coat pocket as if pointing a pistol and ordered him to "leave the money where it is."

The man then scooped currency into a canvas bag on the counter and fled out the front door, followed by young Straub. The thief ran east on Maryland plaza and drove away in an automobile parked half a block away.

Jerry Hurt of Portageville, Mo., reported he was robbed of $54 yesterday by the two men, one of whom pressed a revolver against him as he walked in the 100 block of Fifth street, East St. Louis.

Mrs. Lillian Baurmeister, 2901 (rear) Converse avenue, East St. Louis, was robbed last night of her purse containing $200 by three youths who accosted her in the 2900 block of Bond avenue, East St. Louis.

Policeman Fires at Suspect.

One of two policemen investigating a burglary last night at the American Body & Auto Repair Corp., 2826 Pine street, fired two shots at a suspect who fled from a vacant building next door at 2830 Pine.

The man ran west, pursued by Patrolman James Vaughn and Harrison Williams, and escaped after entering a vacant building at 2916 Pine. One of the shots, fired by Vaughn, broke a first-floor window at the Pine Street Branch, Y.M.C.A., 2846 Pine. Loot at the auto body firm amounted to $2.50 taken from a soft-drink machine.

FATAL PLANE-CANOE CRASH

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 12 (AP)—An airplane and a canoe collided on Merganser lake Wednesday, killing the man in the canoe and injuring the pilot. The dead man was identified as Galen McWilliams, believed to be from Chillicothe, O.

The Federal Aviation Agency said sketchy reports indicated Raymond Trembley, Fish and Wildlife Service pilot, was landing on the lake, 260 miles southeast of here, as McWilliams, also employed by the service, was crossing the lake.

EXTRA WORKERS PUT ON BACK TAX JOB

Ten temporary workers have been added to the St. Louis county revenue collector's staff in a move to expedite processing and collection of delinquent taxes, Revenue Collector Ralph L. Devereaux announced today.

The announcement followed a complaint about lagging collections from the University City school board.

Replying to a letter from Alfred J. Fleischer, head of the school board, Devereaux said that "everything possible" was being done to collect delinquent taxes.

His staff has mailed 17,052 envelopes containing 28,471 bills for over-due taxes to county taxpayers, but 7700 were returned as "undeliverable," the revenue collector reported. Tax bills are sent out in alphabetical order, not district by district, he explained.

Fleischer asked Devereaux what action was planned as a follow-up with regard to delinquent taxpayers who did not respond to mailed notices.

Devereaux replied that his office planned to turn over all 1955 delinquent tax bills before Dec. 31 to the county counselor's office for legal action. The function of the collector's office is to mail the bills and try to trace missing taxpayers through the assessor's office, he said.

Five Killed in Bomber Crash.

HURRINGWORTH, England, Aug. 12 (UPI)—A British Valiant jet bomber crashed in flames near here today, killing five crewmen.

2 SMALL BOYS BURNED IN FIRE IN CAHOKIA HOME

Children, 2 and 3 Years Old, Had Been Playing in Utility Room.

Thomas Rose, 3 years old, and Rodney Moskop, 2, were seriously burned today in a fire at the Rose home, 23 Lee street, Cahokia. They were taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis.

Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Rose, was burned on his legs and arms. The Moskop boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moskop, 3609 White street, Cahokia, suffered burns over his entire body.

The boys were playing in a utility room, to which the fire was confined. Damage to the frame building was negligible. An investigation is being conducted to determine how the blaze started. The boys might have been playing with matches near some inflammable liquid, firemen said.

Fire In Bowling Alley.

Holes were chopped in gutters of several bowling lanes today in an attempt to flood a fire under a flooring at the Playdium bowling alley, operated by former Cardinal baseball player Terry Moore at 349 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis.

The East St. Louis fire department said the fire apparently resulted from faulty wiring over the concession stand at the south end of the building.

The blaze spread to one of the two tightly sealed false ceilings and under the floor of the building, which once was the Lyric Theater. The present floor was constructed over the sloping floor of the old theater.

Moore said it was difficult to place an estimate on damage, but it would be high. He said $30,000 was spent recently for new furniture and remodeling the cocktail lounge, which was scheduled to re-open under a lease on Sept. 2.

Passeroy Gives Alarm.

The two-alarm fire was reported by a passing motorist at 5:57 a.m. today and by Moore, who lives in the building.

Firemen were hampered in extinguishing the blaze because of dense smoke inside the building and the difficulty in finding the area of the fire. After putting out the fire in the ceiling, they discovered it had spread under the false floor.

Holes were chopped about every 20 feet in some of the 20 alleys in the building so water could get under the floor. The bowling alley adjoins six other business establishments.

Church, said: "I want you to know that I am a symbol of truth, dedicated to working with kids."

Morant's Testimony.

Morant, Republican committeeman for the Sixth ward, was then questioned by the board. Asked where he lived, he replied at the Pine Street Y.M.C.A., which is in the Sixth ward, and added that he also had a residence at 4752 Lewis place. The Lewis place address is in the Eighteenth ward.

Morant later said that he often spent the night at the Lewis place home because a sister living there otherwise would be alone. He said that early this year he had given Cook a check for $100, of which $75 was to cover rental payments on a Y.M.C.A. room, and $25 was a donation to the institution.

Bauman also told Morant that "when we get hotel lists like this from the Y.M.C.A., I cannot understand it."

"This board must have the help of the community in the proper conduct of elections," Bauman said. "I can understand other places lacking moral fiber trying to put something over on us."

Morant said he did not "want to involve the 'Y' in any scandal for any election," and said his registration there was an honest one. He said the Y.M.C.A. had always had "the highest reputation."

"I had always thought so," Bauman said. "I regret this has occurred because it is more of a reflection because of the type of organization it is."

James B. Owens, 3512 North Market street, a poll watcher in the Fifteenth precinct of the Nineteenth ward, told the board that he saw an election judge illegally help 70 per cent of the voters to vote.

His charges were supported by Mrs. Rubye Perry, 1906 Bacon street, a Republican judge in the precinct, who mentioned that she rents quarters for her beauty shop from Owens.

However, five other poll officials, both Republicans and Democrats, declared there had been no irregular procedures. They said a great number of the voters had needed assistance in operating the machines, and that the judges had helped them. But the assistance was given jointly by Republican and Democratic officials working in pairs, it was stated.

Polling place for the precinct was at 3522 North Market.

Mrs. Willa M. Ailes, 1312 North Grand boulevard, told the board that on election day Democratic committeeman Jordan Chambers knocked sample ballots from her hands. Chambers, longtime committeeman in the Nineteenth ward, was successful in his bid for re-election. Mrs. Ailes was passing out sample ballots for one of his opponents near the ward's Twenty-second precinct polling place at 3742 Washington boulevard, she said.

She said she called a policeman stationed at the polls, who orderer Chambers to pick up the ballots and hand them to her. Chambers complied with the policeman's order, Mrs. Ailes said. Chambers, in his appearance before the board earlier this week, had denied complaints that he had snatched ballots from an election worker.

Threatened, She Says.

Mrs. Ailes said that threatening remarks were made to her by another election day worker who was supporting Chambers. Her statements to the election commissioner indicated that she and the other worker had been in close proximity and had conversed with each other during the election hours, after the alleged threatening remarks had been made.

Statements taken yesterday from election officials in the precinct failed to substantiate reports that voters had been threatened and weapons flourished on election day.

The Election Board will continue its investigation at 5 p.m. today.

Space Capsule

the Discoverer program has been the most complex program undertaken in this country and I believe in the world."

From here, the general predicted, there should be "better than a 50 per cent" recovery with the rate increasing as the program continues.

It was made clear that the successful test of Discoverer and its capsule will hasten the development of bot hthe Samos and the Midas ballistic missile warning satellite project, which is intended to detect the launching of an enemy missile through instruments sensative to infrared rays.

Beyond that, Schriver looks on the Discoverer success as a boon to the man-in-space Mercury program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The military's Discoverer is "complementary" to NASA's Mercury, Schriever said.

Within a few weeks, a small eight or 10-pound monkey will be sent up in a recovery experiment, he said.

Plane Barely Missed.

In Honolulu, Brig. Gen. Robert E. Greer said an Air Force team barely missed catching the capsule.

"It was just a hair too far away for us to snatch it out of the air," said Greer, assistant chief of staff for guided missiles, who had flown here for the mission.

Capt. Lawrence Shinnick of Frederick, Md., was the pilot of the C-119 Flying Boxcar which was first to spot the capsule and its orange and white parachute.

"We did not see the capsule coming down," Shinnick said. "The weather was not too good. But we heard the beacon signal and it got louder as the capsule descended."

Shinnick said his plane, closest of the C-119s strung out along the area, may have been level with the capsule.

"We hight have snagged it had the weather been better," he said.

By United Press International.

The first men to see the capsule were Staff Sgt. Thomas E. Mills, Kerrville, Tex., and Sgt. Herman E. Caling, crew members of the plane.

Frogman Aids in Recovery.

The capsule was in the water for about three hours. It still was sending out its radio beacon and light signals when Boatswain's Mate 3C Robert W. Carrol of Keene, N.H., a frogman aboard the helicopter, leaped into the water to become the first man in history to touch an object returned to earth from orbit.

Carrol, wearing swimming trunks, flippers and a glass-fronted mask, slipped a hooked cable in an "eye" in the capsule and it was hoisted up to the helicopter.

He then took a small canvas bag with holes in the bottom and tucked in the parachute so it could be lifted without filling with water.

The cable made one more trip down from the helicopter. Carrol grabbed it, slipped his foot in a stirrup fastened to the hook and was hoisted aboard.

The capsule was taken back to the Haiti Victory—a specially equipped radar-recovery ship—and immediately crated for the voyage back to Honolulu.

The ship was scheduled to arrive at Honolulu tonight. From there, the capsule will be flown to the Sunnyvale (Calif.) plant of Lockheed Missiles and Space Division, maker of the Discoverer, where classified instruments will be removed.

The capsule was shot into orbit aboard a two-stage, 76-foot rocket, the last stage of which went entirely in orbit. While in orbit, the 19-foot satellite swung around so that its nose with its capsule was pointed to the rear. On the seventeenth pass around the earth the nose tipped downward about 30 degrees and a system of explosive bolts and springs ejected the capsule. The satellite remained in orbit.

The capsule took only 10 minutes to come to earth after being in space for about 27 hours from its launching. The satellite went into a slightly different orbit as a result of the loss of weight from ejection of the capsule. The Air Force said it was expected to continue circling the globe for 85 days.

forward vigorously by the United States for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind.

"The satellite balloon which has reflected these words may be used freely by any nation for similar experiments in its own interests.

"Information necessary to prepare for such participation was widely distributed some weeks ago.

"The United States will continue to make freely available to the world the scientific information acquired from this and other experiments in its program of space exploration."

Broadcast on First Sweep.

The recording had been broadcast to Echo I on its first sweep around the earth.

Glennan and his deputy, Hugh L. Dryden, went to the White House to play for the President a tape recording of his message. After hearing it the President commented "fine, I am delighted."

Glennan described the Echo launching as "well-night perfect."

John W. Townsend, NASA's assistant director for space sciences, said the first reported sighting of the new satellite was from Woomera, Australia. The next positive contact was at Goldstone, where the satellite was picked up optically and by radio signals.

Observers on the Pacific coast reported that in the early morning darkness the balloon shone some seven times brighter than the North star, or Vega. Strong optical aids would be needed to see it in the daytime.

William J. O'Sullivan, designer of the satellite, said it will be visible all night, not merely at dusk or dawn, for the next couple of weeks.

(Observers at the St. Louis Moonwatch Station will try to track the satellite tonight, Donald D. Zahner, station director, said. He stated that based on "rough" information sent in advance of the launching, the satellite should be visible here about 10 o'clock tonight and appear to be moving in a west to east direction.)

The satellite should be visible on four passes over the United States tonight. A lifetime of about one year is forecast before such factors as air drag and the effects of solar radiation bring the balloon down.

Micrometeorite punctures, allowing escape of some of the gas that inflated the balloon after it reached orbit level, may also affect it.

The balloon, as high as a 10-story building, is designed to test the feasibility of using satellites for world-wide telephone, radio and television systems.

Balloon in Nose.

When the Thor-Delta blasted off, the aluminum-coated plastic balloon was folded accordion-fashion in a 26½-inch magnesium container tucked in the rocket's nose. The launching appeared smooth as the rocket rose into the early morning sky, spurting a red-orange tail of fire.

Observers saw what appeared to be second-stage ignition about three minutes after lift-off. As the hot Thor-Delta penetrated the cold air of the upper atmosphere, a bright cloud of vapor trailed the rocket.

The rays of the sun, still below the horizon, illuminated this trail for several minutes after the rocket disappeared.

The main experiment will be an effort to exchange signals and messages between Bell telephone's Holmdel laboratories and NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory tracking station at Goldstone. These two stations warmed up for the try last week by successfully communicating via the moon.

NASA described the launching as a first step in the use of passive satellites for faster, more reliable and cheaper global communications. Echo I is called passive because it was designed to reflect rather than transmit radio waves.

Short Life Expected.

Inflated, the balloon weighs 137.4 pounds. Its plastic skin is .0005-inch thick—about half the thickness of the plastic wrapping on a cigarette package. Because of its large size and light weight, its orbital life was expected to be less than a month.

The launching was timed so Echo I would remain in continuous sunlight for about two weeks. After that, the satellite's orbit and the earth's rotation about the sun would be such that the balloon would be in the earth's shadow. Once out of the sun's warmth, the gasses inside would revert to a solid state. The sphere would become misshapen and perhaps collapse. Even if it collapsed, it would continue to orbit until dragged down and burned by atmospheric friction.

NASA wants to know what form Echo I will take when it returns to sunlight after spinning through a period of cold darkness. In that time, much of the 30 pounds of sublimating powders used to inflate it after launching may have escaped through tiny punctures. Unless it regained full inflation the satellite would be useless for communications because signals could not be reflected uniformly from its surface.

Attached to opposite sides of the big bag were two wafer-sized tracking beacons, each weighing 11 ounces. Both were to transmit signals on 107.94 megacycles to help ground stations locate the satellite's position and plot future orbits. The 50-pound third-stage rocket casing, which was expected to follow Echo I closely in orbit for a few passes, contained a transmitter to help pinpoint the position.

Many scientific organizations throughout the world were expected to join the Holmdel and Goldstone stations in playing a game of space billiards by banking signals off the sphere. Goldstone will transmit on 2390 megacycles and Holmdel on 960 megacycles.

NASA will assemble and analyze data from the various experiments, studying such phenomena as signal fading.

BOAT UPSETS, FARM WORKER DROWNS IN POND

David S. Prinster, a caretaker on a farm of August A. Busch Jr. near St. Peters, Mo., drowned yesterday when the boat he was using on the farm pond overturned and he was thrown into the water.

Prinster was using a 14-foot boat with outboard motor to clean moss from the pond, which is about 300 by 150 feet. A guest at the farm heard the caretaker shout and saw him threshing about in the water near the bow of the overturned boat.

St. Charles County Sheriff Lester Plackmeyer said two other employes of the farm, one of them a nurse, plunged into the pond in an effort to reach Prinster who was about 75 feet from shore in water 15 to 18 feet deep. He disappeared below the surface before they could reach him. Prinster was unable to swim.

The St. Charles Volunteer Emergency Corps was called and recovered the body by dragging the lake.

Prinster, 46 years old, was a caretaker for Busch for 30 years and lived on an adjacent farm, also owned by Busch. Survivors include his wife and five children. The Busch farm where the drowning occurred is known as Belleau Farm and is on State Route 79 in St. Charles county. Busch is president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

In another accident yesterday, a deck hand disappeared from a barge of the Federal Barge Lines at the foot of Lesperance street on the Mississippi river and is presumed drowned.

Identified as Ronald Frommann, 24, of 4130 Donaldson drive, St. Louis county, he was last observed about 9:45 p.m. by Claude McAllister of Cairo, Ill., who was standing on the top deck of the office barge of the Federal Barge Lines.

McAllister said he noticed Frommann about 25 feet from the bow of an oil barge that was being pushed by the tug Munter. Glancing away momentarily, McAllister heard a splash and, looking back at the barge, saw that Frommann had disappeared.

Capt. John Orth, pilot of the tug boat, said Frommann, wearing a life jacket, blue shirt and blue jeans, had gone from the tug to the barge to lash the barge to other craft being assembled in a tow.

The Coast Guard is searching the river for the body.

RUSSIANS PRESENT LUMUMBA WITH TWIN-ENGINE PLANE

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Soviet government gave Premier Patrice Lumumba a new plane yesterday.

It is a white Ilyushin-14, a twin-engine transport that cruises at about 200 miles an hour. Painted in black on the side is the inscription "Republique du Congo."

Soviet crewmen ferried the plane, which the Premier will use for trips around his huge country and in Africa generally. Lumumba undoubtedly will have Russian pilots for a long time. There are no Congolese pilots and few other Africans are qualified to handle such a plane.

The 11-member ITU Local 260 voted to strike when negotiations for a new contract broke down and pickets were posted yesterday, said Robert Ameln, union international representative.

The ITU contract with the Review Times, which has a daily circulation of 6000, expired June 24. It was the union's first contract with the Review Times.

the laundry and dry cleaning trade, some transit company employes and about 1,000,000 in the construction industries.

Holland was reported seeking a delay in voting in expectation of a grass roots explosion of telegrams to Senators over the weekend from organized groups in the retail trades urging votes against the Kennedy bill.

Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Senate Republican minority leader, was standing by with a proposed amendment which would substitute for the Kennedy bill one similar to that passed by the House last June.

The House measure would raise the minimum wage level to $1.15 from the present $1 for those now covered by the law, and extend to about 1,400,000 other workers a $1 minimum, without overtime protection. Under the latter feature of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as the wage law is known formally, affected employes who work more than 40 hours a week must be paid at the rate of time and a half.

The House bill was in line with recommendations by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, the Administration's chief spokesman on labor matters. Mitchell indicated that President Eisenhower would veto any bill with a minimum higher than $1.15.

Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who is a vigorous Republican spokesman against proposals which have the backing of organized labor, held the floor for 4½ hours yesterday afternoon in opposition to any extension of the existing law.

He was assisted in his presentation by Senators Holland and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, also a Democrat, and a few Republicans.

Democrats Almost Silent.

Except for the intervention by Kennedy in behalf of an early start on voting, Democratic proponents of the legislation stayed out of the exchanges. Apparently the Democrats felt that to get into further argument with Goldwater and his forces would only tend to extend the debate and delay voting.

In his speech, Goldwater said that the proposed $1.25 minimum would put small businesses all over the country at the mercy of big concerns, which already pay more, and that inevitably small companies would have to lay off workers to survive. He predicted that at least 500,000 jobs would be wiped out by the bill.

He said the best way to aid workers was to take the hand of government away and let free enterprise expand and develop.

Wage Rise as Lever.

Goldwater, who is the owner of a flourishing retail department store at Phoenix, said also that the proposed $1.25 minimum would affect not only those workers on "starvation wages" but would be a lever for raising the wages of all other workers in the same plants and industries because differentials between skilled and unskilled labor must be maintained.

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (Rep.), Iowa, congratulated Goldwater on his speech and stated the Senate should defeat the Kennedy bill and "set American business free."

Another Republican Senator, Norris Cotton of new Hampshire, said that passage of the bill in its present form would "destroy Main street in all the small towns across the land." He predicted also that under it many companies would be forced to get rid of their part-time and marginal workers and "a few then will do the work that many had done before."

Delay on Medical Care.

By the Associated Press.

A bill providing medical care for the aged probably will not be ready for the Senate until next week.

That was the word today from Senator Harry F. Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which has been wrestling with the controversial issue.

Byrd's committee has been under pressure from Johnson to have a measure ready for Senate consideration this weekend.

Scores of changes voted by the House in present social security provisions covering old-age insurance, survivors benefits and disability payments have kept the committee busy. Medical care provisions are being considered as part of an overall social security revision bill.

Farm Conference.

Meanwhile, House agriculture leaders decided today against trying to enact a general mandatory farm price support increase at the present session.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (Dem.), North Carolina, of the Agriculture Committee said the idea of such an effort was discussed at a closed-door meeting of key members of the committee.

The session was set up to consider emergency farm legislation, with all top members of the committee, from both parties, on the invitation list. But only one of the invited Republicans showed up.

Cooley said there was some sentiment for a move to require the Administration to increase the support levels—something he said was done by executive order in 1956 after President Eisenhower vetoed a statutory increase.

Russia Expels Another American For Giving Man Clothes, Bibles

—Associated Press Wirephoto.
ROBERT CHRISTNER

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Soviet Union today expelled a young American tourist, accusing him of trying to enlist a Ukrainian in "anti-Soviet agitation" by giving him clothes, three Bibles and American publications.

The American was identified as James Shultz, 21-year-old son of a Methodist minister in Otis, Kan. A student last year at American University in Washington, D.C., he is to be a senior this fall at Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan. He was making a Soviet tour sponsored by the Young men's and Young Women's Christian Associations.

The United States Embassy said the party spent about three weeks at a camp near Kiev on a world yolth friendship mission.

Shultz's schedule called for him to spend Aug. 10 to 15 in Leningrad, where an international youth conference is in progress.

An article in the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda said that Shultz's act had "caused indignation among honest people and he is being expelled. He forgot the elementary rules of decency and politeness."

The youth newspaper said the incident occurred in Kiev, the Ukrainian capital. It said Shultz found there "a rascal ready to sell his honor for foreign rags."

It said that in return for "rags"—a reference to the fact that most tourists in Russia are bombarded with pleas of persons wanting to buy their clothing—Schultz demanded that this person in Kiev "carry on anti-Soviet agitation."

Besides the clothing, the newspaper said, Shultz "immediately gave prepayment: three copies of the Bible, an American book of provocative material and an American magazine of the same nature."

The newspaper said that despite this "and other abuses of hospitality, the doors of the Soviet Union are open and will remain open to everybody who wants to get acquainted with its life and culture."

Shultz was the third American ordered out of the Soviet Union in as many days. On Wednesday Col. Edwin M. Kirton, the United States air attache in the Soviet Capital, was accused of setting up a spy apparatus and told to go. Yesterday Robert Christner, a 27-year-old tourist from Sparks, Nev., was accused of taking spy photographs and expelled.

The State Department in Washington termed Christner's expulsion a deliberate but "somewhat hysterical effort" to inflame world opinion in preparation for the trial of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers on espionage charges next week.

Christner told a news conference in Moscow he had been taking pictures everywhere "just like any other tourist."

"I don't know why they picked on me," he said.

Christner's Background.

Christner, fluent in Russian, said he is working on a master's thesis about Soviet railroads. He acknowledged taking some pictures of railroad depots and one of a railway boxcar and making notes in connection with his photographs. "I generally did this openly and in the presence of my intourist guide," he added.

Traveling alone, he arrived in the Soviet Union July 17 by train from Budapest and said he had planned originally to leave the Soviet Union Aug. 14. He left last night for Helsinki, Finland.

Christner was graduated from the University of Nevada in 1955 and attended the United States Army's Russian language school for one year while in service. After his discharge, he attended the university of California at Berkeley for one semester.

The Library of Congress in Washington said he was employed on a temporary basis from April 6 to June 30, first as a filer and later as a searcher and reference assistant. Christner said he plans to attend Georgetown University, in Washington, this fall and to finish his master's thesis on Russian railroads.

U.S. Embassy Denounced.

In another apparent attempt to whip up public feeling against the United States before the Powers trial, Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, today printed a letter from five Soviet citizens denouncing the United States embassy here for having sent them "propaganda material."

The letter complained that when they had sent an earlier letter to the embassy denouncing Power's U-2 flight, they received in reply a letter which included a statement by President Eisenhower on the U-2.

Although it is the usual policy of the Soviet embassy in Washington to distribute explanations by Soviet leaders, this is the first time the American embassy here has done likewise.

Text of Complaint.

The letter to Pravda said:

"We want the newspaper Pravda to bring to the notice of the American Embassy in Moscow our indignation at the distribution of extracts from the report of the President of the United States in which he made awkward attempts to justify the action of the American government which ruined the summit meeting in Paris.

"We would like to ask the gentleman: What are you counting on when sending such propagandistic work to the Soviet people? Do you seriously want to mislead us? Your efforts are in vain."

CITY DROPS 4 APPEALS ON ROOMING HOUSES

Four appeals involving the question of whether city inspectors may enter rooming houses over the objections of the operators were dismissed yesterday in the Missouri Supreme Court.

The appeals were dismissed by Associate City Counselor Eugene P. Freeman because the court has already heard and has under advisement four similar cases in which the same question is an issue.

The dismissed cases involved owners of four properties in the 3500 block of Victor street. The cases on which Supreme Court determination is pending involve property at 4047 Delmar boulevard.

All eight cases were decided against the city in police court and the Court of Criminal Correction on contentions that inspectors were without the right to enter buildings without reasonable basis to suspect that law was being violated. All were appealed by the city to the Supreme Court.

Freeman said the city decided to get a decision on the Delmar boulevard cases because the issue was more clearly defined than in the Victor street cases.

DEMOCRATIC BOLT BALKED IN LOUISIANA

© New York Times News Service

BATON ROUGE, LA., Aug. 12. —Loyalist Democrats defeated a move by states' rights forces yesterday to withhold Louisiana's support from Senator John F. Kennedy.

After a bitter floor fight, the Democratic State Central Committee voted 51 to 49 to place a slate of presidential electors pledged to the Democratic nominee on the ballot. The committee thus refused to join other Deep South Democrats in an unpledged elector scheme.

It constituted an important victory for Kennedy supporters, who hope to return this state to the Democratic column in November.

The committee action marked a sharp setback for Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, who had exerted considerable pressure on committee members to go along with the independent elector plan. He said earlier that he would not bolt the party, but he refused to indorse Kennedy and his vice-presidential running-mate, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Frank P. Ellis, former national committeeman from New Orleans, and Judge Edmund Reggie of Crowley, led the fight for the Kennedy ticket.

Ellis conceded that the national party platform was "not in keeping with the southern way of life and the traditions to which we have been accustomed and by which we intend to continue to live," but he urged that differences be worked out within the party. A number of stanch segregationists joined him in the call for party loyalty and backed the electors pledged to Kennedy.

SHOTWELL MAY BE DEMOCRATIC CHIEF IN COUNTY

Sidney Shotwell, longtime Democratic committeeman for Meramec township, is the favorite choice for chairman of the St. Louis County Democratic Committee, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

Shotwell is a deputy in the office of County Collector Ralph L. Devereaux, incumbent chairman who was defeated last month in his bid for re-election for committeeman from Lemay township.

However, Devereaux is not attempting to exert any influence in the choice of a new chairman, other committeemen said today.

The 32 committeemen and committeewomen, a pair from each of the county's 16 townships, will elect a chairman when they meet at 8 pm. next Tuesday at the county Democratic headquarters, 7817 Forsyth boulevard, Clayton.

Most of the committee members favor Mrs. Loretta Ayres, committeewoman for St. Ferdinand township, for vice chairman, it was said. The state law requires that a vice chairman be a woman if the chairman is a man, and vice versa.

Not Seeking Post.

Shotwell, who lives near Ellisville, said he is not actively seeking the chairmanship.

"I am not a candidate, but if elected I will serve," he said.

He has been Democratic committeeman for Meramec township since 1924 and served as chairman of the County Democratic committee from 1933 to 1935, when St. Louis county was a noted Republican stronghold.

Shotwell worked 18 years in the State Department of Revenue office in Maplewood, where Devereaux also was employed before was elected county collector. Shotwell was one of a number of employes who quit the state office to take jobs under Devereaux at the county courthouse.

Working actively for the chairman's post is State Representative Robert A. Young, who is committeeman from Airport township, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

Formed Coalition.

Young and Devereaux formed a coalition before last month's primary election in an attempt to gain control of the rapidly growing county Democratic party. The effort failed when Devereaux was defeated and two candidates supported by him for county offices also were beaten.

Although Shotwell is considered the leading choice today, he probably will have opposition in the meeting, it was said. One committeeman, asked how many candidates are in the field, said: "Thirty-two!"

Some committeemen said they had received letters from Walter J. Ackerley, Florissant township committeeman, soliciting their support for him for chairman.

Mayor Leo Hayes of Wellston, Washington township committeeman who virtually boycotted committee meetings during Devereaux's administration because of Hayes's political enmity of the county collector, also has supporters urging that he be given the chairmanship.

Another contender is Committeeman John Johnson of Concord township, who also is a candidate for State Senator.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12 (AP)—Former film star Mae Murray is reported resting comfortably today in a suburban hospital. She was found in a coma in her Hollywood apartment Wednesday.

Kennedy's Sailors Entertained.

ANTIBES, France, Aug. 12 (AP) — Joseph Kennedy, father of Democratic presidential nominee Senator John F. Kennedy, was host at luncheon yesterday for 150 sailors from the United States destroyer Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Their ship was named for Kennedy's eldest son, who was killed in action in World War II.

CAR IN CRASH JUMPS CURB; THREE INJURED

Three persons were seriously hurt yesterday when one of two automobiles involved in a collision at O'Fallon and Fifteenth streets jumped the curb and struck two pedestrians. Police said the car that went out of control was stolen.

Patrolman Charles F. Newman said he left his car at a filling station at 1818 Cass avenue at 2 p.m. to be serviced. An attendant at the station, Thomas Jefferson Lane, then drove the vehicle away.

About four blocks away, Lane, driving west on O'Fallon, collided with a car traveling north on Fifteenth driven by Virgil Barry of 1523 North Seventeenth street. The car Lane was driving struck a parked car, continued to the sidewalk and struck Mrs. Regina Spence, 35 years old, 1311 North Eighth street, and Mrs. Ethel Jones, 27, of 2528 North Garrison avenue.

Mrs. Spence suffered head and internal injuries, and Mrs. Jones suffered a broken pelvis, and possible internal injuries. Lane, 24, of 1414 North Eighteenth street, suffered a fractured spine and possible internal injuries. Barry and his wife, Cecilia, a passenger, refused medical attention.

Lane told police he had driven to work from the service station and was on his way back to the station when the accident occurred. However, Newman said he had left the car at the station and gone to work by himself.

Lane was booked suspected of stealing over $50, careless driving, failure to yield at an intersection and driving without a license.

Also arrested were Barry on suspicion of failing to have a driver's license, and the owner of the car, Barry was driving, Richard Helms, 1523 North Seventeenth street, on suspicion of permitting an unauthorized person to drive.

PIPE BREAK AT GREYSTONE, WATER ON GROUND FLOOR

A water pipe leading to the garage of the Greystone Apartments, 410 North Newstead avenue, broke today causing about two inches of water to flood the ground floor.

Water service to residents of the building was shut off when the building's janitor closed a valve in the basement.

A spokesman for the City Water Department said a trouble crew checked the building and determined that there was no damage to the main.

PRO-U.S. KOREAN ELECTED PRESIDENT

© New York Times News Service

SEOUL, Aug. 12—Yoon Bo Sun, a British-educated, pro-American leader of the Korean democratic party, was elected president of the republic of Korea this morning.

He was chosen by a joint session of the Upper and Lower Houses of the Legislature. The election session lasted only 30 minutes.

The 52-year-old member of an ancient noble family was chosen president on the first ballot for a five-year term in the newly revised presidential office. The office is largely ceremonial and the president may be removed from it only by impeachment.

Yoon was elected by 208 votes out of 259 voting members present at the joint session. Yoon's election appeared to have improved the chances for Dr. John M. Chang to be chosen Prime Minister. The selection of the Prime Minister will be made by the Lower House.

Within five days Yoon will designate a candidate for the Prime Ministership. His de ignation will be based on the recommendation of the Lower House.

By the Associated Press.

Yoon, former commerce minister, succeeds the ousted Syngman Rhee.

In his new post Yoon will have to sever all ties with the ruling Democratic party.

Yoon's nearest rival in today's vote, independent Kim Chang Sook, a Confucian scholar and former fighter for Korean independence, polled only 29 votes.

Yoon, a graduate of Edinburgh university and a Presbyterian, neither drinks nor smokes. He is a former mayor of Seoul and served in a Rhee Cabinet before the Korean war. He is the only man other than Rhee ever to be elected president of South Korea.

ALASKAN VOLCANO ERUPTS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 12 (AP)—Mount Trident, a 6010-foot volcano in the Valley of 10,000 Smokes, erupted Wednesday. John Walatka, manager of several fishing camps operated by Northern Consolidated Airlines in the area, described it yesterday as a "major eruption."

Airline pilots said smoke billowed to a height of 30,000 to 40,000 feet and blotted out the sun at the nearest villages of King Salmon and Naknek. Trident has been quiet since July 1953, when it "blew its top" in a similar eruption.

INDIAN RED FACES INQUIRY

NEW DELHI, Aug. 12 (AP)—Finances of the Indian Communists' parliamentary leader, S. A. Dange, are due for an airing.

Finance Minister Morarji Desai said yesterday action is being taken against Dange for alleged maintenance, without knowledge of the Indian Reserve Bank, of a foreign exchange account in a London bank. Dange was absent. He is reported to have suffered a heart attack.

'MISUNDERSTOOD' ON ARMS AIMS, KHRUSHCHEV SAYS

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (UPI)—Premier Khrushchev said yesterday the Soviet Union was ready to disband its armed forces "at any moment."

Khrushchev's reply to a West German peace group was published by the Soviet Tass news agency, which said, "Khrushchev points out that so far, all our efforts to achieve disarmament have not met with the proper understanding on the part of Western leaders."

FATHER OF U-2 PILOT COUNTS ON KHRUSHCHEV AID

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The family of Francis Gary Powers headed for Moscow today, claiming Soviet Premier Khrushchev's promise of help for the American U-2 pilot who goes on trial Wednesday as a spy.

"I will see Khrushchev. He said he will help me," Oliver W. Powers of Norton, Va., father of the pilot, told reporters on arrival in London last night.

The elder Powers said he had received word from Khrushchev but refused to say how the message came.

"I am going to help my boy," he said. "That's all I have to say."

Oliver Powers was accompanied by his wife, Ida, who suffers from heart trouble; Dr. Lewis K. Ingram, her physician, and Sol W. Cury, a friend of the family.

They were to leave London late tonight and to arrive in Moscow early tomorrow.

Traveling to Moscow separately, the pilot's wife, Barbara Moore Powers, arrived in New York City last night. She was to leave for Brussels tonight and was due in the Soviet capital tomorrow afternoon.

With her are her mother, Mrs. Monteen Brown of Milledgeville, Ga., and two lawyers appointed by the Virginia Bar Association, Alexander W. Parker of Richmond and Frank W. Rogers of Roanoke.

Parker said he had cabled John N. Hazard, a Columbia University professor who specializes in Soviet and international law, to join them in Moscow. Hazard now is in West Germany.

Parker told reporters that Mrs. Powers had been advised by the State Department that Soviet authorities would not permit her to talk with her husband until his trial ends. The Virginia lawyer said the pilot's family would be allowed to consult with the Russian lawyer appointed by the Soviet government to defend Powers.

Parker's only comment on the case was: "We are hopeful that he will be found guilty of flying the plane (and not of espionage) and that his sentence will be as light as the Soviet government will permit."

Mrs. Powers said: "I am going to Moscow to be near my husband and I certainly hope for a light sentence for him."

The maximum penalty for espionage in the Soviet Union is death. Mrs. Powers told reporters in Washington that a light sentence was as much as she could hope for.

She said her husband, in his latest letter Monday said: "If for any reason you are not permitted to come, please send me a cable. I am very anxious to see you. This will be my last letter."

Telegram to President.

She said she had sent a telegram to President Eisenhower and had been told in reply that "everything is being done."

"I am very grateful for what assistance the State Department has seen fit to give me," she said. "But I hope they'll be more aggressive in the future. . . . I do not know what could be done but I only want everything done for him."

A Soviet lawyer said on the Moscow radio last night that Powers "is an experienced, hardened spy" but that the "real provocateurs" are his United States superiors.

Arkaday Poltarak, an expert on Soviet criminal law, said the Powers trial would "put in the pillory the provocateurs from Washington."

Mexico Acts in Air Strike.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12 (AP)—The government early today seized the company handling commercial airline communications at Mexico City's central airport shortly after its workers went on strike. The seizure insured continued service by the company, Radioaeronautics Mexicana and averted interruption of commercial airline traffic.

U.S. NAZI MEMBER TOLD TO REGISTER AS FOREIGN AGENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—A member of the American Nazi party says the Federal Government has asked him to register as a foreign agent because of his contacts with the Russian Embassy. These contacts took place before he became a Nazi party member, Roger C. Foss told the Washington Post yesterday.

Foss, a 32-year-old former University of Minnesota student, said he received $500 from Valentin M. Ivanov, the Russian Embassy's first secretary, in the last year.

The FBI declined comment on the story of Foss. Ivanov denied the account, saying: "It must be an invention."

It was understood, however, that the Attorney General's office had sent Foss a notice, asking him to register as a foreign agent.

C.A.B. TO CONSIDER OZARK ROUTE PLEA WITH ANOTHER

A petition by Ozark Air Lines for removal of restrictions on its Omaha-Chicago Route 8 was consolidated by the Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday at Washington with a series of route applications of North Central Airlines.

Ozark is seeking permission for operations between terminals of the route with only one intermediate stop after two round trips daily. The airline stops at Waterloo, Ia., on the route.

The board refused to add to the proceeding Ozark's application for a route between Sioux Falls, S.D., and Des Moines, Ia., by way of Spencer, Estherville and Fort Dodge, Ia.

WEST PLANNING MASSIVE CONGO RELIEF PROGRAM

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The big Western powers have agreed to work together, through the United Nations, on a massive aid program for The Congo, British diplomats reported last night. About $250,000,000 is believed needed in the coming year if hunger and a breakdown of order are to be staved off in the new African state.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and possibly some Western leaders are expected to approach the Soviet Union to see if Moscow will join in the program. Hammarskjold's advisers are assessing The Congo's needs in terms of food, materials, technicians, equipment and money.

Informants said plans for a joint East-West approach to the project already have been discussed by the Allies. If the Russians show readiness to cooperate, the U.N. Assembly will be asked to approve the scheme.

STEPFATHER ACCUSED OF MISTREATING BOY

Roy L. Cottner of the 3400 block of South Broadway was held today on charges of mistreating his 7-year-old stepson, Jerry Phillips. The child's mother also was charged.

Cottner, a chauffeur, 32, was arrested Wednesday evening after the child was taken to City Hospital suffering from a fractured cheekbone. Mr. Shirley Cottner, 24, was taken into custody yesterday.

The stepfather and Mrs. Cottner insisted that the child injured himself by falling against a coffee table at home.

However, a 17-year-old girl living with the Cottner's, Miss Mary Trinckett, told police she saw Cottner strike the boy with his open hand one evening early last week after demanding that the boy count to 100.

Miss Trinckett said the family was in the living room. She said Cottner told Jerry Phillips he wanted him to learn to count and "not be dumb." After she went to bed, she said, she heard the boy being struck twice again, and the sound of weeping.

The next day, Miss Trinckett said, she noticed Jerry's face was discolored and his jaw was swollen.

Cottner, denying any mistreatment, told police he disciplines the boy when necessary by giving him a cuff on the buttocks.

Mrs. Cottner said the boy was asked to count by his stepfather and was able to do so. The boy was not hit by Cottner, the mother insisted.

Warrants charging both Mr. and Mrs. Cottner with mistreatment of a child were issued yesterday by Assistant Circuit Attorney Quentin Gansloser.

KARL SCHUPP, 75, QUITS HIS RACE FOR CONGRESS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

VAN BUREN, Mo., Aug. 12—Karl Schupp, Republican candidate for United States Representative in Missouri's Eighth District, announced today he would withdraw from the race.

Unopposed in last week's primary election, Schupp, 75 years old, said he had filed only to fill the ticket and that he is too old for the job. A successor will be named by the G.O.P. district congressional committee.

Schupp is a brother-in-law of United States Representative A. S. J. Carnahan of Ellsinore, who was defeated for Democratic renomination in the Eighth District last week by State Representative Richard Ichord of Houston. The district embraces 19 counties, including Jefferson, Washington, Ste. Genevieve and St. Francois.

MOTHER AND BABY INJURED, THROWN FROM CAR IN CRASH

An infant and her mother were injured seriously yesterday when the automobile in which they were passengers was struck by another car at Eighteenth street and Ann avenue.

In City Hospital with a fractured skull is Marilyn Pennington, 3-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Pennington, 2917 South Eighteenth street. Mrs. Pennington, who was thrown out of the car with the baby in her arms, suffered fractures of the arm and ankle and a head injury. Pennington, who was driving, was not injured.

Police were told by three young women in the second car that the driver, Clarence McGoven, 34 years old, Montier, Mo., had walked away. McGoven, who had spoken briefly to Pennington, is being sought.

Brothers Die Together.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 12 (AP)—Charles Manazer, 67 years old, found his brother, Jack, 62, unconscious last night on the floor of the grocery they owned. As attempts were made to revive Jack, Charles collapsed. Both men died, apparently of heart attacks, the coroner's office said.

Bowles Quits Congress Race To Campaign for Kennedy

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Representative Chester Bowles withdrew as a candidate for re-election to Congress yesterday to devote his full efforts to the Democratic national campaign.

The Connecticut Representative was chairman of the Platform committee at the Democratic National Convention and has been a major foreign policy adviser to Senator John F. Kennedy, the party's presidential candidate.

Bowles declared that he had "no understandings or commitments with anyone, anywhere" as to possible future service in a Kennedy Administration cabinet, should the Senator be elected.

Some Kennedy advisers were reported to be concerned that Bowles' abrupt withdrawal from the congressional contest might indicate to Adlai E. Stevenson that Bowles had been assured the post of Secretary of State by Kennedy in the event of his election.

Such, they said, was not the case.

Immediately after his nomination, Kennedy named Stevenson and Bowles as his two foreign policy liaison men with the Eisenhower Administration and the present Department of State.

This led to speculation that Kennedy, if elected, would name one of the two as Secretary of State and the other as Ambassador to the United Nations.

Kennedy greeted the news of Bowles' change of plans with this brief statement:

"While I regret that his congressional career is coming to an end I sincerely appreciate his offer of assistance in the coming campaign. His aid will be invaluable to me."

Bowles based his decision to abandon pursuit of elective office on these factors:

Election from Connecticut's Second Congressional district would commit him, in his opinion, to serve a full two-year term and thus block him from possible service in an incoming national Administration.

He has been under increasing pressure to make speeches around the country in behalf of the Kennedy ticket, which he could not do without slighting his own campaign.

The former Connecticut Governor and United States Ambassador to India was first elected to Congress in 1958, when the Democrats swept all Six Connecticut House seats.

By the Associated Press.

The 16 members of the Connecticut State Central committee from Bowles' district will pick his successor at a meeting still to be scheduled.

The Republican nominee is Horace Seely-Brown Jr., a Pomfret fruit grower, who held the post for five terms before losing to Bowles in 1958.

U.S. TIES POLISH BORDER PACT TO GERMAN ACCORD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UPI) —The United States told Poland in a note yesterday that settlement of the Polish-German border issue would have to await signing of a peace treaty with the entire German people.

The note, delivered at the Polish legation here, was in reply to a Polish note of July 20. The Polish note said West German Chancellor Adenauer in a July 10 speech to Polish expellees in Dusseldorf implied that West Germany and its allies were seeking revision of the Oder-Neisse border established on a temporary basis at the 1945 Potsdam conference.

The United States reply said this country's position — unchanged since 1945 — is that the border issue must await settlement of the issue of the two Germanys.

"The federal republic of Germany," it added, "has never sought or obtained any assistance from its NATO allies in pressing territorial claims nor, in fact, is it pressing any."

The note said a careful reading of Adenauer's speech would show he was seeking a border solution "only through the peaceful negotiation of a German peace settlement."

BATON TWIRLER'S ANTICS BIG BLOW TO GOV. BROWN

But He Returns Hit on His Head With Pat on That of Teen-Ager.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 12 (AP) — A baton twirler flipped his baton high in the air yesterday. A sudden gust of wind caught it and it struck Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the back of the head on the rebound from the pavement.

The chagrined teen-age twirler, Keith Hodges, walked over to the uninjured Governor at the reviewing stand, received a pat on the head and returned to the parade.

The incident occurred in the annual parade of this city's "Old Spanish Days Fiesta."

BUSY CONTRACTOR BUILDS HIS DREAM HOUSE IN 3 DAYS

OCEAN CITY, Md., Aug. 12 (AP)—C. Leroy Dixon always enjoyed the seashore. He told himself one day he would build himself a house in this resort city.

He bought land two years ago, then returned to his building business at Edgewater, Md., to wait until he had enough time to build the dream house.

This week Dixon made his decision. He could spare only three days away from business but he took some of his men to Ocean City with him. He began work on the one-story ranch-style house at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. After 16 hours of steady labor the outside framework, the roof, and most of the plumbing and wiring were done.

Last night the house wak just about completed but Dixon said he would have to do some figuring before he could estimate the total cost. Ten workmen helped with the labor.

LODGE SAYS HE WON'T LEAVE BEFORE U.N. ARMS HEARING

BEVERLY, Mass., Aug. 12 (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge brushed off a reporter's question today as to whether he is remaining at his post as this country's United Nations ambassador to obtain publicity in his campaign as Republican vice-presidential candidate.

A reporter referred to a news magazine's article saying that Russians contend Lodge will stay at his post during the campaign.

Lodge replied that the charge is old and "sounds like Russian propaganda."

Lodge told a press conference at his Beverly home that he is going to remain in the post for the disarmament commission hearing which begins next week. After that, he told reporters, he expects to present his resignation.

ONLY ONE HURT AS POWDER CAR EXPLODES IN COAL MINE

LOGAN, W.Va., Aug. 12 (AP) —One man was hurt but seven others escaped injury when a powder car exploded inside a coal mine near here early today.

The office of State Mines Director Crawford L. Wilson reported in Charleston that the injured man was not identified immediately.

The powder car was an enclosed type. Wilson said that a fire followed the explosion, but it was quickly controlled.

The mine at Lundale, 16 miles south of here, was the scene, on Feb. 12, 1958, of a slate fall which killed five men.

publican in 1952 and 1956. These states, plus North Carolina and Texas, will be special targets this year.

But the Nixon camp claims to be highly encouraged over showings of strength in some other Democratic strongholds of the Deep South.

Civil Rights Is Issue.

The G.O.P. optimism is based largely on southern distaste for the Democrats' strong civil rights plank, which they feel may offset the presence of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas on the Democratic ticket.

The Vice President, still sticking close to Washington with the Senate in session, planned to attend a meeting of the National Security Council this morning.

Senator Margaret Chase Smith of aMine announced today that Nixon will speak in Portland, Ma., tomorrow. She said Nixon had accepted an invitation she extended in behalf of the Cumberland county 200th anniversary committee to participate in its "Old-Fashioned Days" celebration.

Negro Leader 'Impressed.'

Dr. Jackson, head of the Negro Baptist ministers group, said after conferring with Kennedy, that he was "greatly impressed" with the Democratic candidate. A Republican, he said he had not made up his mind whether he favors Kennedy or Nixon.

Dr. Jackson said Kennedy's Catholicism "doesn't bother me in the least." He said his organization was against "race bigotry" or religious prejudice.

The minister said they discussed Kennedy's $1.25 an hour minimum wage bill, which he indorsed, and other legislation before Congress, including civil rights measures.

He praised the strong civil rights plank in the Democratic platform and called it "rather original." He said the Democratic plank "paved the way" for the Republican civil rights plank.

Dr. Jackson attacked Republican Senate leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. "Dirksen blocked the heart of the other (civil rights) bill," the clergyman said.

Liberal Party Backs Kennedy.

By the Associated Press.

In New York an "advisory convention" of the state's Liberal party has indorsed the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. The Liberal party vote can swing an election in a close contest between the Democrats and Republicans.

The party's policy committee started the ball rolling last night by indorsing the Kennedy-Johnson slate and declaring that its election would constitute "a signal victory for liberals and labor."

Stalemate of Western Nuclear Position at Geneva Caused by Split Between High U.S. Officials

'Pro-Treaty People,' Mainly in State Department, Differ With 'Anti-Treaty People' in AEC on Test Bar Treaty.

By A. M. ROSENTHAL

GENEVA, Aug. 12.

WESTERN NUCLEAR diplomacy is frozen in Geneva. It will remain frozen until a controversy is settled in Washington.

The struggle in Washington is going on in a committee of President Eisenhower's top aids and its outcome will have much to do with the result of the negotiations with the Soviet Union on a treaty to bar tests of nuclear weapons.

The dispute is a reflection of the basic division that has existed in United States official opinion ever since British and United States diplomats sat down to negotiate with Russians almost two years ago.

The policy of the United States is to sign a treaty with the Russians provided Moscow is willing to agree to the conditions of control and inspection that would make it workable.

WITHIN the government there are "pro-treaty people," chiefly in the State Department, and "anti-treaty people," strongest in the Atomic Energy Commission.

The "pro-treaty people" believe that under proper safeguards a treaty would be of benefit to the United States in that it would help control the arms race.

The "anti-treaty people" believe that it would be a mistake, because it would prevent the development of nuclear weapons that might one day mean the difference between annihilation or survival.

The "pro-treaty" officials do not want a treaty at all costs and the "anti-treaty people" are not opposing one at all costs. But in the committee in Washington that decides on tactics and strategy, the basic division of opinion is reflected in the debate on moves and proposals.

The committee is composed of the Secretaries of State and Defense, the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, the head of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Scientific and Security advisers to the President. It is called the Committee of Principals and under the late John Foster Dulles it functioned primarily as an advisory group to the Secretary of State.

With Christian A. Herter as Secretary of State, the committee operates as a sort of executive committee of equals. John McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, fights hard for his point of view and he is not ignored.

THE CURRENT bottleneck in western diplomacy here is a case history of some of the difficulties in negotiation through committee.

There always have been influential men in Washington who believed on the basis of their experience that the Soviet Union would never, in the end, agree to a treaty that gave the West meaningful rights of inspection. After the collapse of the Paris summit conference and the vilification of the President by the Kremlin, these suspicions became stronger.

The United States could not be sure until it had presented bedrock proposals on unsolved issues that the Russians knew were last-position.

The decision was made in the committee of principals to move as rapidly as possible in a bargaining situation to present the Russians with hard proposals that Washington believed would be a test of Soviet sincerity.

THE UNITED STATES proposed creation of a pool of western and Russian explosive devices, open to mutual use and inspection. The Russians turned it down and Washington registered shock.

In large part this expression of shock was play-acting. The United States expected Moscow to say "no" to the pool idea on the ground that the Soviet Union was not going to carry out any tests.

Domestic political opinion entered heavily into United States tactics. The Admiinstration believed—and McCone emphasized—that Congress would not care much for allowing the Russians to inspect our explosive devices. Because congressional approval was necessary it was considered bad tactics to suggest unilateral inspection of our devices at the beginning.

All the available signs indicate that preparation was made to move in Geneva to offer the Russians inspection of our explosive devices provided they would let us look at theirs if they ever conducted any tests. Suddenly and somehow the impression seemed to get around in Washington that the striped pants boys were trying to push the government into making the proposal, which already had gone through the mill of the committee of principals.

The debate on the tactics and timing, and when to bring Congress into the picture, still goes on although it may be settled soon. In the meantime, the only thing diplomats can do is to keep silent about it and duck the ricochets.

RUSSIA AGREES TO ONE U.S. POINT

© New York Times News Service

GENEVA, Aug. 12—The Soviet Union agreed with the United States yesterday that within six years after a treaty barring nuclear weapons tests becomes effective the projected worldwide control system should be installed and fully operational.

The Soviet Union, however, objected to the total of 21 control posts on its territory provided for in the timetable submitted by the United States two months ago, for setting up the policing system.

Soviet scientists have calculated that 15 control stations would be sufficient in Soviet territory, Semyon K. Tsarapkin of the Soviet Union said.

Like the timetable proposed by the United States with British support, the plan presented by Tsarapkin provided for installing the global network of 180 control posts and ships in three stages.

The Soviet Union would allow four years for completion of the first place from the time that the three powers ratify the test-bar treaty they are attempting to negotiate here.

The Soviet plan allowed a year more for the first stage than did the West because it called for the setting up of 68 control posts in that stage instead of the West's 47, Tsarapkin explained.

Red Attaches Pick Up Military Data Legally at U.S. Exhibit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP).

THE WASHINGTON Evening Star said yesterday that while Russia was expelling the United States air attache from Moscow on espionage charges, four Russian military attaches were winding up three busy days here collecting armloads of the latest defense information.

The story, reporting the observations of reporter Jerry O'Leary Jr., who followed the men through exhibits and lectures at the convention of the Association of the United States Army, said two other Iron Curtain military men from Poland were similarly occupied.

THE RUSSIANS were identified as Viktor F. Lobanov and Vsevolod S. Tovma, both lieutenant colonels and assistant military attaches of the Soviet Embassy; and Vsevolod N. Generalov and Avgust A. Yashin, assistant air attaches whose rank could not be learned.

The Poles were named as Capt. Edward Gordon of the military attache's office in the Polish Embassy and Roman Misztal, a clerk.

There was nothing illegal about the six Communist bloc men's three busy days—they were registered at the convention and had the credentials available to military attaches.

The information they crammed into bulging briefcases was not classified. But an army spokesman said seven items of defense hardware disclosed at the convention never before had been seen by the general public.

THESE INCLUDED a T-114 tracked reconnaissance vehicle planned to replace the armored car or the light tank; a new configuration of the Nike-Zeus missile; an artist's conception of the army's new Mauler, a mobile automatic air defense firing system with electronic computer; and S-D5 drone, a typical warhead of about 200 millimeters; a Red Eye hand-carried antiplane weapon, and a working model of a SAD&C computer.

By way of background, the story recalled that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told Congress last month that one of the results of democratic freedoms was the availability of information useful for military intelligence. Hoover quoted one Red defector as estimating that the Soviet military attache's office is thus able to obtain legally 95 per cent of the material it wants for that purpose.

Hoover estimated that in any other country an intelligence agent would spend 90 per cent of his time obtaining information that he can get here freely through government agencies or commercial publications.

THE STAR STORY reported particular attention by the Red bloc attaches to exhibits and lectures on missile developments, but also mentioned a display of interest in such matters as surveillance, communications equipment and vehicles.

It recounted that Lobanov and Tovma sat through a long speech by Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, chief of army research and development, in which Trudeau spoke of an era "darkened by the sinister shadows of the Hammer and Sickle."

It said the two Russians joined in, softly, when there were bursts of applause.

2 Men Block Bar on Lobby Of Brass Hats

Bill Stymied — Friends Help Friends in Air Force.

By DREW PEARSON
(Copyright, 1960.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.

TWO GEORGIA Congressmen have managed to sabotage one of the issues that made headlines a year ago—brass-hat lobbying for military contracts which costs the taxpayers millions.

The Hebert bill to curb brass-hat lobbying never had the support of President Eisenhower, and now it has been shelved by two powerful Democrats — Carl Vinson of Georgia, who pulled its teeth in the House, and Senator Russell of Georgia, who has pigeonholed it in his Senate Armed Services Committee.

Meanwhile, here are more illustrations of how retired Army, Navy and Air Force officers continue to scratch one another's backs in getting defense contracts.

Lt. Col. Andrew J. Lanier, an Air Force pilot retired on a medical discharge in 1954, with an annual pension of around $9800. He then went to work for the Hardwick Aircraft Co. of Stockton, Calif., at $25,000 a year as contract representative.

LANIER HAD BEEN one of the old-line pilots of the Air Force, had chalked up 18,882 flying hours, was the personal pilot of Secretary of the Air Force Stuart Symington, later of Gen. Edwin W. Rawlings, for eight years commanding general of the Air Force Materiel Command, which spends two billion of the taxpayers' dollars annually.

As contract representative for Hardwick Aircraft, Lanier talked to friends, wrote letters. One letter, written to Col. Joseph W. Barron at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, where the biggest Air Force contracts are awarded, illustrated how retired officers lean on old friends.

"Gen. Hefley and the rest of the personnel at McClellan were very helpful to me on my

TV Debates May Be Deciding Factor in Nixon-Kennedy Race

Audience Expected to Be Around 70,000,000, Largest Ever to See and Hear a Political Event in the Nation.

By JAMES RESTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.

IN ALL THE PLANNING now going on for the campaign, nothing is getting more careful attention than the forthcoming face-to-face radio and television debates and joint press conferences of the two presidential nominees.

The outlook now is for two Nixon-Kennedy debates, one late in September and one late in October, and two or three joint press conferences between.

Each of these would last an hour over all three television and all four radio networks, and both camps are working on the assumption that these unprecedented confrontations may do more than any other campaign appearances to determine the outcome of the election.

There are more than 44,000,000 television sets in this country and just under 100,000,000 radio sets. The audience is expected to be the largest ever to see and hear a political event in the nation—around 70,000,000. This is why both sides are planning their strategy so carefully.

SENATOR KENNEDY has been pressing for an early decision on dates, so much so that the Vice President's associates have been wondering why the New Englander is so eager to complete all arrangements.

Actually, the explanation is fairly simple: Like Nixon, he thinks he can win. Besides, the Democrats want that free network time badly. They are not so well financed as the Republicans and the network offer amounts to more than $1,000,000 worth of free time.

Kennedy's organization is further along with its travel plans for the campaign, but it cannot complete these plans or decide on the purchase of additional TV and radio network time until the dates for the joint debates and press conferences are set.

More important, perhaps, Kennedy has a special reason for wanting to get on the same national screen with Nixon. His major handicap in this campaign is his age. He is 43 to Nixon's 47. There has been a great deal of talk among both Republicans and Democrats about his "inexperience" and his "youth," and he believes he can dispel these charges once he appears on the same screen with Nixon.

THIS CAN WORK both ways. Nixon has been debating ever since he was in college. After he answered unrehearsed questions on David Susskind's "Open End" show for three and a half hours, Susskind remarked: "I am not a Nixon fan, but I was enormously impressed . . . He knows what he is talking about. He is amazing."

As a matter of fact, this experience on "Open End" had a significant effect on the Vice President's plans for the campaign. Feeling that he had found in the question-and-answer technique an effective way to avoid the formality of set campaign speeches, he decided to do much of his campaigning on state and regional television networks in response to questions from local newspaper reporters.

Kennedy is well aware of these facts, but just as he accepted the challenge of TV debate against Senator Humphrey in the West Virginia primary election, and a similar debate against Senator Johnson before the pro-Johnson Texas delegation at the Democratic nominating convention in Los Angeles, so he has grasped at the opportunity to take on Nixon.

In the Kennedy camp, the stock explanation is that the greatest political weapon Kennedy has is Kennedy. His aids

A Nominee on the Record

In reply to your recent editorial "Contempt for the U.N.," may I say this:

I agree that it would be inappropriate for me to make political speeches while I am United States Representative to the United Nations. I have never done so for almost eight years and I certainly shall not change my behavior during the short time that remains to me here simply because I have been honored by the nomination for Vice President.

Before I received this honor the President instructed me to seek a meeting of the United Nations Disarmament Commission and to represent the United States there. I shall carry out this instruction even though it means that I must forego all political meetings and speeches during that period. It would be selfish and irresponsible for me to leave before this unfinished business has been finished.

What About Pearl Harbor?

All this sentiment over the fifteenth anniversary of the dropping of the A-bomb is very touching, but doesn't anybody remember Pearl Harbor?

By the way, if it had been unleashed a little sooner, perhaps we might at least have recovered the remains of my father, a P.O.W. of the Japanese. As it is, we don't even have a marker by which to mourn him. Susan E. Webster

Study or a Junket?

It is announced that the Aldermanic Public Utilities Committee plans to visit Boston, Chicago, Cleveland and Toronto in the near future to "study" mass transportation under public ownership in those cities.

According to the Chairman, Alderman Raymond Leisure, his group of six members is to make a first-hand study of the transit systems operating under public ownership. Since none of the committee is considered an expert in mass transportation, would it not be wise for the committee to seek competent advice of some specialist in mass transportation problems and invite him to accompany the committee on its junket, which otherwise may turn out to be nothing more than an expensive vacation and joy ride for the six aldermen?

Whatever the outcome of the proposed study, St. Louis taxpayers will want to weigh the question of a city owned and operated transit system very carefully, in the light of the failure of such a system in several leading cities.

Laclede Getting Fat

Once again Laclede Gas Co.'s common stock has enjoyed a boost at the expense of consumers.

Per share net income ran to $1.65 for the 12 months ended June 30. This compares with $1.15 per share for the preceding 12 months—which is only about a 45 per cent increase. Revenues showed about a 15 per cent increase.

Certainly stockholders should get an adequate return, but a fair return.

This happened with Laclede a few years ago also.

A Cabinet for Kennedy

Senator John Kennedy could greatly strengthen his chances for victory by announcing now a tentative Cabinet he would select if elected. The array of capable men he can choose from would make up a Cabinet which could not but impress the electorate.

As examples of members he might name I would suggest Adlai E. Stevenson as Secretary of State, Hubert Humphrey as Secretary of Agriculture, Albert Gore as Secretary of Treasury, Thomas K. Finletter as Secretary of Defense, Mennen Williams as Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Wayne Morse as Secretary of the Interior, and so forth. Chester Bowles should, of course, be named as Ambassador to the United Nations.

Such a Cabinet would far overshadow any which Vice President Nixon could name. It would immediately win Senator Kennedy the allegiance of many millions of voters who admire and respect such men as I have named above. Most important, perhaps, it would assure the nation that its welfare was in trustworthy hands.

Retreat Under Cover

The net of the new controversy over the military budget appears to be that the Administration has yielded to Congress in agreeing to spend more money on certain functions, but has thrown up a cloud of gobbledygook which obscures the full picture. Apparently the purpose is to give an impression of greater military effort without actually increasing it very much.

Senator Lyndon Johnson, who had demanded to know what the Administration planned to do about the $661,000,000 which Congress voted beyond the President's defense budget, is convinced that the Administration still intends to freeze some $621,000,000 of the extra funds. President Eisenhower denied this at his press conference, but was not convincing. Senator Johnson is probably right in saying that the President failed to understand that funds designated by the Pentagon as "in an unallocated status" or "available for future requirements" are really frozen, as of now.

If true, this means that the total military effort, as presently planned, is not going to be much greater than it was originally intended to be. That is not enough, and Senator Johnson is justified in saying so.

The new spending plan presented by Secretary Gates in response to Senator Johnson's prodding apparently contemplates for developing airborne alert capability of the Strategic Air Command $170,000,000, just double what the Administration originally proposed. But it does not use $100,000,000 of extra funds which Congress made conditionally available. In practical terms this means that 80 bombers will have alert capability next March instead of 160.

Similarly, the new plan contemplates using only half of the extra $200,000,000 Congress voted for developing the supersonic B-70 bomber, allotted $75,000,000 in the original Administration budget. In practical terms this means developing the B-70 as a non-military prototype instead of as a complete weapons system.

Army modernization likewise gets only part of the funds Congress voted for it, and so on. Furthermore, the Administration has not told Congress and the public what programs it intends to cut in order to make the funds available for these expanded programs. If Senator Johnson is right, and the total military effort is to be close to the original budget, then obviously substantial cuts must be contemplated somewhere.

We believe Congress has a right to demand full and explicit information from the Administration, and the duty to keep prodding it for a stronger military effort. The changes so far made amount to an admission that the original Administration budget was inadequate in certain specifics. This raises a strong presumption that it was also inadequate in total, and should be corrected.

Abusing the Appointive Power

School Board members Schlafly, Rainey and Hicks have raised an important question of public policy in their lawsuit to oust James F. Morrell as the system's Building Commissioner. They contend that a public body like the Board cannot appoint one of its members to a job even if he should resign before accepting the appointment, as Mr. Morrell did.

The courts will spell out the law in due course. But regardless of what that decision may turn out to be, we think public policy should frown on the kind of deal by which Mr. Morrell got the $15,000-a-year Commissioner's post. An elected policy-making body should not be permitted to hand out the top jobs it controls to its own members; this encourages conniving within the Board for the jobs and administrative meddling by policy makers after the jobs have been doled out.

If the Morrell appointment is valid under the law, then there would seem to be no impediment to the Board appointing Mrs. Irma H. Friede, a former teacher, as Superintendent of Instruction; or naming Charles J. Dyer as Secretary-Treasurer. Board President H. Lee Bruns might like to be Auditor. And so on. This would be an outrageous misuse of the power to appoint, but no more outrageous than the appointment of Mr. Morrell, whose only qualifications were his political connections. If the law as it stands permits this sort of thing, then the law will have to be changed.

Rebellion in Laos

It was just a year ago that alarming news was streaming out of Laos about an alleged Communist invasion from the North. A United Nations commission conducted an inquiry on the spot and found the reports highly exaggerated. The allegedly impending Red assault on this mountainous buffer state between Thailand and North Vietnam never came, and the inquiry raised serious doubt that one had been contemplated.

Now the pro-American government of Laos is the target of a military coup by certain army elements which declare themselves neutralist and determined to oust all foreign military personnel. There is no evidence that the rebels have any power outside of the administrative capital, Vientiane, and whether they represent a serious revolution seems doubtful. There are some indications that they are seeking policy concessions by the Government rather than a full-scale overthrow. In view of last year's experience, all reports from Laos will be taken with reserve.

The rebellion is serious enough, however, to remind us how precarious it is to base a policy toward any country on support of a particular government. Unfortunately, bought governments have a way of not staying bought.

The United States has poured into Laos over the past five years more aid funds in proportion to population than it has spent in any other country. Our funds meet the entire payroll of the army and the police. But widespread charges of government corruption and of rigging of last April's elections which put it in power apparently made it possible for the rebel movement to gain at least enough momentum to seize the administrative capital.

When the expected counter-move comes, the rebels may be crushed. Yet it seems fairly safe to guess that if this rebellion is beaten another will some day take form, and that sooner or later we may have to face the impossibility of keeping a friendly government in power with dollars alone.

Here is the problem of the whole containment policy in miniature. We do not want to turn over Laos or any other country to Communist control, yet the present policy of trying to make such lands military strong points runs up against a growing reluctance of the peoples involved to play the role allotted to them. The question of what comes next should be getting serious consideration in the State Department.

Europe's Three Good Men

Prime Minister Macmillan and Chancellor Adenauer in Bonn this week, and President De Gaulle and Dr. Adenauer in Rambouillet last week tried to trim their sails to bring Europe safely into its new age. Embarked on a long voyage, they said little about their meetings other than that they were satisfactory. Yet it is fairly clear that Dr. Adenauer, who gets along well with both Macmillan and De Gaulle, tried to bring those two closer.

Paradoxically, De Gaulle, the individualistic French patriot, has become the stiffest representative of the European economic-political combination, the six-nation Common Market, and the least ardent member of NATO. London, on the other hand sets great store by NATO, but it is not a Common Market partner even though the Prime Minister is counted among those Britons who look on it favorably.

Dr. Adenauer is both a Common Market man and NATO enthusiast. He favors the Market less for its economic advantages than as a step toward a politically integrated Europe. For internal as well as external reasons, he believes that Germany never again should risk playing a lone hand. This might provide an opportunity for a new Hitler; more likely it would provide an opportunity for Soviet aggression. So he wants Germany tied into the West as firmly as possible.

Even though France, as a signatory to the treaty of Rome, is committed to European integration, this hardly suits De Gaulle's spirit. Yet he finds it easy to go along with his German neighbor on the basis of co-operation between European sovereignties. Like many another Frenchman, however, he is somewhat suspicious of British-European co-operation. The British themselves do not like their ties too close—or they would have joined the Common Market.

Dr. Adenauer is the least nationalistic of the three. This makes him a good middle man. It enables him to persuade the French to leave the Common Market door open to the British. Here he has the support of his Economics Minister, Ludwig Ehrhard, as well as of most German businessmen. The Germans seem to have learned that economic rivalries can be as dangerous as political rivalries. So Adenauer would like to see Britain, France and Germany neatly joined within the broader Western framework. Yet what he must leave to time he leaves to time.

That would make no difference if he were sure to be succeeded by an equally good European. But without national commitments there is no guarantee that his work will go forward. So it is to be hoped that these three —Macmillan, De Gaulle and Adenauer—will succeed before too long in working out an arrangement under which the years ahead would be shaped by their present ideals.

In Six Months

Lunch counters have opened to all customers in 27 Southern cities and towns since last fall, the Southern Regional Council reports. These facilities are generally open in Miami, Fla., in most of the large cities of North Carolina, in nine cities and counties of Virginia, in two of the three major cities of Tennessee and in all the major cities of Texas except Houston, where one lunch counter recently ended its racial bars. The trend is the more remarkable because it results not from law enforcement but from persuasion supported in some cases by economic boycotts, resulting in voluntary agreement. When major sections of the South give up the illusions of prejudice, Northern cities have no reason to cling to them.

Reasonable and Overdue

It ought to be reasonable to assume the adoption of Senator Kennedy's $1.25 minimum wage bill rather than the $1.15 bill passed by the House. And this ought to be so not merely because of the measure's vote appeal to the 23,700,000 persons now covered by the Federal Fair Standards Act and the additional 5,000,000 to whom this coverage would be extended.

As Senator Kennedy said in the one oratorical flourish with which he decorated his factual argument, "the burden which should concern us most lies upon the American conscience. We can no longer tolerate growing patches of poverty and injustice in America." This is far more important than Senator Goldwater's argument that fair wages ought to stem "in the natural way" from the free enterprise system. Sometimes they don't.

Since the minimum wage would be raised from $1 an hour to only $1.15 on Jan. 1, to $1.20 a year later, and to the full $1.25 only a year after that, it imposes no serious burden on the economy. It is more likely to be a mild stimulant. A man earning $40 a week, especially if he is supporting a family, hardly contributes much to domestic prosperity. Even $50 falls well below the $74 a week which the New York welfare department regards as the minimum budget for a family of four.

Adequate purchasing power is of more importance to the economy than the survival of marginal enterprises which exist only because they pay sub-marginal wages. Nor can much be said for profitable enterprises which pay such wages because they are not forced to pay more. By and large, American economic morality has grown beyond the toleration of such exploitation.

Tower of Documents

Chairman Moss of a House subcommittee investigating governmental secrecy says the Pentagon has stamped "secret" on enough peacetime documents to pile up a tower higher than the Empire State building. The California Democrat's charge is answered by a Defense spokesman who says Mr. Moss has "no firm, factual figures" on the rate of accumulation of such documents. That is just the trouble. Not even a congressional committee investigating secrecy can learn how much unnecessary secrecy there is in public affairs—that information itself is secret.

The August session of Congress faces, among other unfinished business, a bill by Senator Hennings of Missouri to close loopholes in the housekeeping law governing supposedly public records. The Hennings bill should be passed. Otherwise, the public will hear further arguments as to whether classified documents would make a pile higher than the Empire State building—or lower.

A Norris Centennial for 1961

Observance of Great Nebraskan's Career Would Seek Guides to Build the Future

An Editorial in Public Power Magazine

Last month—July 11—marked the ninety-ninth anniversary of the birth of George William Norris, the late Senator from Nebraska. And it follows that July 11, 1961, will be the one-hundredth birthday of this outstanding American.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

A Norris Centennial celebration should be held next July. Its purpose would not be simple memorializing or glorification of Senator Norris. His place in history is secure—and growing as the ideas and institutions he fostered continue to prosper.

Nor would personal adulation be appropriate to the memory of one who shunned personal popularity to fight persistently, skillfully and bravely for what his wisdom and conscience proclaimed to be right.

The Norris Centennial should seek in his career guides for today and great principles upon which to build the future. They are there, and all of the nation could be richer for having them spotlighted in a national observance.

To consumer-owned electric systems and advocates of full, comprehensive and beneficial development of water resources, Senator Norris is a sort of patron saint.

The Tennessee Valley Authority, the Rural Electrification Administration and the public power systems in Nebraska all owe a great debt to the vision and vigor of George Norris.

Yet his magnificent record of achievement in power and water legislation is only one facet of a brilliant career.

Organized labor, for example, recalls the Norris-LaGuardia Act, banning "yellow dog" contracts, as American labor's Magna Charta.

Who today would suggest in our fast-moving and perilous world that the President who is elected in November should wait until next March to take office? Or that defeated and retiring members of Congress should have a session in which to eulogize themselves? Yet the twentieth ("lame duck") amendment to the Constitution was adopted only after a decade-long struggle by Senator Norris.

If a Norris Centennial observance is to be held—and to be worthy of its subject—it must be carefully planned, and time is short.

However, there should be no difficulty in finding potential sponsors and participants. To cite only one group, millions of electric consumers in all parts of the nation are direct beneficiaries of Senator Norris' far-sighted policies in power and resource development.

But there is no need for limiting the list: all of us are debtors to this great American.

A Norris Centennial celebration could serve as an inspiring reaffirmation of the need for courage, integrity and intelligence in public policy.

Where a River Is the Servant of Man

Legal No Man's Land

From The Milwaukee Journal

Senator Hennings of Missouri, who has won respect as a champion of civil rights, announces that his Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights will now investigate a challenging "legal no man's land." Hennings is concerned over the extent to which the rights of the mentally ill and mentally deficient are ignored or violated in both criminal and civil proceedings.

In the criminal field the principal guide has been the M'Naghten rule laid down in England more than a century ago. It holds that if an accused person claiming insanity as a defense can tell "right from wrong" he is responsible for the criminal act. In 1954 the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia amended this rule in the Durham case. It declared that "an accused is not criminally responsible if his unlawful act was the product of mental disease or mental defect."

The criminal law nevertheless lags behind the advances made in modern psychiatry. The same is true of the civil law—in the commitment of persons to mental institutions, restrictions on the rights of mental patients to manage property, enter into contracts, etc.

The Hennings inquiry is most welcome. And even though it is confined largely to the federal area, findings and recommendations will undoubtedly be applicable at the state level.

There is no reason, however, why states should wait to put their own houses in order.

Here in Wisconsin the county judges have voiced concern over commitment procedures. Psychiatrists believe reform is needed to safeguard the health and welfare of patients, as well as their constitutional rights. The increasing number of voluntary commitments raises special problems.

A review of the state mental health act and the applicable criminal statutes is in order. This would seem to be an appropriate matter for the state's new mental health advisory committee to consider in carrying out its responsibility of keeping state mental health programs and activities under review.

What Influenced Hitler

VIENNA AND THE YOUNG HITLER, by William A. Jenks. (Columbia University Press, 222 pgs., $5.)

There is not much in this work concerning Adolf Hitler, but there is much about factors which may have influenced Hitler's ideology and outlook upon life. This is mainly a social history of Vienna and the Austrian Empire before 1914—as such it will reveal to the reader facts about which little has been known generally thus far.

The Vienna of pre-World War I days was not only a city of music and gaiety; the reverse side of the coin was the appalling conditions under which thousands of homeless and poor people existed. Young Adolf Hitler was one of Vienna's poor; he lived in slums and, like so many others, experienced the pangs of hunger and cold.

What may have influenced Hitler more than anything else was the violent antisemitic propaganda of that era. Prof. Jenks (Washington and Lee University) examines in detail the anti-Jewish attitudes of government and press, as well as the internal political turmoil which preceded the eventual collapse of the Empire. Hitler was influenced by three political ideologies—Christian Socialism, the Pan-German movement, and the Marxist Social Democrat. From each of these Hitler adopted some ideas. As for Vienna's cultural status, Hitler saw in the same (and with some justification too), "symptoms of debility."

Alexander Niven

THE RIGHT TO LEARN, by Glenn McCracken. (Regnery, 228 pgs., $4.50.)

This is a report on an experiment in teaching reading to beginners, conducted by the author in New Castle (Pa.) schools. Its major feature is the use of film strips on a screen in front of the whole class. On the strips, which are prepared by the publishers of the textbooks used, are blow-ups of colored pictures and part of the printed material from the page being studied. The children call these movies, and all, apparently, learn to read from them rapidly and painlessly.

The rest of the method includes phonics and other tested techniques. Other chief variations from current practice are eliminations of "ability grouping" and "readiness" tests.

The greatest differences between the results of this method and of traditional ones are shown by the children with the lowest IQ's, but academically superior students also excelled their peers who were taught by other methods.

The innovation would appear to be less than startling but Mr. McCracken has guaranteed at least a 30 per cent improvement in the achievement of any first-grade class that uses it.

MONTESQUIEU AND ROUSSEAU, by Emile Durkheim. (University of Michigan Press, 155 pgs., $3.95.)

Durkheim, the French sociologist, was one of the most original and persuasive thinkers of the last century. His speculative power was such that researchers throughout the world today, in the narrower spirit of behavioral science now popular, are still tracking down his leads. Given this general significance, it is good to have in translation his careful analyses of two predecessors whom he credits as tutors to his age. David L. Norton

ARTHUR KROCK

Dim View of the Short Session

WASHINGTON.

IT ALREADY APPEARS LIKELY that little Peterkin's question to his grandfather whether any "good" came of Marlborough's victory at Blenheim can be pertinently repeated by the American people at the end of the curent bobtail session of Congress and get the same dusty answer.

Or perhaps some material of value will come from the bipartisan maneuvering and be minted into progress by the voters in November. But the indications so far, verifying the gloomy forecast when the session was suddenly decided on, are that the following will be the principal and largely political product:

Krock

1. The effort of the Republicans to give election-year emphasis to the deep Democratic split on new equal rights legislation, and their own contrasting unity, will be successful.

2. The effort of the Democrats to demonstrate that the President and the Republicans are exploiting the session for this emphasis and for other partisan purposes also will succeed.

3. The Republicans will prove that this Democratic Congress has been unable or unwilling to legislate mesaures, which all assert to be essential to the public welfare and which the President has urged, though it has had ample time to dispose of all these items.

President's 'Politicking.'

4. The Democrats will effectively argue that no Congress, Republican or Democratic, would sit long enough in a national campaign year to act on 21 legislative items in a message sent to the Capitol by the President on Aug. 8 of such a year.

5. They also will take to the voters the contention that the President was perfectly aware of this fact of political life when he sent the message, and therefore it was he who initiated the very "politicking" which he deplored in his news conference today as surely "not more important than the national interest."

6. And the record of both groups at this session will have been made and employed primarily to bolster the claims of each that its programs are better for the country and its platform pledges more certain of redemption.

In these endeavors the numerous and intricate parliamentary devices embodied in the Senate rules will be drawn on much more heavily than usual. Motions to table are among these devices. A simple majority can approve them (the Democrats have many more than that), and they are not debatable.

But majority leaders prefer not to use this steamroller unless, as on Senator Dirksen's bill to legislate two more equal rights provisions, they can convince those in the majority who favor the substantive proposal that bringing it before the Senate for action will obstruct the passage of kindred legislation aimed at much larger groups of voters.

Thus Majority Leader Johnson was able to get Senator Clark, one of the most fervent equal rights champions in the chamber, to make, and Senator Kennedy to support, the successful tabling motion on Dirksen's bill.

Votes to Beat Nixon.

But the Senate rules also allow members whose proposals have been tabled to renew them as amendments to measures which are scheduled by the leadership for action.

This procedure is subject to a point of order as "not germane," but that requires a ruling by the presiding officer. When floor action is sought on equal rights bills of larger scope than Dirksen's, offered by other Republicans as amendments, the presiding officer who can overrule a "not germane" contention is Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate for President.

The Democrats have the votes to reverse his rulings. But this would create a precedent which could embarrass the leadership if Democratic Senators invoked the amendment procedure.

Also, such a parliamentary chain of events would help to emphasize a Republican campaign charge that the Democrats forestalled additional equal rights legislation the Republicans were ready and eager to approve.

The reason, of course, is that consideration at this stage of the short session would invoke a Southern Democratic filibuster which the leadership could not break to take up the unfinished business from the House that Johnson called the Senate back to complete.

But the Republicans will cite this as another reason why their candidates should be elected.

What good can come of it at last? One. The Senate show isn't on television.

DR. ELIOT PORTRAIT TO GO ON DISPLAY

Painting of Washington U. Founder at Jefferson Memorial.

An oil portrait of the late William Greenleaf Eliot, a Unitarian minister and founder of Washington University and Mary Institute, will go on display tomorrow in the Missouri Historical Society's St. Louis gallery in Jefferson Memorial.

The three-quarter-length painting was presented to the society by two of the Rev. Dr. Eliot's granddaughters, Miss Abigail A. Eliot of Concord, Mass., and Dr. Martha May Eliot, a physician and head of the United States Children's Bureau in Washington.

Another gift from the Eliot sisters was a water color of their grandfather's first church, the First Unitarian Church of St. Louis. It will also go on exhibit tomorrow.

The portrait was described by James H. Williams, president of the historical society's board of trustees, as a "remarkably fine painting, revealing the highly intellectual, yet kindly, face of Eliot, soft eyes and gentle, but determined manner."

"The society had long sought a likeness of Dr. Eliot, who had such a profound influence on St. Louis, and feels very grateful that his New England descendants would want this one to be a permanent part of the city's heritage," Williams said.

The gifts, he continued, serve as illustrations of the William Greenleaf Eliot collection of letters, circulars and pamphlets in the society's archives.

The portrait, by an unidentified artist, shows the Rev. Dr. Eliot seated at a table and wearing black clerical or academic robes and white shirt and stock. It was adapted from a daguerreotype of the minister and educator made in 1854 when he was 43 years old. The donors inherited the picture from their father, the late Christopher Rhodes Eliot.

The painting of the church, built in 1839 at Fourth and Pine streets, was done by J. C. Wild in 1842 after the building had been remodeled. The church later became the Church of the Messiah The Rev. Dr Eliot resigned as pastor to become Washington University's first chancellor in 1871.

'BARBER OF SEVILLE' TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

Rossini's Comic Work Opens August Opera Festival at Washington U.

Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. today and tomorrow as the opening production of the second annual August Opera Festival in the Washington University Quadrangle.

Featured in the comic opera will be tenor Grant Williams as Count Almaviva, soprano Marjorie Gordon as Rosina and baritone Hugh Thompson as Figaro, the barber.

The opera will be sung in English with complete staging, costumes, settings and lighting effects. The Little Symphony Orchestra shell in the university quadrangle will be used as a stage for the production. Special entrance doors and platforms have been added to increase the stage area.

The story of "The Barber of Seville" concerns the romantic adventures of Count Almaviva and Rosina, ward of Dr. Bartolo. Bartolo plans to marry Rosina himself and enlists the aid of the music teacher, Don Basilio. However, Almaviva foils their plot with the help of Figaro.

Edward Murphy is conductor and musical director of the August Opera Festival. Stage director for the festival season is Thompson, who plays Figaro in the opening production. Stuart Murphy was the creator of settings and is costumes supervisor.

The festival also will include performances of Ravel's "The Spanish Hour" and Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" next Friday and Aug. 20 and "Don Giovanni" by Mozart on Aug. 26 and 27. All will be presented in English.

The proclamation cited the aid that the law gives families and individuals and noted that about 76,000 residents of St. Louis are now receiving over $5,000,000 monthly in federal old age, survivors and disability insurance payments.

OLD SCHOOL BUS TRAVELING HOTEL FOR BIG FAMILY

For the Jennings family of Owasso, Mich., traveling by bus creates the least fuss. There are nine children.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jennings and their children, ranging from 22 months to 14 years old, climbed into an old school bus last night and headed east after spending two days in Ballwin. They had been visiting Mrs. Jennings' family, the A. P. Kuhlmans of 420 Reis road.

Jennings, a funeral director, bought the bus last September. He and his family painted it a two-tone blue, installed drawers and cabinets for clothing, put in couches that convert into beds and made other changes calculated to increase the comfort.

They tested the traveling hotel on several weekend trips, then embarked on their summer vacation. Arriving here after five days on the road, the family expressed total satisfaction.

NEW YORKER TALKS HERE ON NUCLEAR WAR DANGER

A nuclear war is almost inevitable if the arms race continues to accelerate and spread, the Rev. Curtis Crawford, a Unitarian minister and teacher at New York University, said last night in Heman Park, University City.

The Rev. Mr. Crawford, director of a 10-state barnstorming disarmament caravan, asserted that the arms race cannot be stopped until the United States "is emphatically and unequivocally in favor of disarmament." He outlined steps this country could take which would not jeopardize military security but would demonstrate it "has finally become serious about negotiating effective disarmament."

After the Heman Park meeting, the Rev. Mr. Crawford started a session at Boyle avenue and Olive street. He said that shortly after the meting began i twas broken up by a policeman, who took him to the Ninth district station. He stated that the street meeting previously had been cleared by both police and city officials.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR WILLIAM F. HERKERT

Funeral services were held today for William F. Herkert, retired business executive, at Epiphany Catholic Church, 6598 Smiley avenue. Burial was in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mr. Herkert, who formerly lived at 6227 Northwood avenue, died Tuesday at Alexian Brothers Hospital of infirmities. He was 83 years old. For years he was a stockholder and officer of the Herkert & Meisel Trunk Co., which was organized by his father, Fred Herkert Sr., in 1888.

Before joining his father's company, Mr. Herkert worked as a reporter for the old St. Louis Chronicle. He sold his interest in the trunk firm many years ago and until recently was a director of the American Pulverizing Co. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Elsie H. Fraas, St. Louis, and Mrs. Tillie Prater, Atlanta, Ga. His wife died in July 1959.

URGES REMODELING IN DOWNTOWN AREA

Plan Director Says Existing Buildings Are Basic to Revitalizing City.

Remodeling of existing buildings in downtown St. Louis will serve as the foundation on which to build a revitalized downtown area, John M. Poland, executive director of the City Plan Commission, said yesterday.

City officials recognize the need for major redevelopment programs such as the proposed stadium, the Mansion House apartment project, and the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, but these alone are not enough to re-awaken business, shopper and tourist interest in the downtown area, he said.

Poland spoke at a combined luncheon meeting of the downtown Optimist, Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs at the Statler Hilton Hotel. Donald Gunn and William H. Harrison, members of the plan commission, also attended the meeting.

The downtown area has many large and attractive buildings erected within the last 50 years, which are at present the basic asset of the area. These must not be neglected because the plans for new construction have greater glamor, Poland said.

The present core of the downtown area is unusually small for the size of the city, but this compactness is an advantage, and not an obstacle to reviving business growth, he said.

With proper city planning, this concentrated area with its narrow streets can be capitalized on, for it means less walking for shoppers, easier movement of goods, and shorter distances to automobile parking areas on the downtown perimeter, Poland said.

ARTHUR LENGFELDER DIES; FORMER ST. LOUIS MUSICIAN

Arthur Lengfelder, a musician who formerly lived here, died Wednesday of a lingering illness in Las Vegas, Nev. He was 61 years old.

Mr. Lengfelder, who played the trumpet in the Municipal Opera orchestra and in various local theater orchestras, had been traveling recently with the Holiday Ice Show. He began his career with the James and June Orchestra in Belleville in 1923. He was a member of the St. Louis Musicians Union, Local 2.

Funeral services and burial were held today at Las Vegas. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Anita M. Lengfelder, a daughter, Mrs. William Blue of Houston, Tex., and two sisters, Mrs. Edwin P. Schmidt and Mrs. George E. Smith, both of Belleville.

MUSIAL AND BROGLIO SHARE HONORS IN CARDS' 3-2 VICTORY

Stan Smashes Homer In 12th With One On; Ernie Outhurls Friend

By Neal Russo
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12—Stan Musial and Ernie Broglio continue to prove that 1959 was all a bad dream. The Man has forgotten about his .255 fall-off, and Ernie hasn't let that 7-12 record and 4.75 earned-run average a year ago bother him.

"I kept telling everyone this spring that I was in good condition and ready for a comeback, but few believed it." Musial said last night. He spoke after his two-run homer in the twelfth broke up a brilliant duel between Broglio and the first-place Pirates' Bob Friend.

The Cardinals' 3-2 victory, Broglio's fourteenth against five losses, pushed the second-place Redbirds within four games of Pittsburgh and cracked the Bucs' seven-game winning streak.

Musial, who also doubled twice as the Cardinals won their fifth straight and their 13th in the last 15 games, credited his winter conditioning for his current batting surge.

"I'm in better shape than last year after working under Doc Eberhardt," The Man said. "Playing the outfield has made it easier. I played first base so long that I forgot how easy the outfield was. I've been getting a good jump on the ball, and my legs have been in good shape."

Musial, now up to .297, cited another factor in his climb.

"We have good team spirit," The Man said, "and I don't get so tired as long as we're in the race. It's easier to play now than when you're in sixth or seventh place."

As for his temporary declines at bat, Musial pointed out that at Busch Stadium he became overly-conscious of the short right-field fence after a week at home.

"The second week of the home stand, I tried to pull the ball too much," Musial said. "So when we got to Philadelphia, I made up my mind to just try to meet the ball. If the ball is inside, I figure I can still pull naturally."

Retires 20 Straight.

Broglio, perhaps the biggest pitching surprise in the National League this season, retired 20 straight batters from the fifth inning up to the twelfth.

"My fast ball and curve were working as good as ever," Ernie said. "I got my second wind about the seventh or eighth inning."

Dick Groat, whom Broglio before the game rated the toughest Pirate with men on, struck out four times.

"I got a slider up too high to Smoky Burgess," Broglio explained about the fifth-inning home run that looked so big until the Cardinals tied the score in the eighth on Walt Moryn's triple and Carl Sawatski's single.

Long after the game, watched by 34,212 fans stricken with pennant fever, Friend kept shaking his head as he sat on a stool in the Pirates' clubhouse.

Friend, who pitched a seven-hitter against Broglio's eight-hitter and issued the only walk of the game, said, "I can't pitch better than I did tonight. I thought I had as much stuff as I ever had, and threw as hard as I did any time this season."

The Pirate pitcher, who matched Broglio's nine strikeouts, had no apologies about Musial's homer, which followed Bill White's single.

"I pitched Musial exactly where I wanted to—a fast ball on the outside part of the plate," Friend said, "but he went into the ball."

So The Man drove the ball into the upper deck in right for his twelfth four-bagger this season and No. 424 for his career.

Not Much Backing.

Friend, now 12-9, has reason to be angry with his own teammates because they have scored a total of seven runs in eight of his nine losses. But Bob yelled defiance to the Cardinals instead.

'The Cardinals have to win every game here in the five-game series," Friend said. "Three out of five would not be enough. The pressure's definitely on the Cardinals."

Friend obviously had had a look at the New York odds released earlier in the day. The Pirates were listed as odds-on 9-5 favorites. Prices against the contenders were: Braves 4 to 1, Dodgers 5 to 1 and Cardinals 6 to 1. The optimistic Cardinals are sure the odds will be revised by Sunday night.

A one-hit shutout pitcher for seven innings, Friend retired 18 straight batters over one stretch. He said he tired in the late going when he hung several curves.

The hepped-up Pirates, who have a 9-4 record for extra-inning games, made their usual last-minute spurt, but this time it fell short. After Bill Virdon, a busy and sensational center fielder all night, started the twelfth with a single, Rocky Nelson scored him with a two-out double off the right-field screen. Dick Stuart then batted for Gino Cimoli and struck out.

Thus ended a Pirate comeback that seemed inspired by a circled clipping from a Pittsburgh paper on the clubhouse bulletin board. Manager Solly Hemus was quoted thusly before the series opener:

'We didn't come here only to fulfill a schedule commitment. We are in town to flatten the Pirates like a rug."

To the Victors Go the Smiles

Cardinal pitcher ERNIE BROGLIO and Redbird great, STAN MUSIAL, are all smiles when caught in the club's dressing room after a 12-inning victory over the leading Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2. Broglio pitched the entire game and Musial smashed a two-run homer in the twelfth to provide the winning margin.

Fillies, Mares in Features

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—It'll be Ladies Day on the American turf Saturday with equine stars of the distaff division racing for the two richest purses.

Eight or nine of the nation's top ranking older fillies and mares are expected to start in the $50,000 added Matron at Arlington Park. The eightieth running of the $50,000 added Alabama at Saratoga, America's oldest race for 3-year-old fillies, figures to attract at least a dozen.

The $25,000 added Philadelphia Turf Handicap at Atlantic City and the $15,000 added La Jolla Handicap at Del Mar are the other top feature events.

The matron, a test of 1⅛ miles, is headed by C. V. Whitney's Silver Spoon and William B. MacDonald's Royal Native, co-champions of the 3-year-old fillies in 1959. Each carries top weight of 128 pounds.

Hal Price Headley's Rash Statement, winner of the Delaware Oaks, shapes up as the probable favorite for the 1¼ miles of the Alabama. Friminaha from the Charfran Stable, a fast closing second in the shorter test stakes earlier in the meeting, also figures to have strong support along with Cain Hoy Stable's Make Sail, winner of the Kentucky Oaks. Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, winner of eight Alabamas, will saddle the Wheatley Stable's Warlike.

$923 Daily Double.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Aug. 12 (UPI)—Betty McBiery, a 24-1 shot, and Jean Woollen, also lightly supported at post time, scored their first victories this season to produce a $923.60 daily double at Freehold raceway yesterday.

Driven by owner Clinton Crook of Waverly, Va., Betty McBiery trotted to a $51.80 victory in the first race. Jean Woollen, guided by Les Poulsen, then scored her first triumph in 3 starts for a $19.60 mutuel.

Gibson to Face Witt In Tonight's Game

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12 — Bob (2-3) Gibson will pitch for the Cardinals tonight against the Pirates' George (1-0) Witt. Probable pairings for the rest of the series are: Saturday — Ray Sadecki vs. Harvey Haddix; Sunday—Curt Simmons and Larry Jackson vs. Vern Law and Vinegar Bend Mizell.

Starting time for Sunday's telecast on Channel 11 has been changed to 2:30 p.m., St. Louis daylight time. Saturday's game also will televised back to St. Louis.

Trouble-shooter Eddie Stanky, who has been scouting the Pirates, headed for Cincinnati to look over another contender, the Dodgers.

Stanky, asked if he was able to provide the Redbirds with any secrets on the Bucs, said, "I don't think I gave them anything they didn't have. Pittsburgh played like a championship club should. Mizell looked very good the two times I saw him pitch. Bill Virdon was great in center field."

The showdown series here drew writers from New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. . . . The Cardinals' 34-24 record at night is second only to the Pirates' 36-18. . . . George Crowe, kidding Bill White about his long smash over the scoreboard in Philadelphia Wednesday, said, "I've hit a lot of longer ones, scattered all over the league. White had better compare his little drive with little Curt Flood or some other ordinary home run hitter."

Because Cardinal pitchers have hit just five batters this season, publicity director Jim Toomey said he will ask the National League to award the Redbird staff the 'good conduct medal." The league record for fewest hit batsmen by one club is 10, by the 1948 Cardinals.

Bob Clemente is ready to play after being sidelined because of a chin injury. He was hurt when he crashed into a wall making a catch. The wound required five stitches.

The Cardinals have won their last eight road games . . . . Limping Hal Smith finished the game behind the plate, but Hemus said he hoped to give him a day off. Smitty has a four-stitch spike-wound in back of his right heel.

Larry Jackson, who started Wednesday's game, was warming up in the bullpen at game's end Thursday. . . . Pitcher Bob Grim is sidelined with a pulled leg muscle. The Cards pulled four double plays in the first five innings. —N.R.

In St. Louis, the Cardinals announced that their Busch Stadium ticket office would be open Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. because of series coming up with San Francisco and Los Angeles next week, Pittsburgh the following week.

Giles Warns Against Use Of 'Beanball'

CINCINNATI, Aug. 12 (AP) — The boiling beanball issue between the Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers has brought a stern warning from National League President Warren Giles.

He wrote the managers of both teams a letter before they started a series here last night, saying pitchers must be "doubly careful about their so-called tight pitches."

And he informally told Dodger Manager Walt Alston, and Reds boss Fred Hutchinson to be "on the alert and not talk so much."

The warning grew out of the last games between the teams two weeks ago in Los Angeles.

Last night's game was mostly calm and sedate. Dodger veteran Sandy Koufax shut out the Reds with a 2-hit, 13-strikeout performance, 3-0.

Hutch, asked if he would read Giles's letter to his players, said "No. Why should I? We haven't done anything."

Gabe Paul, Cincinnati general manager, blasted Dodger pitchers two weeks ago, saying Los Angeles had a "planned program" of bean ball throwing at Cincinnati players, and umpires had not cut it off.

His comments centered on slugger Vada Pinson. Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale, on his first pitch to Pinson July 27, hit him on the head. Although the batting helmet took most of the force, Pinson fell to the ground dazed. He continued in the game.

Red officials said it was because Pinson collided with Dodger Pitcher Roger Craig earlier this season and Craig was put out of action with a broken collar bone.

Pinson said later it was the third time he'd been hit this season, all by Dodger pitchers—Drysdale, Stan Williams and Larry Sherry.

Bye Bye Byrd In Pace Race At Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 12 (UPI) — Horsemen have drawn for post positions for Saturday's opening program of State Fair harness racing.

A total of 66 horses were declared in three races Thursday. Each event will be divided into two divisions with each division racing two heats with the winners coming back for the race-off.

World champion pacer Bye Bye Byrd heads the list of 24 horses entered in the Illinois State Fair colt stake for aged pacers.

The horses will race in two 12-horse divisions. There were 24 entries in the stake for aged trotters and a like total for the race for two-year-old fillies. Each field was divided into one 11-horse field and one of 10 starters.

The aged pacing stake will carry a purse of $11,000 and there is $10,775 at stake for the aged trotters. The two-year-old fillies will compete for $13,525.

Bye Bye Byrd, five-year-old son of Poplar Byrd, already has 14 miles of 2 minutes or better.

Illinois Dove Limit to Be 12

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP)—Illinois dove hunters will be allowed two more than the usual 10 birds daily during the season from Sept. 1 to Nov. 9.

State game authorities said Thursday that the mourning doves have suffered losses from parasitic worms since the early 1950s, but are having better nesting success now.

The new bag limit of 12 is also the possession limit the first day of the season. The possession limit after that is 24. Shooting is permitted from noon to sunset daily.

Miss Rose 1 Up Over Miss Phillips in Final

Marcella Rose of Crystal Lake held a 1 up advantage over Doris Phillips of St. Clair today after the morning round of 18 holes in the 36-hole Women's District golf final at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Miss Rose, 1 down after nine and two holes behind after 10, rallied to overtake Miss Phillips by winning Nos. 15, 16 and 18. Miss Phillips three-putted from 45 feet on No. 18 for a bogey 5 while Miss Rose posted a par.

For the morning round, Miss Rose had a three-over-par 40 in approximate medal for the first nine and Miss Phillips had a 39. For the first 18 holes, Miss Rose was still three-over-par at 77 and Miss Phillips had a total of 78.

Miss Phillips eliminated Barbara Beuckman, 2-1, in yesterday's semifinals, while Miss Rose won from Mrs. Joel Loveridge, 4 and 3.

The 21-year-old Miss Rose, changed from a flat swing to an upright swing three weeks ago. The switch paid off enough to gain her a place in the title match. It is the first time she reached the final.

The Crystal Lake golfer begins private practice at 6 a.m. and then plays 36 holes as a daily routine.

Seven of the 15 holes played were halved. Miss Rose won the first with a par four and Mrs. Loveridge came back to win the second when her opponent three-putted for a seven. A par five on No. 6 put Marcella 1 up going to No. 10. Miss Rose won Nos. 10, 11, and 12 with par golf before Mrs. Loveridge rallied briefly to win No. 13 with a par 3. Miss Rose took No. 14 with a par 4. The match ended on No. 15 with each player getting a five.

Miss Phillips, who eliminated the defending champion, Mrs. George K. Conant Jr. of St. Louis C.C., in Wednesday's quarter-finals, won the first three holes. Doris, three-time holder of the Southern Illinois women's title, dropped No. 6 to Miss Beuckman after the two players halved Nos. 4 and 5. Miss Phillips won No. 7 and had a three-hole lead end of the front nine.

Barbara took two of the first three holes on the last nine, Nos. 10 and 12. The eleventh was halved. The next three holes were halved and Miss Phillips won No. 16 with a birdie four after making a fine approach. The match ended on No. 17 with both players getting par threes.

Kemp Proves Star As Chargers Win From Houston Eleven

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (AP)—Jack Kemp, a quarterback who never got much of anywhere in the NFL, picked up plenty of ground last night as the Los Angeles Chargers defeated the Houston Oilers, 22-13.

The American Football League exhibition drew 11,491 fans.

Although his passes didn't figure directly in the scoring, Kemp completed 19 of 26 throws for 261 yards. He also executed several fine runs. He also made two erratic throws and Houston turned both into touchdowns.

Bob Reifsnyder, the former navy star, booted three field goals for the Chargers, one for 42 yards.

Jim (Jetstream) Smith took a pitchout from Kemp and went 30 yards for the first Los Angeles touchdown in the opening period. The Chargers got another touchdown in the fourth on a one-yard plunge by Howie Ferguson.

The Chargers were not troubled much by Billy Cannon, the Louisiana State All-America, who once signed a contract with the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL, then signed with Houston. Cannon gained 26 yards in five carries and had a pass intercepted.

Houston, trailing 16-0 after three periods, scored after a pass interception by Julian Spence. George Blanda subsequently passed 10 yards to Bobb Marks for the score. Jack Lee passed five yards to John Carson for the final Houston score after another interception.

Level Dell Scores In New Jersey Race

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 12 (UPI)—Level Dell excited many of the 17,469 racing fans at Atlantic City yesterday when he came from last place to win the $4200 Dennis Purse going away.

Tom Barrow, aboard Level Dell, had good control of his mount throughout, guiding him from fifth position at the quarter-mark of the seven-furlong distance to a challenging second behind Adapt at the stretch.

Adapt was no match for his oncoming rival, and Level Dell stormed home by four lengths in front of Red Cent, with Burnt Clover in third and Adapt falling back to fourth.

Crow Key Rusher at Dallas

By Robert Morrison

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 12—It is likely to be King Hill against Don Heinrich or Eddie Lebaron, John Crow against Don McIlhenny and Pop Ivy against Tom Landry at Alamo stadium, San Antonio, tomorrow night.

This will be the kickoff for the football Cardinals in the pre-season-game phase of their first year as a St. Louis entry in the National Football League.

The opponent for the Big Red, which has transferred its allegiance and even affection from its old Chicago home, will be the league's brand new franchise represented by the Dallas Cowboys.

Coached by Landry, who in recent years had been the defensive genius behind Jim Lee Howell and the New York Giants, the Dallas team surprised in its first exhibition game by yielding just grudgingly to the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 16-10.

Strong in Experience.

Allowed to pick its players from a group of 12 men on each of the other N.F.L. clubs, Dallas apparently chose wisely. "Experience is their strong point," said Coach Ivy as his squad left camp for San Antonio this morning.

Possibly because of that experience Pop decided against his idea of starting one rookie—Tom Day at offensive guard—and listed instead at that position Mike Rabold, obtained from the Lions in a recent deal.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see pretty much of LeBaron," Ivy continued. The little quarterback who led league passers in 1958 and played seven years for the Washington Redskins, completed seven of 11 passes for 121 yards last week against San Francisco.

Hill, going into his third season, will be the Cards' quarterback starter and his coach is expecting him to demonstrate that experience was his main short-coming in previous seasons.

Hill will direct the Ivy offense that features one of the league's finest ball carriers, John David Crow, as its top weapon.

Tenth in Rushing.

Crow was tenth in the league in rushing last season and combines speed with power. For Dallas the stand-out ball-carrier last week was halfback McIlhenny, the ex-S.M.U. and Green Bay Packer star who carried 15 times for 101 yards and a 6.7 average.

This will be a preliminary peek at two teams that will meet during the regular season at St. Louis—Oct. 23 at Busch Stadium. St. Louis will first see the Cards, however, in the Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game Sept. 9 on the same field.

All-Stars Plan Passes Against Favored Colts

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—The College All-Stars tonight will try to make a daring, gambling game pay off against the Baltimore Colts, National Football League champions.

The 27th midsummer classic is expected to draw upwards of 70,000 customers to Soldier Field. It will be televised and broadcast starting at 9 o'clock (St. Louis time), and is to be carried by KTVI, Channel 2.

Facing a defense hinged by the likes of 288-pound Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb and 270-pound Art Donovan, Coach Otto Graham's squad of 47 college graduates undoubtedly will be thinking of an air offensive rather than a ground attack.

Quarterbacks Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, George Izo of Notre Dame and Pete Hall of Marquette may spray the atmosphere with more passes than ever before in the series.

69 Passes Last Year.

There even could be more aerial action than in last year's 29-0 Colt triumph in which the Collegians tried 41 tosses, completed 15 for 186 yards, and Baltimore catapulted 28 for 14 hits and 211 yards.

Despite the potential passing power of the All-Stars and a group of fine receivers, oddsmakers have installed Baltimore about a 20-point favorite. Gail Cogdill of Washington State and Carroll Dale of Virginia Tech are regarded as two of the best pass-catching ends ever to make an All-Star roster.

But the All Stars must protect their passers from the huge Baltimore chargers if they hope to crank up an air barrage.

Flipping passes for the Colts will be the master, John Unitas, now tabbed as completely recovered from cellulitis, an infection that earlier this week spread from his nose to glands below his eyes and up to his forehead.

Unitas had a brief throwing drill last night as the Colts worked out for a short time under the lights in Soldier Field.

"I feel fine," he said. "I responded to treatments right away."

Some observers expect Ray Brown to see more action than Unitas, especially if Baltimore erupts for a substantial lead by halftime. The former Mississippi quarterback has been trained to fill in for Unitas as well as holding down the job as right safety in the defensive backfield.

'Cannot Afford to Lose.'

Baltimore coach, Weeb Ewbank, an assistant to Paul Brown during Graham's years of glory with the Cleveland Browns, says that his Colts cannot afford to lose to the All-Stars.

"A defeat would embarrass the NFL and also might hurt the morale of our squad at a time we are aiming for our third straight championship," he said. "The boys are right at the mental peak I want them to be. We came to play, and to win."

Since Ewbank thus discards overconfidence, experts see little standing in the way of another impressive Colt victory.

Graham describes his group as "probably the most quiet bunch of kids I've been around."

"I've seen other quiet groups explode when a game comes up," he added. "I hope this is that type. We could upset the Colts, or be defeated 50-0."

Graham's 1958 squad ripped the Detroit Lions 35-19 for the biggest All-Star scoring rampage in the series history. The pro champions have won 16 games with the All-Stars taking 8. Two games has been tied.

Longden, Unseated At Gate, Wins Race

DEL MAR, Calif., Aug. 12 (UPI)—Jockey Johnny Longden gave one of his most courageous riding performances yesterday when he rode Shot Gun to victory in the Del Mar feature after being unseated in the gate.

Longden had to be helped from the saddle after the race was over. He suffered a painfully bruised hip.

Longden was credited with his 544th victory for the ride aboard Shot Gun, in which he led from wire to wire in the six-furlong race.

Longden said another horse, Sespe, reared and fell over backwards, kicking him in the adjoining gate. He dropped off Shot Gun when he felt pain in his hip but felt well enough to ride the race.

Longden twice suffered broken leg bones in accidents here in 1957 and 1958.

Kay's Way Didn't Go That-a-Way!

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 12 (AP)—The mystery of why Kay's Way didn't show up at Northfield Park, where the horse was entered in trotting events this week, has been solved.

Seems that Kay's Way has been resting peacefully in Norwalk since Tuesday.

Robert E. Thompson, 51, of Lizton, Ind., driver of the van in which Kay's Way was being hauled, was picked up Tuesday on the Ohio Turnpike and was charged with driving while intoxicated.

The Turnpike Patrol said they stopped Thompson after seeing his vehicle weaving on the Turnpike near Elyria. Thompson pleaded innocent in municipal court here, and a trial was set for the middle of next month. His bond was set at $500.

McCoy's wrecker took the van and the horse to Norwalk.

Kay's Way, owned by Herman Highley of Atlanta, Ind., left Detroit Sunday for Northfield Park, south of Cleveland. The track said neither horse nor owner showed up.

Canada Widens Margin

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 (UPI) — A misplaced golf club today cost the United States the lead in the third rounr of the fifth Americas Cup golf tournament.

The club, a wedge belonging to Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, Okla., turned up in Deane Beman's bag after he and amateur champion Jack Nicklaus had played five holes in their scotch sixsome match against Canadian and Mexican opponents.

Beman, 22, of Silver Springs, Md., and Nicklaus, 20, of Columbus, O., were penalized the five holes for having 15 clubs in Beman's bag. It lost them matches to Canada's John Johnston and Ron Willey, both of Vancouver, 1-up, and Rafael Quiroz and Mauricio Urdaneta of Mexico, 4 and 3.

Without the penalty, the Americans, shooting for a fifth straight cup victory, would have taken both matches, 3 and 1, and the lead in the tourney.

The surprising Canadians managed a point in all three sixsome matches to widen their lead over the favored U.S. to a full point. The host team, which held a half point margin after yesterday's play, had 14 points to the Americans' 13 entering the final six singles matches.

Mexico, which took 3-½ of a possible six points in the sixsomes, remained in third place with a total of nine points.

Despite the second straight whitewash for their key Beman-Nicklaus team, the U.S. contingent managed 2-½ of a possible four points in the other sixsomes over the lush, 6740-yard Hunt Club course to stay on Canada's tail.

Byll Hyndman, United States playing-captain from Huntingdon Valley, Pa., and Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor Jr., of Pomona, Calif., beat Canada's Phil Brownlee and Gary Cowan and drew with 17-year-old Hector Alvarez and Juan Estrada of Mexico. Cowan and Brownlee edged the Mexicans, 1-up.

Each nation came out of the third sixsome with one point. It matched Coe and Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., against Canada's Keith Alexander and Bob Wylie, both of Calgary, and Mexico's Robert Halpern and Thomas Lehmann.

'Return of Platoon System Would Help Football'—Kuharich

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (UPI)—Joe Kuharich, Notre Dame football coach, thinks a return to the platoon system with unlimited substitution in college football would be in the best interests of the game and the players, and was in fact "inevitable."

The rules committee has "given a little each year," the Irish mentor said yesterday. Under the present setup the game is limited to boys "who have talent in one phase of football or another," he said.

Kuharich pointed out that free substitution has to come to the college game because they now have it in high school, all-star, and professional football.

Consequently, he said, "college boys have to learn a whole new phase of football, and they haven't time to learn it because they're only able to play for three years."

When we ask boys to do things like this we "curtail them from doing their best," he said.

"With free substitution," he said, "we'd have a more effective offensive and defensive football team. I can't say that we'd do any better in games won and lost, but we'd give a better brand of football every Saturday afternoon," Kuharich said.

U.S. Girls Triumph

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 (AP) — Peaches Bartkowicz, an 11-year-old player from Hamtramck, Mich., won two titles yesterday in the Canadian junior tennis championships.

The tiny blonde took the juvenile girls' singles and teamed up with Nancy Hoehn, 10, of Hanover, N. H., for the juvenile girls' doubles. Peaches gained a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Evan Symonds, 10, of Providence, R. I. in singles. She and Nancy trimmed Evan and her partner, Terry Coon, 13, of Winchester, Mass., 6-2, 6-1 for the doubles crown.

Nicholson Homers With Two On as Orioles Win

Richards' Team Wins Sixth Straight Game

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (UPI) — Pennant push? Paul Richards says "it could be."

What else can you possibly call it when his charged-up Baltimore Orioles win six in a row, climb within a game of first place and puncture the myth that they can't hit their way out of a paper bag?

Even the hard-to-impress Richards is blinking at the Orioles' total of 14 homers in the past five days. They teed off for four home runs against the Detroit Tigers at Detroit yesterday in a 6-1 victory that was their eleventh in the last 12 games.

Rookie Ron Hansen hit his thirteenth homer in the second inning, Walt Dropo connected with the bases empty in the third and rookie Dave Nicholson, St. Louis bonus player, belted a three-run homer in the same frame. It was Nicholson's fifth circuit clout. Those three were at the expense of loser Don Mossi.

No. 16 for Gentile.

Then with Hank Aguirre pitching for Detroit in the eighth, rookie Jim Gentile, who had replaced Dropo at first base, slammed his sixteenth homer. Jack Fisher limited the Tigers to seven hits in bringing his record to 8-9. The defeat was Detroit's fourth straight and sixth in seven games since Joe Gordon took over last Friday night.

The Red Sox beat the Indians, 5-2, and the Senators edged the Athletics, 5-4, in other A.L. games. The first-place Yankees and third-place White Sox were idle.

In the National League, Stan (The Man) Musial's two-run homer in the twelfth inning gave the Cardinals a 3-2 victory over the first-place Pirates; Sandy Koufax struck out 13 batters in leading the Dodgers to a 3-0 win over the Reds, and the Giants beat the Braves, 8-7, in the only other scheduled game.

Rip Repulski and Don Buddin each drove in two runs in Boston's victory over Cleveland. Tribe manager Jimmy Dykes, who is having no better luck than Gordon at Detroit, watched the Indians lose their fifth game in the last six starts. The Red Sox pounded loser Jack Harshman and Don Newcombe for 10 hits, including a homer by Repulski. Jim Piersall hit his fourteenth homer off Ike Delock.

Killebrew On Beam.

Harmon Killebrew accounted for all five Washington runs against Kansas City. He drove in four runs with his sixteenth and seventeenth homers off loser Ray Herbert and scored a fifth after singling in the third inning. Tex Clevenger went seven and one-third innings and won his fourth game against seven defeats.

Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers limited the Reds to two hits in winning his fifth game. Rookie Jim Maloney lost his third game in a row even though striking out eight. The first of his six walks led to one Dodger run and two errors paved the way for the second Dodger marker. Charlie Neal collected three of the seven hits off Maloney.

St. Louisans Beaten in Tennis Play

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J., Aug. 12 (AP)—St. Louis's girls doubles team of Justina Bricka and Carol Hanks was defeated in the quarterfinals of the Eastern grass court tennis championships, yesterday. The St. Louisans fell before Barbara Browning of Burbank, Calif. and Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

Davis Cup hopeful Donald Dell conquered third-seeded Australian Bob Mark yesterday.

With Mark ousted, only two world-touring Aussies remained — top-seeded Rod Laver, the Australian champion and Wimbledon runnerup, and fifth-seeded Bob Hewitt.

Dell, a recent Yale graduate from Bethesda, Md., jolted the racket-slamming Mark, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4. But red-haired Laver routed Rudy Hernando, Detroit, 6-2, 6-3 and Hewitt eliminated Bob Siska, San Francisco, 6-3, 6-3.

The semi-retired Richardson rallied past Iyo Pimental, Venezuela, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 and the second-seeded Holmberg outbattled Allen Fox, Los Angeles, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Reed, fifth-seeded, used his unorthodox strokes to reverse his National Collegiate final with Larry Nagler, North Hollywood, Calif., 10-12, 7-5, 6-4. Franks stopped Miguel Olvera, Ecuador, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 and Green ousted U.S. Junior Champion Billy Lenoir, Tucson, 6-2, 6-2.

In women's play, 17-year-old Karen Hantze, San Diego, advanced to the semi-finals along with two U.S. 16-year-olds Nancy Richey and Billie Jean Moffitt, and Deidre Catt of Britain.

Miss Hantze jolted British Wightman Cupper Ann Haydon, the top-seeded foreign entrant, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. Miss Richey, San Angelo, Tex., stopped Vicki Palmer, Phoenix, 6-4, 6-3, and Miss Moffitt, Long Beach, Calif., routed ninth-ranked Mimi Arnold, Redwood City, Calif., 6-1, 6-3. Miss Catt struggled past Carole Caldwell, Santa Monica, Calif., 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 to set up her semi-final duel today with Miss Richey. Miss Hantze plays Miss Moffitt tomorrow.

Double at Fairmount Pays $340

Harrel Bolin, Belloin Pulido, John Hanley and Hector Sanabria, Fairmount veterans, booted home long shots in last night's races at Fairmount Park.

Bolin, who has ridden in Chicago, as well as at eastern and Florida tracks, won the first race with Carthage Girl, which paid $58.40, $15.20 and $11. Monroe's Pride was second.

Carthage Girl and Susie J. ($6.80) formed a $340.80 daily double.

Pulido, the Panamanian jockey, was aboard Marcy Anne ($26), victor in the fourth. Hanley's mount, Waco Girl, captured the sixth, returning $33.60. Hector Sanabria booted Vinita Moss across the finish line first in the seventh at $16.80 for $2.

Pulido also won with Sofie-By-By in the ninth. His 17 firsts put him only three behind Ray Landing in the battle for jockey honors.

Calvin Stone, riding for trainer C. B. Simmons, won with Associate and Peggy's Brandy.

A turnout of 3644 bet $190,848.

Trainer Jim Eckrosh, with Bill Buffa and H. E. Hart, claimed My True Love, winner of the fifth race, for $2000, from Angelo Cilio.

visit there this week," wrote Lanier, referring to Gen. Wm. Tell Hefley, then in charge of air materiel at Sacramento. "I am enclosing a list of the ones that would be helpful to me in the future, if you would be so kind as to get them for me.

"Honestly Joe, I know we have been close friends for many years and had many things in common, but I feel I am imposing on our friendship. However, I would do the same for you. All my friends have been wonderful to me since I retired. In my position, one appreciates that kind of friends."

THERE WAS NOTHING illegal about what Lanier was doing and no penalty for doing it. That's what the Hebert bill proposed to remedy. Furthermore, Lanier's colleagues were also getting out of the service to work for big companies with government contracts. Col. Barron, to whom he wrote, is now working for Westinghouse Electric, which manufactures turbines and atomic engines for submarines and naval vessels. Gen. Rawlings is now working for General Mills, which makes the big balloons for outer-space tests.

Asked about his lobbying work on Air Force contracts, Lanier was quite frank.

"When Hardwick first started getting contracts," he said, "he was operating in an old shed. I had to tell the FCR officer, 'Give us two weeks and we'll have all that fixed up.' Hardwick got the contract."

Lanier referred to the FCR or "facility capability report," an Air Force requirement that a contractor must have facilities sufficient to execute a contract. This is where retired officers really earn their pay. For even if a contractor is the low bidder, he doesn't necessarily get the job. He has to pass the FCR.

THE FCR REQUIREMENT permits the Air Force to eliminate bidders who are out of favor. The report is made by a survey team and is supposed to tell whether the proposed contractor can successfully complete the job on schedule. However, if you have the right retired officer working for you, things happen.

"It is true that you fixed up the FCR's for Hardwick on all sorts of contracts?" Lanier was asked.

"I sure did," was his frank reply. "I took him out of the junk business and put him in a position where he was making $180,000 a year."

During the time Lanier worked for Hardwick Aircraft, that company never had a bad report on an FCR that was not corrected with the higher-ups after Lanier went to work on them.

After he quit working for Hardwick, however, the firm immediately fell from favor. At the time Lanier departed, Hardwick was bidding on a large yearly contract to overhaul C-47 aircraft control surfaces. But the minute Lanier left the company, it lost out. A company with no shop, only two employes at the time of bidding (the organizer and his wife), and a Dun and Bradstreet rating of only $900 got the $150,000 contract instead.

Its chief competitor, Hardwick, had made the mistake of dropping a retired officer with friends.

PUBLISHER F. B. NICHOLS DIES

BATH, Me., Aug. 12 (AP)—Frank B. Nichols, publisher of the Bath Daily Times, died at his home early today after an illness of three weeks. He was 92 years old.

Mr. Nichols was a charter member of the Associated Press. He spent nearly 70 years in the newspaper business — most of them as owner and publisher of the Times. He also owned two weeklies, the Bath Independent and the Brunswick Record.

Balloon Satellite Is First Step To New Era in Communications

HOLMDEL, N.J., Aug. 12 (AP)—A shiny mirror hung in the sky today marks the first step toward providing swift, sure new telephone, news, and TV channels.

The sky mirror is a giant balloon shot into orbit this morning.

Radio signals shot up from earth can, it is hoped, be bounced back clearly and surely to other parts of the earth.

This and later tests ultimately promise a system of satellites through which:

You may dial an operator in Chicago, give a number, and quickly be talking with a business contact or relative visiting in Japan, Africa or the U.S.S.R.

Live, as-it-happens TV, of Olympic games, for instance, could be transmitted across oceans, and to all parts of the world.

News dispatches and pictures could also zoom via satellites to your home newspaper.

On lonely Crawford Hill in New Jersey, scientists of Bell Telephone laboratories are making some of the first tests with a huge antenna and special radio receiver.

Cables Expensive.

Trans-Atlantic cables can carry your voice or messages, of course, but cables are expensive, and are getting crowded. And they can't carry TV signals economically—they use many channels at a time.

Ordinary radio communication is subject to fadeouts and blackouts.

Hence the goal of using satellites. Narrow radio signals can pierce through the ionosphere, and be reflected back without interference.

Scientists already have chatted with one another using the moon.

This first balloon is "visible" simultaneously to straight-line radio waves shooting up from Holmdel and from Goldstone, Calif., for only 12 to 15 minutes on each pass around the earth, and then not on all of its passes.

But if the tests succeed, then 12 or more balloons could be put in different orbits, so one would always be available for messages and conversations across oceans and between distant points.

Higher Satellites Planned.

Later, plans call for putting special satellites at heights of 22,500 miles above the earth. Each would wheel around the earth at such speed as to appear to be hanging motionless over the same spot on the turning earth beneath.

With three or four of them, TV signals or telephone calls could be relayed instantly from one part of the earth to another. Unlike the empty balloons, these high satellites would contain equipment to receive, amplify and rebroadcast the signal to another satellite, or down to earth.

The moon is in line of sight only half the day. And it cannot be used to transmit TV, for the moon's rough surface hashes up the signal, explains William C. Jakes, project engineer here.

Bell laboratories largely has paid out of its own pocket for the special and expensive equipment here, with some aid from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which is directing the satellite studies.

would be covered at the end of the first phase of the Western plan. The Soviet Union objected to leaving to a later stage those areas in the southern hemisphere where the United States and Britain have conducted nuclear tests in the past, he said.

The Soviet Union accepted the Western provision for 11 control posts in the continental United States and one in the British Isles. Under both the Soviet and Western timetables all the 30-man posts in the three countries would be operating by the end of the first stage.

James J. Wadsworth, the United States delegate, regretted that the Soviet Union proposed only 15 control posts in their territory and the Soviet show of suspicion on the possibility of tests in the Western Pacific. However, the differences between the two plans appeared to be negotiable, Western sources reported.

concede that he may be outpointed by Nixon in debate, but that his personality and intellectual qualities will not only answer the charge of "immaturity" but prove more popular with the voters in the end.

NEVERTHELESS, the risks for both men in these debates are obvious. No matter how well they plan in advance, they cannot anticipate each other in the debate nor can they anticipate the questions of the reporters. A single flash of anger or discourtesy, even a look of uncertainty can in this situation be as fatal as a glass jaw in a prize fight.

Thus, the element of accident will be great, but we will know a lot more about both candidates when it is over, and that is more than can be said about many of the ghost-written and stage-managed campaigns of the past.

KINLOCH ORDERS STRICTER HOUSING CODE ENFORCEMENT

Stricter enforcement of Kinloch's minimum housing code will begin soon, Edward T. Wright, the city's attorney, said today. More rigid enforcement is necessary to comply with requirements of the Federal Housing Administration and the Urban Renewal program, he said.

The code, which is similar to the one in force in St. Louis county, has been in effect since November 1957, he noted, but the city adopted a gradual enforcement policy because of the difficulty of many home owners to comply. Enforcement will be especially strict in urban renewal areas where sanitary sewers have been installed, he added.

Under the minimum housing code, the city can condemn any dwelling which is unfit for human habitation as defined by the code. Buildings condemned must be vacated, he said, until brought up to standard. Violators of the code are subject to a fine of up to $100 and a jail sentence of not more than 90 days.

ETHIOPIAN TRAIN ROBBERY

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Aug. 12 (AP)—Robbers wrecked the Djibouti-Addis Ababa express yesterday, killing three passengers and injuring eight.

Huge boulders placed on the track derailed the train. The robbers shot any passenger who showed resistance, took money and baggage, then fled into the desert.

BARBITURATE FOUND IN BLOOD OF LONG-SLEEPING GIRLS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12 (AP)—Blood tests have shown traces of a sleep-inducing drug in the veins of two little Cleveland girls, hospital authorities said today.

Bernadette Fratantonio, 3 years old, began dropping off into mysterious sleeping periods last fall. Last month her sister, 5-year-old Venita, joined her in Mount Sinai hospital for observation. Doctors reported they were puzzled by what caused the spells.

A hospital spokesman said blood samples were taken from both girls, starting with Bernadette on Aug. 6. The coroner's laboratory reported that traces of some form of barbiturates were found.

Wednesday morning both girls were placed in isolation and will remain there until the police rule otherwise, the spokesman said.

TWO DIE IN BREWERY VAT

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—The bodies of two workers were found last night in a beer vat at the Jacob Ruppert brewery.

Police said they believed one man was cleaning the 15-foot-high vat while a companion watched to make sure he did not become giddy from the dense carbon dioxide fumes. Apparently the first man became dizzy and second man died trying to rescue him. A fireman wearing a gas mask brought out the bodies of Joseph Peltzer and Hugo Amann.

U.S. JUDGE RULES ALABAMA MUST OPEN VOTE LISTS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 12 (UPI)—Defiant Alabama officials were ordered yesterday by a federal judge to open voter registration records of the state's 67 counties to the Civil Rights Commission within 15 days.

United States District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., who ordered desegregation of Montgomery busses four years ago, quashed an Alabama injunction preventing federal agents from inspecting the records.

Judge Johnson's ruling also upheld the 1960 Civil Rights Act, which had been under attack by state officials.

The Montgomery county board of registrars had been requested to open vote records for inspection by agents of Attorney General William P. Rogers.

Injunction Obtained.

Officials obtained an injunction in Montgomery county circuit court preventing Civil Rights Commission members from inspecting the records.

"The legislative history of the 1960 Civil Rights Act leaves no doubt that it is designed to secure a more effective protection of the right to vote," Judge Johnson said in making the ruling.

Alabama was the first state to attack the Civil Rights Act as unconstitutional. The measure passed Congress after one of the longest filibusters in history.

Officials in Louisiana also have refused to grant access to voting records in that state.

Judge Johnson dismissed a plea by Alabama that the question of constitutionality be heard by a three-man federal panel.

"The claim . . . is without merit," he declared. "The mere fact that the constitutionality of an act of Congress is presented does not make the case a proper one for a three-judge court, for the jurisdiction of such a court is limited."

Cites Fifteenth Amendment.

He said the 1960 Civil Rights Act was passed by Congress on "the authority delegated to the Federal Government by the Fifteenth Amendment" to protect qualified voters.

The Department of Justice announced in Washington yesterday it intends to inspect voting records in Georgia, Florida and Mississippi. The department said it was acting on complaints that Negroes were being denied voting privileges in certain deep South counties.

In another ruling yesterday, Judge Johnson refused a plea by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to have its contempt of court suit transferred from a state court to federal court. The N.A.A.C.P. has been attempting to get a charter to operate in Alabama.

Discrimination Complaints Filed in Mississippi.

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Aug. 12 (UPI)—Complaints of discrimination against Negro voters in Mississippi were lodged prior to yesterday's announcement by the Justice Department that it wants to inspect voter records.

Negro vote applicants in Forrest county complained earlier to a congressional committee that they were asked such questions as: "How many bubbles in a bar of soap?"

Voter registration tests in Mississippi are issued by circuit clerks. J. C. Lynd, circuit court clerk, was out of town and not available for comment.

SIX MORE RECORD FIRMS AGREE TO FTC PAYOLA BAR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UPI) — Six more record companies have signed orders agreeing not to make under-the-table pay-offs to disk jockeys and other television and radio station employes to broadcast records, the Federal Trade Commission announced today.

This brings to 63 the number of record makers and distributors that have signed consent orders after being accused by the commission of giving payola. The FTC has filed payola complaints against 102 record companies.

The latest firms to sign consent orders were: Am-Par Record Corp., Hull Records, Inc., and Portem Distributing, Inc., all of New York; Garmisa Distributing Co., Inc., Chicago; Nashboro Record Co., North Nashville, Tenn., and Specialty Records, Inc., Hollywood, Calif.

INDONESIA SENDS 600 MEN TO U.N. FORCE IN THE CONGO

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—The United Nations accepted a 600-man army battalion and a medical unit from Indonesia yesterday for The Congo force. Indonesia is the first Asian country to contribute to the force.

The U.N. also announced the first casualties in its Congo force. It said one Tunisian soldier was shot dead and another drowned in Kasai province, the scene of inter-tribal warfare between the Luluas and the Balubas.

The drowned man was trying to swim away from attackers, the U.N. said, but the attackers were not identified. Four Tunisian soldiers were wounded in a clash.

Union Head Quotes Khrushchev On Estimate of Kennedy, Nixon

© New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—American labor leader Joseph Curran, reporting yesterday on a recent meeting with Nikita S. Khrushchev, quoted the Soviet Premier as saying that Senator John F. Kennedy "seemed to make sense."

However, Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, said the Soviet leader had only "disparaging remarks to make about Kennedy's Republican opponent for the presidency, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"He called Nixon a 'fumbler' and said he was 'not a politician but a grocery clerk,'" Curran said.

The labor leader made his observations in telling of a 17-day visit to the Soviet Union by a four-man union delegation. The trip was in opposition to official policy of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, which refuses to deal with the Russian labor movement on the ground that it is a creature of the Soviet government.

In a report prepared for the NMU membership, Curran said of the meeting with Khrushchev on July 13:

"He (the Soviet Premier) said: 'If the United States elects a sensible President will we lose? It won't be profitable for us.' He didn't elaborate on this but later in the discussion he remarked that Kennedy seemed to make sense and had some disparaging remarks to make about Nixon."

Curran said Khrushchev welcomed the union delegation to his office by asking: "So how do the slaves of Communism live? Can they live under these conditions? Will they overthrow our government soon?"

The report then continued: "When we answered that we had seen no signs of it, he exploded jovially: 'Tell that to Nixon.'"

SLOW VOTE COUNT HERE, ELSEWHERE DELAYS CANVASS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 12—The state-wide canvass of ballots cast in the Aug. 2 Missouri primary election will be held up until Monday, Secretary of State Robert W. Crawford said today, because of counting delays in St. Louis and other areas.

In former years the law contained no specific date for the final official count to be made. The state canvass began whenever all official local reports had been filed from the 114 counties and the city of St. Louis.

The last legislature passed an act requiring canvassers to begin the local county count on the Friday after the election, as before, but required the county clerk within five days to send to the Secretary of State a complete return of the canvass of votes. The old law did not fix such a time limit.

Officials canvass returns have not been received from the city of St. Louis, St. Louis county and Jackson county including Kansas City.

SENTENCED DRIVER RELEASED ON WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Melvin Westbrooks, laborer, who was fined $500 and sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse on traffic charges was released on $1000 bond yesterday by Circuit Judge James F. Nangle after an attorney filed a writ of habeas corpus.

Westbrooks pleaded guilty Wednesday before Police Judge Rodney Weiss to a charge of speeding 90 miles an hour on the Express Highway. Judge Nangle scheduled a hearing on the writ of habeas corpus for Sept. 14. The writ alleged that Westbrooks's plea of guilty was made without advice of counsel.

Judge Nangle also released Westbrooks on charges of careless and imprudent driving and for having an improper state license plate and scheduled this bond returnable before Magistrate Leslie T. Lewis in Clayton Sept. 21. These charges were brought following a chase by State Highway Patrolman Walter Ryan, which started on the Daniel Boone Expressway at Brentwood boulevard Tuesday night.

SURPRISED BURGLAR FLEES WITH $1500 IN JEWELRY

Oscar G. Brinker, a real estate man, surprised a burglar at work when he returned to his home at 2575 Shannon avenue, St. Louis county, yesterday afternoon. However, the burglar and a companion fled with $1500 worth of jewelry before Brinker became aware of the loss.

When Brinker walked into the kitchen, he found a youth who said he was returning Brinker's wallet, which had been lost several weeks ago. He said he had been admitted to the house by Brinker's mother, Mrs. Helen Brinker, adding that she had just stepped out.

Giving the empty wallet to Brinker, the youth called to his companion in another room and both walked out to an automobile where a third youth was waiting. Brinker took the license number but it failed to match the description of the car and was presumed stolen. The jewelry had been taken from a dresser in Brinker's bedroom. The dining room window had been forced.

FERGUSON BUS LINES TOLD TO KEEP $1.25 STUDENT PASS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 12—School children will continue to ride busses of the Ferguson-Broadway Bus Lines, Inc., on weekly passes costing $1.25, the Public Service Commission ruled today.

The commission temporarily suspended a company request to raise the price to $1.50 and ordered a hearing for Sept. 29 on the petition. A hearing would be "in the public interest," the commission said.

The City of Florissant had objected to the proposed increase which the company had sought for next Monday. The bus firm must keep the $1.25 until next Dec. 9 unless otherwise directed by the commission.

NEW ANTI-PICKETING RULE MADE BY NLRB

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UPI)—A split National Labor Relations Board has ruled in effect that a union which violates federal secondary boycott restrictions loses its right to picket the firm it is striking against.

Three members supported the decision and two objected. John F. Fanning and Stephen S. Bean said in their dissent that the ruling meant "virtually all picketing must be forbidden."

The decision, announced yesterday, had the effect of ruling that a union forfeits the right to picket a struck firm if the union's conduct violates the secondary boycott provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

It said the efforts of the union in this case, Teamsters Local 175 of Charleston, W. Va., were aimed at applying pressure illegally on neutral trucking firms to force them to stop doing business with McJunkin Corp., a pipe firm.

The Teamsters picketed the trucking entrance to McJunkin's plant and sent letters to four trucking firms advising them its members would not handle so-called "hot cargo" from the company.

The board ruled unanimously that picketing on one trucking firm's terminal by Local 175 violated the boycott ban.

The majority, Chairman Boyd Leedom, Philip Ray Rodgers and Joseph Alton Jenkins, said this and other secondary activity directed at neutral companies made the plant picketing unlawful, too. The plant picketing was aimed at halting pickups and deliveries by the truckers.

PATCH OF MARIJUANA FOUND IN COUNTY AND DESTROYED

A patch of wild-growing marijuana, lying partly on Lambert-St. Louis Field property and partly in the City of Berkeley was destroyed yesterday by Berkeley officials, St. Louis county police reported.

The weed was discovered Tuesday by Capt. H. C. Birmes, head of the county police security division, who was making a routine check of a place where marjuana was discovered growing about three years ago. Birmes found the plant growing on about a half-acre of ground on either side of Airport road at the intersection of Brown road.

As on the other occasion, the plants were destroyed by fire. County police said a chemical compound will be sprayed over the area in an effort to prevent the weed from reappearing.

YOUTH HITS GIRL, 14, ROBS HER OF WALLET AND $21

Duane Dennison, 14 years old, was robbed of $21 yesterday by a youth who hit her in the abdomen, grabbed her wallet and ran, police reported.

Miss Dennison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dennison of 3931A South Compton avenue, told police she had seen this youth watching her as she cashed a check in a supermarket at South Grand boulevard and Keokuk street. The youth, about 20 years old, followed her as she walked toward home, she said.

As she reached the intersection of Virginia avenue and Keokuk, he dashed by her, striking her and grabbing her wallet. The youth continued to run west on Keokuk. Miss Dennison was taken to St. Anthony Hospital and treated.

DETAILS OF REPORT TO OAS ON PLOTTERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — A five-nation investigation committee, in a report on the June 24 attempt to assassinate Venezuela's President Romulo Betancourt, says its evidence ties the plot directly to high officials of the Dominican Republic.

The report, made by representatives of Panama, Argentina, the United States, Mexico and Uruguay for the Organization of American States, is to be made public officially Monday night. The hemisphere foreign ministers meet in Costa Rica Tuesday.

A copy of the document obtained yesterday from independent sources says the facts gathered by the commission are that the plot began May 8, 1960, when Juan Manuel Sanoja, a Venezuelan who had lived 14 years in the Dominican Republic, went by plane to the Dominican Republic, by way of Haiti, and began trips and consultations which preceded the explosion of a dynamite-laden automobile near one occupied by Betancourt in Caracas.

The commission said the button, transmitting a signal "causing the instantaneous explosion," was pressed by a Venezuelan, Luis Cabrera Sifontes.

In its formal conclusions, announced in paraphrase form earlier this week, the commission said the attempt was an effort to "overthrow the government" of Venezuela, that "those implicated in the attempt and in the plot mentioned received moral support and material aid from high functionaries of the Dominican Republic," and it outlined specifically the materials supplied.

The committee said it had evidence that some of the plotters were welcomed to the Dominican Republic by high army officials, that a few of them saw Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, strong man of the country, and that there were frequent contacts between the plotters and Col. John Abbes Garcia, often called the chief of the Dominican secret service and one of the generalissimo's right-hand men.

The committee said Generalissimo Trujillo, to whom it referred as the chief of the armed forces, offered the plotters "such aid as they might need to overthrow the Venezuela regime and suggested that they proceed with rapidity and decision."

Col. Abbes Garcia, the report said, was the first to mention an electronic detonating device which was used in the assassination attempt.

UNITED FRUIT CO. HALTS WEEKLY SAILINGS TO CUBA

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (UPI)—The United Fruit Co. has announced an immediate end to its weekly sailings to Havana and Santiago, Cuba, from New York, Baltimore and New Orleans.

According to H. J. Einerman, general manager of the United Fruit passenger and freight department, the decision was made "in view of the recent announcement by the Cuban government concerning the expropriation of American holdings."

The company has maintained service to Cuba for the past 50 years.

Business World

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—United States steelmaking furnaces poured 6,343,000 net tons of ingots and steel for castings in July, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported. The July total trailed the June 1960 figure of 7,404,873 tons but topped the July 1959 level of 5,232,176 tons, the month when last year's steel strike started. The furnaces were used at an average of 50.3 per cent of capacity during July against 60.6 per cent in June. The average for the first seven months of 1960 was 77.4 per cent.

Bank Lending Rates Expected To Be Reduced Here Soon

Action to Result From Changes in Federal Reserve Policy, St. Louis Bankers Say.

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent.

Bank lending rates will be reduced soon as a result of the changes in Federal Reserve policy, St. Louis bankers said today.

The prime rate charged by banks here on loans to large borrowers with the best credit rating will be reduced from 5 to 4½ per cent. The timing of the change will depend on action by the large New York City banks.

Other lending rates to business firms will be adjusted downward gradually over a period of time, following the change in the prime rate, the bankers said.

W. H. Kester

The reduction in the prime rate reflected the new policy of actively encouraging the growth of the money suppply of the country by the Federal Reserve System.

As reported yesterday, the discount rate of four Federal Reserve Banks was cut from 3½ to 3 per cent. Other banks are expected to follow suit in the next few weeks.

In keeping with the new policy of encouraging the expansion of the volume of money and credit in the economy, the Federal Reserve supplied additional reserves to member banks in the week ended last Wednesday. Free reserves of the member banks rose from $178,000,000 in the previous week to $206,000,000 in the most recent statement week.

On Monday of this week, the Federal Reserve Board announced changes which would add about $600,000,000 in reserve for member banks, effective Aug. 25 and Sept. 1. In July, the margin requirements for the purchase and carrying of stocks were reduced from 90 to 70 per cent. In June, the discount rate was reduced from 4 to 3½ per cent at all 12 Federal Reserve Banks.

The reduction in the discount rate to 3 per cent was described by a spokesman for the Federal Reserve Board as a technical adjustment to existing rates in the open market for short-term securities. Yields on 91-day Treasury bills have averaged about 2¼ per cent in recent weeks. Normally, the Federal Reserve keeps the discount rate in close adjustment with the rates on Treasury bills.

The lower discount rate will encourage member banks to obtain required reserves by borrowing from the Federal Reserve Banks by reducing the cost of such funds. This will make it easier for commercial banks to expand their loans and investments.

The new policy of the Federal Reserve System reflects the weakness in recent months in the business situation. Consumers are not expanding their purchases, inventories are being reduced, construction activity continues to decline and capital investment of some business firms has been reduced in the face of lower profits.

In addition, gold continues to flow out of the country as a result of the higher investment yields available in other countries.

Universal Match Corp. plans to acquire the Glasco Corp. of Muncie, Ind., if shareholders of the latter corporation approve at a special meeting to be held in the near future, it was announced today by John L. Wilson, president of Universal and E. Bird Kelly, president of Glasco.

Glasco manufactures vending machines, food service equipment and fiber glass products. In the first six months of 1960, Glasco sales were about $4,000,000 and net earnings were $300,000.

The acquisition will be accomplished by issuance of Universal Match shares. The number of shares and other details will be announced later.

The board of directors of Glasco approved the transaction at a special meeting yesterday.

Mississippi River Fuel Corp. purchased 11,500 shares of Class A common stock of Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. in July, according to a report to the Securities and Exchange Commission. At the end of the month, the pipeline company held 381,700 shares, or about 20 per cent of the outstanding shares of voting stock of the railroad.

The board of directors of the pipeline company has authorized purchases up to [illegible],000 shares of Missouri Pacific stock. This would represent about 23½ per cent of the outstanding voting shares. The ceiling was raised from 300,000 shares when total purchases approached that limit in April.

However, William G. Marbury, chairman of the board of Mississippi River Fuel Corp., has denied that the company is seeking to gain control of the Missouri Pacific Railroad through stock purchases.

The purchases are being made to make money, Marbury has said. The investment in the railroad has been made on a long-term basis and short-term fluctuations in the market price do not worry him.

As of June 30, 1960, the company had $17,399,037 invested in 370,200 shares of Missouri Pacific stock. This was an average of $47 a share, compared with the closing price yesterday of $39.75.

The shares purchased by Mississippi River Fuel in July accounted for 76 per cent of the 15,100 shares of Missouri Pacific Class A common stock traded on the New York Stock Exchange. The price ranged from $39 to $43 in July and so far this year has ranged from $37.75 to 48.50.

LENDING CAPACITY OF BANKS RISES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Federal Reserve member banks had total reserves averaging $18,509,000,000 on deposit with Reserve banks during the week which ended Aug. 10, the Reserve Board said.

Total reserves included excess reserves which averaged $499,000,000. This was $6,000,000 higher than excess reserves averaged the week before but was $43,000,000 lower than excess reserves a year earlier. Excess reserves are amounts not needed to cover deposits, and are therefore the basis for expansion of bank credit.

However, some member banks were borrowing to meet their reserve requirements. Borrowing during the week ended Aug. 10 averaged $293,000,000. This was $22,000,000 lower than borrowings the week before, and was $780,000,000 lower than the average of a year before.

The Reserve Board said:

"The average of daily figures of total member bank reserves held during the week ended Aug. 10 decreased a net of $84,000,000. Estimated required reserves decreased $90,000,000, and estimated excess reserves increased $6,000,000. Excess reserves exceeded member bank borrowings at Federal Reserve banks by $206,000,000, compared with the revised figure of $178,000,000 for the week before.

"The principal changes supplying average reserve balances with Federal Reserve banks were increases of $123,000,000 in United States Government securities held under repurchase agreement and $47,000,000 bought outright and a decrease of $29,000,000 in foreign deposits with Federal Reserve banks. The principal offsetting changes were decreases of $68,000,000 in Federal Reserve float, $49,000,000 in gold stocks and $22,000,000 in member bank borrowings, and an increase of $85,000,000 in money in circulation. Total reserve bank credit increased $81,000,000.

BANK CLEARINGS

St. Louis bank clearings for Aug. 12 were $72,400,000, compared with $78,600,000 a year ago.

LONDON MARKET BUOYANT

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Stock Exchange ended the trading week on a buoyant note today.

Gains were widespread in the industrial section in response to investment buying.

British government bonds closed generally firm.

Gold shares were selectively firm, tins went ahead on selective demand and oils were generally higher. Coppers opened strong but sagged below their best before the close.

United States dollar stocks were marked up in response to the better tone of the previous Wall Street session.

GOLD STOCKS DECREASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Weekly averages of daily figures of member banks reserve balances and related items show gold stocks decreased $49,000,000 to total of $19,098,000,000 or $521,000,000 below figure year ago.

Currency in circulation increased $85,000,000, which left it $58,000,000 above year ago.

U.S. TREASURY STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury Aug. 9: Balance, $6,475,279,967; deposits fiscal year July 1, $6,005,429,821; withdrawals fiscal year, $9,950,708,137; total debt, x-$288,514,992,820; gold assets, $19,062,471,920.

x-Includes $404,387,647.83 debt not subject to statutory limit.

WHEAT PRICE HIGHER, SOYBEANS LOWER

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Buying by export interests firmed up wheat futures prices today on the Board of Trade but the remainder of the commodity list was weak.

Soybeans were under stiff selling pressure and led the setbacks with losses of more than a cent on all contracts. A good deal of the weakness was linked with a report that the Commodity Credit Corporation had put almost 800,000 bushels of loan-defaulted stocks into commercial channels.

A sale of about 3,750,000 bushels of wheat to Brazil overnight and expectation that Poland, Syria and the United Arab Republic also will be good buyers soon were credited with imparting strength to wheat.

Oats and rye were off major fractions in spots, corn minor fractions.

CONSOL. NAT. GAS INCOME

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Consolidated Natural Gas Co. reported earnings of $31,299,807, equal to $3.46 per share, for the six months ended June 30. In the 1959 first half, the company earned $28,030,190, or $3.35 a share.

Income for the 1960 first half included a non-recurring profit of $1,640,000, equal to 18 cents per share, from sale of a largely depleted producing property. In the 1959 period there was a non-recurring profit of $686,000, or eight cents a share, from sale of property.

F.R.B. NEW MOVE TO LOWER MONEY COST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board authorized four federal reserve banks to cut their discount rates from 3½ to 3 per cent, effective today.

The reductions were approved for the system's New York, Cleveland, Richmond and Kansas City banks. The other eight federal reserve banks are expected to follow suit soon.

The discount rate is the interest that member banks pay when borrowing from the Federal Reserve System. Early in June it was reduced from 4 to 3½ per cent throughout the system.

A reduction indicates easier money and a general trend toward lower interest costs. But a board spokesman called yesterday's action a technical adjustment to market rates. As an example, recent interest rates on 91-day treasury bills have been about 2¼ per cent.

New York banking circles appeared uncertain as to whether the reduction would lower the cost of bank loans. Some bankers said a general reduction in bank interest rates must follow soon. Others said there were too many other balancing factors to make a cut certain.

None of New York's commercial banks immediately lowered their prime rate—the amount they charge their biggest customers with the best credit rating. Usually when one New York bank lowers its prime rate, the others follow. Banks outside New York base their charges on New York City rates.

LOANS INCREASE

Loans and discounts by St. Louis Clearing House banks increased $24,540,000 in the week ended Wednesday. Demand deposits increased $18,666,000 and time deposits rose $1,351,000. Bond and stock accounts decreased $1,463,000.

I. T. & T. Half-Year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Profit and sales in the first half of 1960 exceeded the year earlier level, International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. reported. Net income rose to $14,254,000, or 92 cents a share, from $13,326,600, or 88 cents a share. Sales advanced to $387,480,000 from $362,148,000.

President H. S. Geneen said seizure of the Cuban Telephone Co., a subsidiary, will have no effect on 1960 earnings of IT&T.

ODD LOT TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange reported today these odd lot transactions by principal dealers for Aug. 11: Purchases of 312,167 shares; sales of 284,048 shares including 2883 shares sold short.

STOCKS RESPOND TO F.R.B. RATE CUT WITH SPURT

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (UPI)—Wall Street greeted the federal reserve's latest credit easing move by boosting stocks sharply along a broad front today.

The enthusiasm with which the trading community welcomed the latese fed action faltered only briefly during the third hour.

The discount rate, which was cut to 3 from 3½ per cent, was expected to trigger reductions in the "prime" and other bank lending rates in the days ahead.

The current rally now is in its seventh day.

Dow-Jones ave age of 30 industrial stocks was 3.30 points higher at 626.18 at the close. The 20 rails gained 1.99 at 138.35 and the 15 utilities rose .24 of a point to 94.95.

The Associated Press reported that the market advanced vigorously in heavy trading this morning, then sat back on its laurels.

Just about every major group took part in the rise. Weak spots developed among farm implement makers, aircrift-missile issues, metals and oils.

Final prices were fractions to 2 points higher. This included conservative, blue-chip issues as well as the more speculative trading favorites, although some of the latter made greater gains.

Of 1233 issues traded, 742 rose and but 278 fell. New 1960 highs soared to a 75-5 score over new yearly lows.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 1.30 to 219.70, with industrials up 1.80, rails up 1.60 and utilities up 0.20.

The advance carried the A.P. average to its highest point in exactly a month, equaling the level of July 12.

Volume rose to 3,160,000 shares from 3,070,000 yesterday.

INSECT PESTS SWARMING OVER RED CHINESE CITIES

HONG KONG, Aug. 12 (AP)—Flies and mosquitoes, which were reported liquidated several years ago, again are swarming over some of the biggest cities in Communist China.

The People's Daily, Red China's official organ, reports a new all-out battle against flies and mosquitoes in Peiping, Shanghai and Tientsin.

Factories, schools and government organizations in the three cities participated in this mass campaign. Some 2800 anti-mosquito incense burning centers have been set up in Tientsin. Thousands of children in Peiping and Shanghai have been organized in teams to fight pests.

DENTAL PLATES That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere—avoid embarrassment.

Gruen Urges Plant Sites With Future

Victor Gruen, architect and urban planner, urges businessmen to look ahead 20 years when choosing a site for a new plant, warehouse, or other installation.

In a copyrighted interview published in the August issue of Management Methods, businessmen's monthly magazine, Gruen advised industrialists, "Before you select a business site, make sure the town or city knows where it's going. Otherwise you'll face serious problems."

Gruen, head of Victor Gruen Associates, architects, engineers and planners with offices in Los Angeles, New York, and Chicago, was asked, "Do you think businessmen do a good job of sizing up the communities in which they plan to locate a plant?"

"No," he replied flatly. "They do all the usual things: check labor supply; make sure of essential physical facilities like sewerage, electrical power, transportation; size up the current tax situation, and look over the town's social and cultural attractions for their executives.

"But very few businessmen consider the most important factor of all: how the community is planning now for the future."

Interviewer Claire Trieb Slote asked Gruen: "Can a town or city know what it's going to be like in 20 or 30 years?"

"If it doesn't," Gruen answered, "It's a good one to avoid."

Gruen warned the businessmen to be wary of communities that offer generous tax concessions for the purpose of attracting industry. If he locates such a town, he may get off cheaply for a few years, but in the long run he will pay heavily unless provision has been made for the construction of schools, sewers, roads, and other public works.

Gruen listed several things that industrialists should watch for when assessing a town's future:

1. Make sure that there is a talented professional planner on the municipal payroll, or that the city uses a qualified planning consultant.

2. Ask city officials, including the professional planner, what they are doing about the future.

3. Ascertain whether the community has a "creative master plan." The plan should be specific, indicating "how much money will be taken in, how much will be spent, what the needs are for various facilities, what's the debt."

4. Determine whether the town is engaged in "basic thinking" about its problems. "Is the town being fashioned to insure orderly growth for every commercial and residential function?

Lange Sees Opportunity For Builders

Vast business opportunities during the "Sensational Sixties" are available to manufacturers and suppliers serving the building industry as it meets the demand for new construction involving the development of over five million acres of raw land, James M. Lange, execuive editor of Practical Builder, a Cahners publication, told sales and advertising executives at the 1960 Practical Builder marketing conference for the St. Louis area here last Tuesday afternoon.

Lange's talk, covering the builder market, followed a discussion of research techniques and findings by Gene T. Skrivan, director of the Bureau of Building Marketing Research, Chicago, an affiliate of Practical Builder.

"The builder—a manufacturer of structures—considers materials and products not only as to their use of residential building but also in non-residental, maintenance and remodeling," said Lange and added:

"Remodeling and modernization is another substantial economic layer on top of the mountain of business that makes building the number one force in our national economy.

"In the past, modernization generally meant the upgrading of old structures. This, of course, is still being done and produces a gigantic volume of business. But today, we have a new market. Dwelling units only a few years old are a big market. Most of the postwar houses were minimum and simple. Our record-breaking birth rate is forcing the expansion of these homes. Style obsolescence, both inside and out; rising income of home owners; desire for beauty, low maintenance expense; convenience and luxury are compelling factors that are making this market rise to a record business volume."

Answering the 20 building industry marketing questions most often asked of the Bureau of Building Marketing Research, Skrivan pointed out:

An easing of the tight money situation;

Strong evidence of stabilizing price classes in the "medium-priced" homes ($16,000 to $19,999 and $20,000 to $24,999) which are forecast to comprise 62.5 per cent of the total new housing market;

A trend away from "contemporary" to "traditional" and "conventional" styles;

An increase in multi-family rental housing, accounting for approximately 10 per cent of the new housing market;

An increase in manufactured homes.

Builder Determines.

An estimated 1,302,000 housing starts for 1960;

The building "bulge" expected in 1965-66 with two million housing starts per year coming in the late 70s;

The number of active builders in the light construction market is now 120,000;

Remodeling constitutes up to 40 per cent of many manufacturers' total dollar sales volume; the over-all remodeling market amounts to $20.6 billion annually with the builder segment based at $5.2 billion;

Light non-residential building represents a $7.7 billion annual market;

A study by the bureau in cooperation with the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Denver showed that "Predominantly, it is the builder who determines type and brand" (of products).

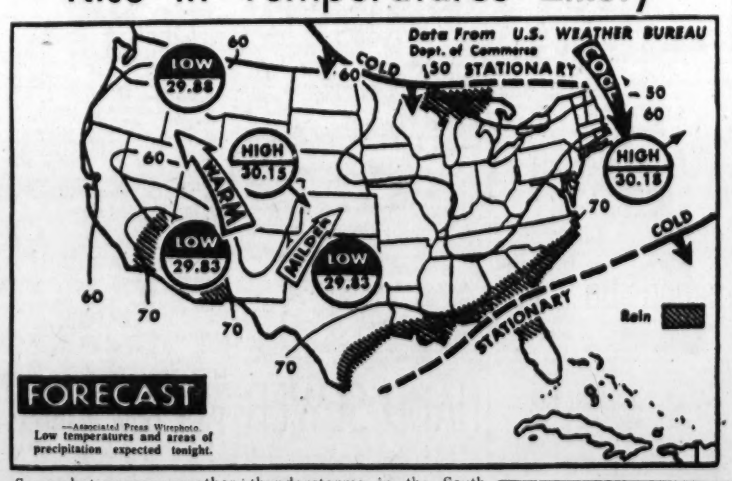
Rise in Temperatures Likely



Somewhat warmer weather is expected in the St. Louis area tomorrow, but temperatures still will be slightly below normal for the season, the Weather Bureau said.

Cool summer weather prevailed today over a large section of the country in connection with a high pressure area which covered most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation. A warming trend in the Plains states moved into northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan, increasing temperatures as much as 15 degrees above readings on the preceding day.

Skies were generally clear today in the West, although some rainfall was reported in scattered areas. Showers and thunderstorms in the South brought precipitation from the Carolinas southwestward across Georgia and Alabama and the Gulf coast to southern Texas in the 24-hours ended this morning.

Rain was forecast for tomorrow along the Gulf coast into central Florida and through parts of the south Atlantic states, in the desert southwest and upper Great Lakes region.

Minimum temperatures in Illinois and Missouri this morning ranged generally from the upper 50s to the middle 60s. The national high yesterday was 110 at Imperial, Calif.

Cooling degree days in the St. Louis area yesterday, 7; the month, 165; the season, 2020.

St. Louis's food bill

$550,000,000

That's how enthusiastic St. Louis homemakers are about food—that's how bountifully families were provided for last year. When one looks at a figure as imposing as this one, there can be no doubt that women are spending many hours planning good meals and are eager to find new ways to keep the menu varied and the family happy and well fed.

Naturally, how to buy, what to buy, when to buy and how to prepare food are foremost in the minds of most women. This accounts for the popularity of the Monday and Thursday Food Sections of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch with their wealth of marketing and general food news. Always read these two sections every week like so many successful homemakers do.

Adventure in Space

Feet dangling into the edge of space, young adventurer reaches for the familiar feel of ground after skidding from the heights of a challenging slide at Carondelet park. Others, twitching up the edges of the stair-less slide, will follow the same slippery course, over the 18-inch drop. Elsewhere in the park yesterday activities were on a more gruelling basis. Girls below are all-out competitors in a relay race. Event was part of the program staged by the Division of Recreation, which had youngsters from nine South Side playgrounds competing in its annual play day.

Hive of Missile Activity

Huge concrete shell receives added strength, and a beehive appearance, from layers of sandbags piled on the new facility at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The shell is part of the complex just completed for the Air Research and Development Command. A blockhouse 55 feet in diameter and 25 feet high, it will shelter technicians and equipment checking the Minuteman, the solid propellant, three-stage missile moving into the test stage.

The Primaries Are Politics at Work

WE HAD A PRIMARY ELECTION last week, a fact which may come as a surprise to some. In many areas, less than half the eligible voters bothered to participate in it.

There are many reasons for this. August is a bad time what with the hot weather and vacations. But August primaries have been with us a long time and are well publicized—even to stickers on the supermarket door — so they should come as no surprise.

CLARISSA START

Some say they don't vote in primaries because they "don't know anything about the candidates." They're confessing that they read neither their newspapers nor their mail or they'd find ample material from which to make up their minds.

The real reason people do not vote in primaries is lack of interest. In view of this fact, I find it hard to shed a tear when I hear these same people complain that their political candidates are chosen by a "machine." I find it equally hard to sympathize with those who come to life every four years and want a leading voice in choosing the major candidate of their party when they're in complete ignorance as to its minor ones and haven't raised a hand to ring a doorbell or write a check.

It's the same kind of hue and cry you hear in clubs. A "clique" is running it. It's the "clique" which sold the tickets, hired the speaker, rented the hall, planned the menu and twined the ivy in the centerpiece. How dreadful that they should also expect to serve on the nominating committee.

One happy phase of today's decentralized suburban living is that it has led to much greater political participation by "the people." The night of the primary, we attended a gathering of our township's precinct workers (in a bona fide smoke filled room) and I was impressed by three things: the size of the crowd, the very young average age, and how representative they were.

Our precinct woman, for instance, is an attractive former school teacher, housewife, mother of a pre-schooler, and nursemaid to the most beautiful lawn in the neighborhood. Aside from the lawn, she is a fairly typical representative of our suburb, and even the lawn just proves that she knows how to get to the grass roots.

Many do not want to ally themselves to a political party. They prefer to be nonpartisan independents, putting it idealistically, or, less idealistically, they're switch voters, supporting whoever offers them the most. This detached view is all right, I guess, but you don't have much real voice in either political party that way and most offices are filled by the two major parties. Some years ago, Clare Boothe Luce said that the voter who didn't like political parties should join one anyway and work from within for its improvement.

Of course, some people simply aren't interested in politics at all, even in election years. A prominent woman for whom I have high regard told me the other day that she'd never registered, never voted because she "wasn't interested in that sort of thing." If you genuinely aren't interested in "that sort of thing"—such as how 25 per cent of your money (taxes) is spent, who makes the laws controlling your daily life, and whether we'll have a nuclear war—that's your business. Just don't complain to me as you go whizzing through outer space.

Ann Landers

Southern Accent

Dear Ann Landers:

WHAT IS THERE about a Southern accent that simply slays men? A woman moved up here from New Orleans and every guy in the office hangs around her desk because she "talks so darling."

We're getting fed up on her honey-dripping helplessness. Please suggest in your column that the Southerners learn to speak English. RED, WHITE AND BLUE YANKEES.

Dear Red, White and Blue: You sound green to me—with envy, that is. Men (especially Northern) love a Southern accent because it's soft and feminine. Personally, I like it.

Dear Ann:

WHAT CAN be done about people who crane their necks and sit too close on trains and busses because they want to look at the paper you are reading?

SQUASHED.

Dear Squashed: Pull out a section of the paper and hand it over.

Dear Ann Landers:

MY BEST GIRL FRIEND and I are employed in the same office. I am private secretary to the president.

Yesterday my boss dictated a letter which knocked me for a loop. He informed a woman that she will be employed in the position my girl friend now holds "before long."

My problem is, if I don't wise up my friend before she gets notice she'll know I kept it from her because every piece of correspondence from the president's office goes through my hands and she knows it. At the same time I feel a strong sense of loyalty to my boss and would feel guilty about divulging confidential information.

Which should come first—personal loyalty or loyalty to the job? Help me decide. SEARCHING SUE.

Dear Sue: If your girl friend would hold it against you because you didn't double-cross the boss and leak the confidential information, her friendship isn't worth worrying about. Mum is the word.

Dear Ann Landers:

THIS MORNING my husband told me in a half kidding way that he had written you a letter. We've been having some intimate problems and I've been getting outside help. Things are far from good, but they are improving.

I've been through so much with this miserable skunk that I couldn't survive another blow. We've got a hundred relatives in this town and if his letter appeared in the paper with his name signed, I think I'd shoot myself in the head. Please, if you must print the letter, don't use his full signature. It would finish me for good.

UPHILL FIGHTER.

Dear Uphill: I never print complete signatures. After all, I don't want to get shot in the head, either!

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, write to the Post-Dispatch for Ann Landers's booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love or Sex?", inclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ideal Living

The Country Look

The country look in decorating is synthesized in a living room at Gracie Towers created by decorator Melanie Kahane. Blackened wood walls are a modern background. Travertine vinyl floor in hexagon shape is topped by unusual scatter rug quilted of a paisley fabric used on the walls on opposite side of the room. Lavender, red and olive leathers brighten the upholstered pieces.

By Betty Pepis

THE INTERIOR STYLE known as the "country look" is rising in favor. Although examples of it have been around in high fashion decorating circles for a year or more, it now appears to be taking on a more strongly defined character that makes it both easier to identify and simpler to duplicate.

Originally the term was applied to any room that was a compromise between a casual provincial style and the richer look of sophisticated city living. The concept still applies but the details are more clearly delineated.

Backgrounds are almost uniformly wooden: paneling of pine or walnut; or wood siding, painted white. Recently, in a model apartment, executed by decorator Melanie Kahane at Gracie Towers in New York City, the wood was blackened with a blow torch to achieve a weathered look and gunmetal tone, an effect in tune with the darker walls reaching a new popularity.

Floors are invariably bare. Polished parquet or wood planking, often pegged for a hand crafted look, may be topped with accent rugs, sometimes old but more often new. Rya and Floossar rugs, those Scandinavian imports of thick hair and melting colors that flow into each other in abstract patterns, seem particularly appropriate in rooms of this sort, as do the recently available American machine-made reproductions of them. Coming as they do from countries of the North, these luxuriously piled floor coverings lend a look of warmth.

Leather, particularly in its new guise: soft as a glove and in off-beat, brilliant, stained-glass colors like royal purple and claret red and sharp green, lifts these traditionally inspired rooms to modern dimensions. Fabrics in flat rather than fluffy tweedy wools may be used with it. Plaids do well in these rooms, as do paisleys.

Wood pieces are provincial, usually derived from Seventeenth or Eighteenth century designs native to northern Italy or southern France. Although carved, the carving is restrained rather than elaborate, and the bulging look of later Baroque designs is avoided. This simplification of design results in rooms that look quite definitely modern, a look amplified by the structural wall and floor treatments.

Q. My living-dining room, which is 13x21 seems completely filled with furniture. Can you suggest a way to create a more spacious look? The room has dusty rose carpeting, maple dining furniture and brass accessories. Please suggest slipcovers for the sofa, wing chair and cricket chair. I would like advice on curtains, walls and lamp shades.

A. To create an illusion of space is relatively easy if you confine color and pattern to a minimum. Rely on texture and one small-scale print to provide variety, with accessories lending bright color. You might paint your walls, woodwork and ceiling a light shade of dusty rose. Have sofa and curtains in a printed linen of cotton, perhaps Early American design in sandalwood or rust on natural ground. The wing chair could be covered in a dusty rose plain fabric and the cricket chair in cerulean blue. The same blue might be repeated on cushions for dining chair seats, throw pillows and some accessories of Bristol glass or blue milkglass. Lampshades might be white or ecru.

Contract Bridge

By B. Jay Becker

YOU ARE DEALER, both sides vulnerable, and have opened One Spade. Partner has responded Three Spades. What would you now bid with each of the following hands.

1. ♠AQ852 ♥93 ♦AKJ4 ♣K10
2. ♠AKJ4 ♥AQ743 ♦94 ♣86
3. ♠KQ7643 ♥5 ♦7 ♣AKJ54

1. Four diamonds. There is a reasonable chance of making a slam, and the best way to find out whether 12 tricks can be made is to investigate the prospects by bidding four diamonds. Partner presumably has 13 to 15 points and good trump support for his jump raise. But points are not as big an issue as suit controls. Thus, partner may have one of these hands for his bid:

1. ♠KJ94 ♥AQ72 ♦63 ♣A83
2. ♠AKJ4 ♥AQ743 ♦94 ♣86
3. ♠K963 ♥QJ64 ♦7 ♣AQ82

With the first two hands partner would bid four hearts over four diamonds to show first round control. In either case six spades would be an excellent contract which we could afford to bid directly over the heart cuebid. But in the third case partner would bid four spades over four diamonds—not being strong enough to go into the five level to show the club ace—and a bad slam contract would be avoided.

2. Four spades. A four heart bid would constitute a slam try, just as in the first hand given. Since our hand does not warrant slam aspirations, a closing bid of four spades is made. The reason the bidding was not opened with one heart is that our hand was not good enough, in the first place, to bid the two suits in reverse order, which would show a stronger opening bid. The situation does not change just because partner jumped to three spades.

3. Four notrump. Here the Blackwood convention is used because the number of aces partner has tells exactly how many tricks can be made. If partner responds five spades, showing three aces, we bid seven; with a response of five hearts (two aces) we bid six; with a response of five diamonds (one ace) we bid five.

Measures for Control of Gout

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

DR. MOLNER

A LETTER from Mrs. W. ask about gout and she adds, not entirely correctly: "Cause—acid deposits in the blood. Effect—swelling and pain. Result—can be crippling arthritis all over my body. Horrible thought!"

She is taking medication and following a diet.

There are some things about Mrs. W.'s letter which make me think she probably has troubles other than gout, and her diet may be designed to serve purposes other than just controlling the gout.

Let's stick just to the problem of gout. It's a disease which to a certain degree still mystifies us even though it has been known for centuries.

The body's handling of uric acid (forming sodium urate in the blood) appears to be the root of the trouble. The urates are deposited in cartilage, and by far the likeliest place for this to occur is in the big toe.

Presently the victim has an acute attack—the toe (or other spot) becomes inflamed and cruelly tender. Usually the attack passes in a matter of days. Sometimes it continues somewhat longer than that. But in any event, the pain comes and goes. The toe is intensely painful while the attack lasts. Then everything calms down completely, until the next attack.

Why do the urates form deposits in the cartilage, instead of being eliminated by the system? We wish we knew! No animal has this trouble. But people do.

For a very long time it has been supposed that avoiding foods that are high in purines helps. Of late, there has been considerable question in the minds of some experts whether diet has much to do with the disease, and dependence has been placed on medication. So far as I can say, the matter of diet is somewhat argumentative.

On the other hand, there has been marked improvement in drug treatment. Colchicine, used for centuries to relieve pain of an attack of gout, is still in effective use, although it does not have any effect on the deposits of urates, and thus cannot ward off future attacks.

Probenacid, however, now has come into wide use and I know individuals who, by taking it conscientiously, go along indefinitely without further attacks.

As I said, the big toe is the commonest point of attack, although it is possible for deposits of urates to appear elsewhere: fingers, toes, kneecap, ankle, instep and other places, usually at the joints.

It does not follow, however, that "crippling arthritis all over the body" is going to occur. Gout and arthritis are not the same thing. However, "gouty arthritis,' or stiffness and pain from chronic gout, is well known.

Anyway, gout does NOT portend widespread disability. And with modern drugs it has become possible to treat it much more effectively than we ever could before, even though we have not yet discerned the reason why the disease occurs. Nor, for that matter, why gout attacks men about 20 times as often as women.

Dear Dr. Molner:

PLEASE DISCUSS the difference in symptoms between tuberculosis and cancer of the lung. Does bloody sputum which sinks in the water indicate tuberculosis? E.J.

There's no point in discussing it. Both can cause bloody sputum. Whichever it is, you ought to get to your doctor immediately. It also might be several lesser things. Whatever it is, let your doctor decide.

R.J.: The peritoneum is a membrane which incloses the whole abdominal cavity. "Peritonitis" is inflammation or infection of this.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to me in care of the Post-Dispatch for a copy of my booklet, "Diabetes—The Sneaky Disease." Please inclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover cost of handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Moller regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Extraordinary Technique of Ingmar Bergman

"DREAMS," a stylish, sensitive and very mature motion picture now being shown at the APOLLO ART theater, illustrates quite effectively the techniques which have made Ingmar Bergman the much-discussed director that he is.

One of his most effective techniques is silence. Another is a certain low-keyed reserve which surrounds the action and which serves, perhaps, to make the action seem more significant that it often is.

For at least 10 minutes after the picture opens in a fashion photographer's salon, not a word is spoken. But the action, the gestures and the expressions of the actors build up both curiosity and suspense. Then, little by little, we are led into the story, or stories, built around the love lives of two women.

One of them is Eva Dahlbeck, owner of the salon, and the other is Harriet Andersson, her fashion model. The action takes place in one day, when they go to Goteburg to make fashion photographs.

Eva, we soon learn, has a married lover whom she can't forget. She arranges a rendezvous at her hotel. There they are confronted by the man's wife and in the course of the painful interview that follows, Eva learns that perhaps her lover wasn't worth all the tears she had shed over him.

In the meantime Harriet, wandering around the streets of the city, falls in with an aging but wealthy stranger who showers her with expensive gifts, takes her to his home and serves her champagne. They are confronted, not by a wife, but by the aging Casanova's daughter, who reveals him for what he is.

The story ends back in the studio where it started, their dreams ended, both a little wiser. The dialogue is in Swedish with subtitles in English.

Incredible, In More Ways Than One

IT'S BEEN A long time since most of us read Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's adventure story called "THE LOST WORLD," and that would seem to apply also to the producers of a picture now masquerading under that title at the FOX.

In his story, Doyle, through his skill as a writer, made you believe that a serious scientific expedition had really discovered a lost world where time had stood still and creatures of 150,000,000 years ago still gamboled in the jungle.

What emerges here is a sort of Hollywoodized comic strip in which a group of incredibly silly people run through a series of so-called adventures which fall into today's familiar movie pattern of man versus monster.

Claude Rains and Richard Haydn, a couple of scientific noncompoops, lead the expedition. Along with them are Michael Rennie, a wealthy and titled playboy, David Hedison, a newspaperman; Fernando Lamas, who pilots the helicopter that lands them in the lost world; Jay Novello, a jungle guide, and Jill St. John, a young woman who comes along because her father financed the expedition.

What follows could have been written by any fairly intelligent 12-year-old boy who has kept up with his jungle and monster movies. The love interest is provided by a triangle composed of Rennie, Hedison and Miss St. John. As anyone could guess, Rennie shows his true colors early in the game, and Hedison emerges noble, courageous, kind, clean, upright, and virtuous. As punishment, he gets Miss St. John.

The action consists mainly of crashing through the jungle, either toward, or away from dinosaurs. It's hard to tell by watching. But every time a dinosaur appears the entire party starts crashing through the jungle. When another dinosaur appears, they turn around and crash through the jungle in the other direction.

They manage, with their usual ineptitude—I'm telling you, this gang shouldn't be turned loose in Forest Park, let alone the jungle—to get captured by a band of primitive Indians who plan to eat them. They escape from the Indians, and what follows after that is really too confused to try to explain.

By far the best thing in this picture are the prehistoric monsters. Brontosauras, dinosaurs, pterodactyls, tyrannosaurus, just name them. It's got 'em, in technicolor.

TV, Sleep's Enemy

HAVE YOU EVER stopped to figure what's happened to your going-to-bed habits since the advent of TV? A poll of friends indicates that the average person gets to sleep about one and one-half hours later than in the pre-TV days. . . . Three-Sec. Interview: Pianist Harry Noble, "Rock 'n' Roll is music that sounds as if it was written with a post office pen." . . . A hotelman told me that money is occasionally found between the pages of Gideon bibles in rooms. Guests hide money there, and forget it. . . . Sobering Statistic: East Germany is now the seventh largest producing nation of the world.

LEFT-HANDED PEOPLE, it is claimed, are far superior in brain power to right-handed people . . . Hostesses: Want to be real fancy? Follow Jim Downey's advice of dropping a small fresh strawberry in each section of your ice cube tray and freezing. Use cubes in iced tea or lemonade . . . Vacationers: Don't carry a loaded camera in the glove compartment of your car. It is liable to overheat in hot weather and can spoil the film.

FLYING FISH do not actually fly. They leap from the water at great speed and glide, as much as 50 to 100 yards, by spreading their fins like the wings of a plane . . . Kitchen-Snooping: The Stork Club chef advises you to buy only large watermelons, or pieces of same, because they have a much higher proportion of flesh to rind than smaller ones.

FEW PEOPLE realize that air travel trip insurance provides full coverage on ALL regulated transportation during the whole of a round-trip. Once you've checked in with the airline, you're insured not only for the flights but also for bus or limousine rides to and from all the airports . . . Sudden Thought: Some male TV stars not only look as if they'd slept in their clothes, but that they'd had a restless night as well! . . . Tip to Dieters: Have your steak well done—this melts much of the fat out of the meat.

HELPFUL HINTS: Ribs from an umbrella being discarded make excellent supports for flowers or plants in the garden . . . No matter how good the treads on your tires, they're only as strong as the sidewalls. Avoid hitting and scraping curbs when parking . . . Store your plant bulbs in old nylons hung from basement ceiling. They'll get air and stay in good shape.

EVEN THOUGH YOU are willing to believe him right away, the man who starts the conversation by telling you he isn't an expert on politics thinks he has to spend an hour convincing you of the fact.

A CORRESPONDENT says that in April of 1936 he saw a deer crossing at a "deer crossing" sign in Louisiana. Maybe so, but in those days even people paid attention to signs.

"YOU'RE A wonderful mother," a member of the Toy Tigers in the Teeny-Weeny League said at bedtime the other night, "but a lousy third-base coach."

MRS. KHRUSHCHEV says of her man that he is trying to do too much. You know, we've had sort of the same impression?

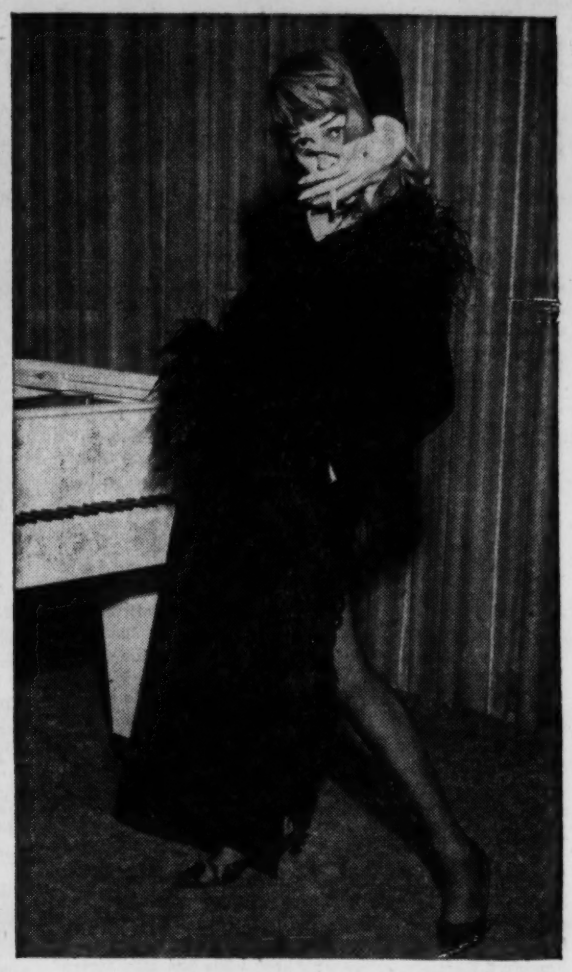
THE COUNTRY is in terrible shape. Nobody, at the moment, is walking across it.

LET THE RUSSIANS beware—in youth camps across the nation we are training enough belt-beaders and wallet-decorators to put us ahead in those fields for a century to come.

Singer-Comedienne With Her Own Night Club

Jorie Remus Owns 'Gilded Cage' in Puerto Rico; It's Gay Nineties in Spanish

JORIE REMUS satirizes love songs and burlesques the piano-sitting singers.



MISS REMUS strikes a pose in her act.

MISS REMUS looks to the future: "When I'm an old woman, I think I'd rather be Eleanor Roosevelt than Sophie Tucker."

By Jack Rice
of the Post-Dispatch Staff

SALOON-KEEPERS are philosophers because they can't save themselves; the drinking public drives them to thinking. I was talking to Jorie Remus, a woman saloon-keeper from old San Juan, Puerto Rico, and for a little while Miss Remus tried to fight off a philosophic mood but habit was too much for her. She began talking to me as though I were the favorite target of saloon-keepers, the man at the end of the bar.

"People go places now to relax by retreating," Miss Remus said. "I mean such places as the Opera House and the Crystal Palace in St. Louis. The atmosphere allows people to retreat into an irresponsible past that never was theirs. The decor gives them the feeling of another time."

Escapism by gaslight?

"The alcohol complex gone Victorian," she said. "Our place in San Juan is Gay Nineties, but Spanish. Whitewash and patios, you know. I guess the Spanish had a Victorian age, too. They do now, anyway."

Miss Remus gave me her business card. She plays both sides of the bar. The saloon in old San Juan is the fourth she has had a working interest in since 1950. The others were in Paris, San Francisco and New York. For 10 years she also has been a singer-comedienne, sometimes in her own places and often in others. She appeared here at the Chase, where she could talk the management out of more money than she can talk herself out of during Puerto Rico's off-season in tourists.

Her business card is headed, "THE GILDED CAGE." The type face is a canary's idea of Victorian printing. The letters suggest bird cages. The second line is in modern script face, "Savage drinks civilized atmosphere." There is no comma in the middle and that is either a typographical error or is following Miss Remus's style of running things together without a pause.

She was running in free advertising for other, non-Chase saloons. She must know what she is doing, as a saloon-owner herself.

"In my club act," she said, "I pick out a place in town like the Crystal Palace and use it for a fill-in, a passing giggle. I hope. The other night I said, 'I adore the Crystal Palace' and paused, and said, 'But I wouldn't want to live there.'

"I got a small laugh. A woman in the room got a big laugh. She said, 'I would.'"

Miss Remus started to shrug but thought better of it and squirmed instead. She is an acrobatic conversationalist. She keeps her mind loose and agile by shifting and jolting herself about in the chair. Soon enough I realized Miss Remus never was going to settle down and her squirming was not a distraction. She did not allow it to be a distraction because she is an eye-to-eye talker and her eyes were dressed for the stage. She had painted on large black boundary markers at the outside corners of her eyes and when my eyes tried to wander they tripped on the boundary markers and fell right back into Miss Remus's direct, steady gaze.

She moves around a night club restlessly. She satirizes love songs and she burlesques the piano-sitting singers and gives herself a deserved rest by boarding the piano and lying on it, prone. She is considerate. She asks the audience if anyone thinks she has gone too far. Nobody thinks so, or not strongly enough to make her change her resting place.

Miss Remus discovered the comforts of pianos late, as starting times are reckoned in show business. Late discoveries are a heritage. Her father was a practicing dentist when he discovered he wanted to be a doctor. When she was 3, her father moved the family to England and he practiced dentistry and he studied medicine.

"He remembered England and loved it, from his time there during the first World War," she said. "He was trying to go back to something that wasn't his, like the people in the Gay Nineties night clubs today.

"I lived in England until I was 13. I came back to the states with a funny accent and horrid clothes. My mother thought I had funny ideas, too. I wanted to be a writer and an artist. She was afraid I would be 'used and cast aside,' as the Victorians say. You know what I mean?"

When in doubt, nod. I nodded. Miss Remus grinned. She was teaching me to squirm.

"This club is bigger than the ones I've played before I came here," she said. "What clubs? Oh, the 'hungry i' in San Francisco and 'Mr. Kelly's' in Chicago and the 'Blue Angel' in New York. The places where people are put in until they crunch together comfortably."

She likes to work the crowded, small clubs where the bill is bigger than the table. The first club she worked was a people-crammer, the Mars Club in Paris. She was with the Armed Forces Network in Germany when she went to Paris on a furlough in 1950. She was two years getting out of Paris and she never got out of night clubs. She sang in the Mars Club for fun and a side order of glamour and she is stuck with the business now. Sometimes she thinks she is stuck with the satisfaction of it, other times she favors the money.

"Now that I've decided my goal is money it has simplified a lot of things, mainly the torture of thinking about where you're going in life," she said. She gave two hard bounces and wound up with her chin cupped in both hands on that one.

Two of Miss Remus's night clubs made a name in the cellar trade. She was one of the starters in the Purple Onion at San Francisco. The group moved to New York and placed a Purple Onion there and it prospered.

"I wasn't too happy either place," the artist said, beating down the business-woman. "I was getting too involved in management, when I wanted to be on the stage."

Her place in Puerto Rico puts her back where she started in the night club business, one hand in the till and all of her performing for the public. She left the Mars Club in Paris to open her own lure for the best saloon business going, Americans in Paris. She called it the Boites des Sardines and she'd not try a name like that again—Purple Onion and Gilded Cage have comparative dignity—and she wouldn't try to place a cash value on the memory of the Boites des Sardines.

"Five days after an American is in Paris he knows every other American," she said, "and, as I guess it always has been, the crowd that was in Paris when I was seemed like a bunch of gypsies rushing to nowhere. We must have been serving a valid purpose because one by one we came back to the States and turned into respectable people."

Or back to the States part-time and to Puerto Rico. Same thing?

"Sure. To the Puerto Ricans, they're 'Americans' and if you must make a distinction, we're 'Continentals.' It's a silly affectation."

Her husband, Allen Murray, is running the Gilded Cage while she plays the night clubs until the tourists come back again to Puerto Rico, looking for the gay Nineties in Spanish.

"Allen likes the business, I think. He's a photographer, but not commercially minded. He doesn't like to pose a family and open the shutter and say 'Next.'"

She squirmed. She looked surprised. She apparently had found a comfortable spot in the chair. She relaxed, as though she were on a piano. She picked up a pen and began to doodle. She repeated the doodle and she said, "When I'm an old woman, I think I'd rather be Eleanor Roosevelt than Sophie Tucker. But . . . "

I looked at her doodles. They were all the same—$$$$$.

Romance Coming to the TV Range

By Harold Heffernan

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS: It's become legend across the movie and TV years, almost an iron-clad rule, that a Western hero puts his arms around nobody but the horse. Kissing or otherwise tip-toeing around the campfires with a girl friend is strictly taboo.

But there's comin' a change, podner—a renegade is galloping up and into the new fall season! Name's Josh "Wanted Dead or Alive" Randall.

Explains Steve McQueen, who plays this bounty hunter: "I think it's ridiculous to presume that those Western characters didn't smooch around a bit now and then. And since records show that the female element is very important, I was delighted when our producer told me that beginning with the new season, I'd have a romance at least one out of every four scripts."

First candidate for the McQueen romancing is pretty Lisa Gaye, who'll receive his warm and unorthodox sage-brushing attentions in the second episode.

MANY ARE the madcap squibs and antics dreamed up by the press agents to glamorize newcomers on studio salary rolls, but should you hear that statuesque Julie Newmar is taking up Yoga, you can believe it. It's the McCoy.

Five-foot-ten Julie, a dancer all her life, was required for one scene in "The Marriage-Go-Round" to perform the "lotus" position in Yoga—sitting cross-legged.

"I don't understand it," she sighed later. "I've danced since I was a baby and in one bit in this picture had to stand on my head. It was a cinch. I figured the Yoga would be just as simple. But when it came time to do it, my muscles absolutely rebelled. We had to shoot the scene that day so I just sat down and pulled first one foot, then the other into the cross-legged position. Never in my life did I ever suffer so much for my art."

And, since Julie is the type who insists on perfection or nothing, she has enrolled for a series of 24 Yoga lessons.

"I've no intention of ever again getting caught with my talents down," she insisted.

IT WAS a hotel business axiom that finally forced an unwilling innkeeper into movie acting a few days ago. "The Misfits" company, starring Marilyn Monroe and Clark Gable, had just checked into the Mapes Hotel in Reno, Nev., to begin location shooting and a troubled director John Huston was still casting about for a special male type to play an important role of the bridegroom. Suddenly he spotted an imposing carnation-lapeled gentleman standing in the lobby.

Introducing himself, Huston found he was actually offering the job to Walter Ramage, the manager of the hostelry. Ramage was flattered but refused. Huston persisted. They strolled together into Ramage's office and there Huston pointed to a framed slogan over the manager's desk: "The guest is always right." Ramage capitulated.

GETTING TOUGHER by the day to come up with an unusual and appropriate stage name. The other noon in the Warner Bros. commissary someone called out "Dodie," and three girls looked up.

"And I thought when I acquired the name Dodie Stevens," sighed one entry, "that it was catchy and unusual. But I'm constantly being confused with Dodie Heath, Connie Stevens and others. It's enough to make me go back to my own name—Geri Pasquale! I'll bet I'd be all alone with that one."

Famous Fable

INVESTMENT: After comedian Victor Moore had established himself in the theater, he invested in a number of business ventures. Almost invariably, the ventures ended disastrously.

At one time, he put his money into a company dealing in mausoleums. Almost immediately, the health of the general public improved markedly.

One night, he showed up at the theater looking so glum that the stage manager asked:

"What's wrong, Victor? You look like you lost your best friend."

"No such luck," moaned Moore. E. E. EDGAR.

Your Money and Modern Living

CASH FOR COLLEGE . . . this thought comes freshly to parents' minds as another school term approaches.

With young children, a sound savings program—such as a Mercantile "Save-for-Education" account—can make the difference. Talk to a savings counselor now, about the goal you'll need to meet later.

For parents whose children need immediate funds for education, Mercantile has developed a new INSURED "Cash for College" Loan Plan. Your child's funds are guaranteed with Mercantile's plan, because life insurance protection, for the unpaid balance of the loan, is included at no extra cost . . . without medical examination.

Mercantile's "Cash for College" Plan allows you to borrow up to $10,000, to cover the costs of one, two, three or four years study. The money may be used for tuition, room and board and other related expenses . . . and the Plan may also be applied to preparatory schools and post-graduate study.

Budgeted monthly payments make large semi-annual cash outlays unnecessary. And you may spread your payments over a longer period than the course of study . . . taking, for example, up to six years to pay for a four-year course.

The unique feature of Mercantile's Plan is, we feel, the insured protection. For more details on this and other features, write for Mercantile's "Cash-for-College" booklet . . . or stop by in person. I'll be glad to help you take full advantage of Mercantile's Plan . . . for helping to guarantee educational funds for your child.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Today's column is for teen-agers. If you have a problem, send it to Martha Carr.

Boy's Parents Don't Like Her

Dear Martha:

NEITHER MY PARENTS nor relatives can seem to solve my problem. Maybe you can. I have liked a boy more more than two years now. I think he likes me too, but he goes for a week at a time doing only what I can call ignoring me. I found out from a friend that it is his parents who are causing his mysterious attitude. They say he is too young to be serious with a girl but we are not serious. He has never kissed me. His parents just do not like me. I think I am a pretty good girl. I go to church regularly. I have never necked, petted, or been kissed. What do you think of these meddling parents?

F. S.

Just go on being a good girl and in time this boy's parents may find themselves liking you. And be a little more independent. The next time this boy ignores you for a week, let him know that you think it best for the two of you not to see each other as long as his parents object.

Dear Martha:

I AM 14 YEARS OLD and for quite a long time I have liked a very nice boy who is 15. He liked me also but at the same time another girl liked him although he never seemed to care for her. Recently he took her to a picnic and began liking her and he also told me that he liked us both but as time went on he seemed to stop liking me. He is now away for the summer. I have talked to his mother who is very nice and she told me not to worry. I have tried to give him up for someone else but I couldn't. Please help me.

HEARTBROKEN.

Boys at 15 aren't noted for unswerving devotion. They find it as hard to concentrate on one girl as they do on their studies. My advice to you would be to go out with others. Nothing makes a girl more interesting to a boy than a show of popularity.

Dear Martha Carr:

AT THE AGE OF 13, do you think a girl should go to modeling school? My mother thinks I should wait until I am 16 or 17. I want to learn hair styling, skin care, care of the nails, and things like that. NEEDING ADVICE.

If your parents can afford it and you can find time in addition to keeping up your school work this fall, there is no harm in taking a "charm course." But your schooling comes first. The most beautiful, poised and glamorous-looking model in the world is no good with an empty head. As for hair styling, skin care and care of the nails, all these subjects are treated regularly in magazines designed for reading by the fair sex. Look through them in your spare time but save your full energies for your school work.

Dear Martha:

I HAVE A BOY FRIEND. I haven't been going with him very long. I like him except that he is always wanting to put his arm around me and kiss me. I'm embarrassed, I guess, or at least that's the excuse I give him. Actually I'm scared, I think. What troubles me is a fear of losing him if I don't get over this funny feeling. PUZZLED.

First talk this over with your mother and then write for Martha's leaflet, "The Petting Question." If you can't handle this boy any other way, avoid being alone with him.

BABY SITTERS—Write for several of Martha's cards, "What Your Baby Sitter Should Know." The cards list information you need to do a good job of baby-sitting. Please send large self-addressed stamped envelope.

In Praise of Plump Wives

By Adele Starbird

ARE YOU A BOSSY WOMAN? That's because you are too thin. So says a Swiss physician, Dr. Jean-Christophe Massie, addressing a group of European men and women at a Marriage Institute in Geneva.

Dr. Massie regrets that his wife weighs only 161 pounds; he claims that statistics prove that it is only when a wife reaches 180 pounds that she stops bossing her husband.

I've been passing in mental review all the bossy women I know, which is pretty nearly ALL the women I know, and it is true that they are thin. But I wonder whether it is their bossiness that keeps them thin, or their thinness that makes them bossy.

A bossy woman is high strung; she nags and frets and worries, and that is no way to put on weight. But maybe the thin woman becomes bossy because her nerves are not sufficiently well padded.

The well-rounded woman is a good wife because she has a happy disposition, she is not contentious, she is sympathetic and comforting. She does not become involved in crimes, and she is not accident-prone. Statistics prove, says Dr. Massie, that she doesn't have automobile accidents. (He should read "The Girls" in the Post-Dispatch comic section.)

ADELE STARBIRD

She laughs a lot, even at her husband's old jokes. Small wonder then that she seldom appears in the divorce court. In fact, the divorce rate is 84 per cent higher in those countries where women are calorie conscious.

The plump woman is also a good mother. Her children like to come home to her because she is so pleasant. (It occurs to me that the children may like to come home because there is always food in the house—delicious food, for the woman who likes to eat is willing to cook. Her kitchen is filled with fragrances that would lure any child home from the streets, and entice any man away from Elizabeth Taylor or Helen of Troy.)

"Contrary to general opinion," says Dr. Massie, "children are not impressed with glamorous, sophisticated mothers who have made names for themselves in the public press. Reports indicate that children of happy, plump mothers naturally make the family the center of their affections and interests."

Lest anybody accuse me of liking my own type—most people do, you'll notice—I must admit mournfully that I have just lost 15 pounds, and I'm wondering if the Swiss physicians would insist that even an aunt, to function successfully, must come in the large economy size.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Civil Rights Bill

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.

I CANNOT SAY that I was not disappointed with the Senate procedure that postponed to the next session any action on a civil rights bill.

The Republican bill that was defeated was a limited one, replacing two sections that were not passed when Congress was last in session. One section would have made the President's Committee on Government Contracts, a permanent agency. This committee, headed by Vice President Richard Nixon, had done a very good job on elimination of discrimination in work done under government contracts. The other section would have allowed federal grants to school districts seeking to desegregate.

Both of these points would have been good to have in civil rights legislation, but perhaps they are not absolutely vital and affect Republican interest more than Democratic interests. But every step forward in the area of civil rights seems important to me, and I do not like to see politics played with an issue of this kind.

Of course, I can see that a good argument can be made for not passing piecemeal legislation of this kind, but rather waiting to put before the new Congress a comprehensive bill. But I wish I had more confidence that in the new Congress there would be no alliance between Southern Democrats and reactionary Northern Republicans to prevent any real action.

By that time, however, the candidates of both parties will have made a great many promises, and I would suggest that the people interested in effective civil rights legislation see to it that the candidates commit themselves on the essentials for such legislation.

News of the changed attitude of the province of Katanga in The Congo was encouraging, for it seems to make the situation in Africa more hopeful. My respect for the Secretary General of the United Nations and thankfulness for the establishment of the U. N. grows day by day as this problem slowly comes nearer to peaceful solutions.

There is only one place in New York City where non-registered voters can take their literacy tests, and this is in the main office of the Board of Education in Brooklyn. What about the people who live in the Bronx or in Nassau county? This is a long trip for them. It means a day taken from their work, with loss of pay plus an expensive journey.

This points up for me the fact that there has never been a great deal of interest on the part of the regular New York organization in full registration and greater participation in voting.

There should be mobile units, well publicized beforehand, going to different parts of the city for the purpose of giving literacy tests. It is bad enough that some of our citizens have to overcome a language difficulty, yet the present system makes it even more difficult for them to vote. It seems to me that the Spanish-speaking people—and, for that matter, any large group that has not mastered the English language—should be permitted to take a literacy test in their own language.

California has seen fit to send around mobile units to give literacy tests and register voters, but we in New York are too backward to follow suit. I am ashamed to say that by forcing people to go to the Board of Education office in Brooklyn to take these tests we are setting our standards along the line of those of some of our Southern states. They find ways to keep people from registering and we seem to be doing the same thing.

TV Notes and Gossip

HOWARD DUFF . . . His new adventure series, "Dante," will be an NBC-TV entry starting Sept. 26.

JOHN DALY has turned down a request that he do the commentary for the ABC-TV series, "Churchill Memoirs," scheduled for this coming season. The reason is that the Churchill program will be on ABC-TV at the same time Daly is doing his "What's My Line?" show on CBS-TV.

THE SECOND GAME of Sunday's double header between the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates will be telecast by KPLR-TV instead of the first game. The original schedule called for telecasting to start at noon. Instead, KPLR-TV will pick up the Pittsburgh play at 2:30 p.m., presenting the last portion of the first game and all of the second.

STEVE ALLEN, whose NBC-TV show was dropped at the end of last season, will make a guest appearance on CBS-TV Sept. 5 on the Spike Jones show. The Jones show is produced by Bill Dana, who played Jose Jiminez on Allen's program.

THE STORY of Adolf Eichmann, Nazi charged with the responsibility for the murder of 6,000000 Jews in Hitler's Germany, will open the "Armstrong Circle Theater" season on CBS-TV Sept. 28.

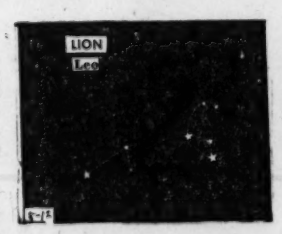
Constellation of Leo

By Ramon Coffman



Constellation of Leo.

RECENTLY I SAW a handsome picture of a lion, studded with stars, in a monthly magazine. It represented the constellation known as Leo, or the Lion.

If an artist wishes to do so, he can make a star group suggest an animal or other figure. For my part I can find only a few clear outlines of familiar objects in the sky. These include the Big Dipper, the Little Dipper and the Square of Pegasus.

Even if I fail to see a lion in the sky, I have special reason to think of the constellation of Leo. It is the fifth sign of the zodiac, and I was born under that "sign." When I feel in a playful mood, I like to believe the good things said about people who have birthdays in the period from July 23 to Aug. 22.

Q. Where is Leo located?

A. Some distance below the cup of the Big Dipper. Probably you know the Pointer stars forming the outside of the cup. If you run your eye from the lower Pointer to the upper one, then on to the first bright star, you will locate the North Star.

To find Leo, you "run your eye" in the opposite direction, from the upper Pointer to the lower one, then out into space. Leo is about the same distance (as it seems) below the cup as the North Star is above.

When you locate stars in a near-circle, you will have the head of the Lion. Some persons call those stars "the Sickle."

The brightest star in the Lion is named Regulus, and it is supposed to be the heart of the beast.

For science section of your scrapbook.
